GEORGIA URGED BY ROOSEVELT TO GO INTO DEBT

Closes U. S. Purse Strings to State.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Warm Springs, Ga., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today criticized Georgia for not going into debt. He expressed annoyance with the state for not changing its constitution so it could be like other states and spend money it doesn't have.

The President, here for a two weeks' rest, told in a press interview of his decision to close the federal purse strings to his Georgian hosts until they fall in line with his easy money ideas. Despite the friendliness of his vacation surroundings, he said he would not be soft-hearted about the matter.

Mr. Roosevelt has been annoyed with Georgia since it refused to go along with his plans to purge the senate of conservative Democrats and emphasized its refusal by a landslide renomination of Senator Walter F. George, for whose defeat the President personally campaigned.

Threat Bears Fruit.

However, the presidential threat to the flow of federal money bore almost instant fruit. In Atlanta State Senator Paul Lindsay said that legislation to permit the state to borrow money would be introduced in the general assembly at the earliest opportunity.

Mr. Roosevelt made his remarks about the Georgia situation in discussing the progress of a federal financed insane asylum at Milledgeville. He declared that the days of easy money which saw the appropriation of funds for such projects are gone forever—or at least until Georgia comes around to his way of thinking.

He recalled that several years ago, when Georgia needed a prison, the state's borrowing ban was hurdled by the government making an outright grant for the project and then "selling" the prison to the state on a rental basis.

Weakens, Gives $1,800,000 Grant.

When the asylum was needed, Mr. Roosevelt said, he weakened again and made a $1,800,000 grant to the project. A balance of $2,200,000 was loaned by the Reconstruction Finance corporation. The loan in this case was possible because rents to 1950 on a state owned railroad were offered as collateral.

But no more such concessions will be made, the President said, even for Georgia, which he frequently has called his "other home." He said that Georgia was the only state in the Union which had failed to cooperate with the federal government on public works.

The Georgia constitutional provision which has aroused the President's ire limits the borrowing of the state to some three or four hundred thousand dollars annually by the governor for emergencies.

Voters Must Give O. K.

No other indebtedness can be contracted by the legislature or the governor, nor can the state issue bonds except by a two-thirds approval of the legislature and subsequent sanction of the voters. No bonds have been issued by Georgia since reconstruction days.

The debt free status which Mr. Roosevelt would have Georgia replace with stupendous obligations is a situation of which the state long has boasted. It is similar to the ban against state borrowing in Wisconsin and Kansas.

The Wisconsin constitution forbids the contraction of state debts except to repel invasion in time of war. In this connection a state civil war debt has recently been ordered paid.

Kansas advertises its advantages to business because of its freedom from debt. Lacking this drag on the state government no sales or income taxes have been levied there.

Denies News Stories.

Mr. Roosevelt spent most of his press conference denying news stories that he would have a busy week here making plans to carry his social reform schemes through the new congress with its increased Republican strength.

He said he had no appointments except with Hugh Wilson, ambassador to Germany, who was called home as a protest against Jewish persecutions by the Nazi government. Wilson is expected here Sunday or Monday.

He denied any scheduled visit for Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan, who went down to defeat at the last election and is being considered for a high government post, possibly the Supreme court or cabinet.

5 EX-CONVICTS CAUGHT; ADMIT FIFTY HOLDUPS

Schemes Hatched in Joliet Cells.

Five ex-convicts, who hatched a new career of crime behind the walls of Joliet penitentiary, were in custody of the Shakespeare avenue police last night. Police already have identified them in fifty robberies and expect as many more before the investigation is complete.

One of the gangsters was paroled last July. Another was paroled three years ago, but has since been given a discharge from parole. Because of their long criminal records the three others, two of whom obtained their freedom last summer, were kept in prison until they had served most of their long prison terms. In the penitentiary, police said, the gang planned to work together in a new series of crimes after their release.

Plan Quiz on Police Murder.

Capt. Charles Pawlowski plans to question two of the ex-convicts about the murder of Policeman John Olson. He was shot to death in wanton fashion on Oct. 20 while guarding a bank messenger with a $2,000 pay roll.

"I am elated over their capture," said Capt. Pawlowski as he congratulated Sergt. James Lynch and Policeman Harry Martin, who made the arrests. "These men are the type who are far better off in prison, where they should have been."

Following are the five members of the gang and their records:

Barney Fredericksen, alias Barton and Johnson, 34 years old, 1453 North Artesian avenue. With an eighteen year prison record, beginning with a Bridewell sentence for burglary, he entered Joliet prison on June 18, 1927, to serve one year to life for burglary. Paroled Aug. 31, 1931, he was returned in December that year for parole violation. He was discharged last Aug. 3.

Michael Nitti, 30, of 2850 West 5th avenue. His record began in 1925 with fines for minor offenses. On Feb. 16, 1927, he was sentenced to Pontiac reformatory for burglary. He was transferred in 1934 to Joliet, and on Feb. 28, 1935, won his parole.

Tony Nitti, 28, his brother. His prison record, beginning in the same year, includes sentences in the Bridewell and the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga. The last sentence was one to ten years for burglary on Sept. 26, 1934. Last June he was discharged.

Arthur W. Pauley, 29, of 2147 Washington boulevard. In 1931 he served a year in the Bridewell for larceny. Arrested two years later for burglary, he jumped his bond. Captured in Texas, he was returned to Chicago and on Oct. 18, 1934, entered Joliet prison on a 1 to 10 year term for burglary. He was released on parole July 18, 1938.

Ray Walden, 26, of 2336 Washington boulevard. With the exception of a year at Booneville, Mo., reformatory, for stealing an automobile, Walden's only record was his sentence to Pontiac reformatory on Dec. 16, 1930, as a robber. Five other robbery charges were dropped at that time. He later was transferred to Joliet and discharged from the prison on June 8, 1936.

Thrown Together in Prison.

"Fredericksen told us that the five of them met in prison," said Sergt. Lynch. "Prison life threw them together. Naturally they had the same interests. All were from Chicago. And it wasn't long before they were talking about the jobs they planned to pull as soon as they got out.

"Some of them got out sooner than others. The robberies in which we have identifications were committed within the last year. Many of them, however, were completed after Fredericksen's release. He seems to be the smartest. He acted as the fingerman; that is, he would pick out likely prospects or look over a store before the others carried out the crime."

Walden and Pauley are to be questioned in the Olson murder. They were captured Monday loitering near the Main State bank, 1965 Milwaukee avenue, and confessed they planned to rob a liquor store employé who visited the bank at a certain time each day. Policeman Olson was slain at Harding and North avenues while escorting a company messenger from a nearby bank.

Trap Brothers in Flat.

Fredericksen was seized in his home that night. The policemen also arrested Mrs. Rose Nitti Paton, 24, sister of the Nitti brothers, who was living with Pauley. Her husband, James, and another of her brothers, Vito, were sentenced to life imprisonment at Joliet in 1936 for the murder

Doctor Makes $1,000 Call on New Year Eve

Dr. Albert C. Barber's visit to the apartment of James and Mary Craig was worth $1,000, a jury in Judge Rudolph Desort's court decided yesterday. But it's the doctor, the jurors said, who'll have to pay. He was in evening clothes, and the call wasn't professional.

It was New Year's eve. Craig was reading in his apartment at 1033 Loyola avenue. Mrs. Craig, who is 32 years old, was in her nightgown ready for bed. And then she remembered about putting the milk bottle out.

In Comes a Visitor.

She had just opened the back door when her husband called to her to bring him a book. She left the door open and took the book to him. When she returned, according to the story she and her husband told the jury, there stood Dr. Barber, gay in tails and white tie.

Mrs. Craig screamed for her husband. He came out and asked the doctor to go on home. The doctor shook his head. And so the Craigs mixed him a drink. But he still didn't want to go.

Craig had some broken ribs and other injuries when he finished an unsuccessful attempt to put the doctor out.

It took two husky neighbor men and two huskier policemen to remove Dr. Barber, who is 38 years old and rather husky himself.

Next day he returned to make amends and offer Craig $10. Craig was in bed under the care of another physician. Instead of taking the $10, he had his lawyer, Irving Eisenman, filed suit for $5,000.

Decides It's Open House.

Dr. Barber, a physician, at 4403 Sheridan road, made no denial. He had found the doors of seven other apartments in the building open and decided every one was holding open house, he said. In one apartment he lost the girl who was with him.

Bruneau Heirich, Dr. Barber's attorney, said Dr. Barber had enjoyed so many drinks he didn't know what he was doing that New Year's eve of 1936.

The jury agreed with the Craigs that the doctor should pay, but only one-fifth of the amount asked by the Craigs, who now live at 1400 Lake Shore drive.

The jurors, however, specified in their verdict that there was no malice in what the doctor did.

TO DRUNKEN DRIVER: YOU'RE NOT BIG SHOT YOU THINK YOU ARE

Taylorville, Ill., Nov. 22.—(AP)—A plain spoken letter "To the Drunken Driver," signed by 118 business men of this area, appeared yesterday in a newspaper here. The letter, one of a highway safety campaign series, said in part: "Brother, you're not the big shot you think you are. You're just a fuzzy-brained, liquored-up, obstinate ass."

HELD IN SLAYING; WANTS 70 CENTS AN HOUR JAIL PAY

New York, Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Held as a fugitive from a Jacksonville, Fla., murder charge, George Colmore McCoy, 40 years old, today served notice he expects to be paid union wages of 70 cents an hour for all the time he is locked up here.

"What do you mean?" he was asked after Magistrate Anthony Burke, in Jefferson court, held him without bail.

"Well, I'm going to be paid for every hour I'm here," he retorted. "I'm a member of the C. I. O."

44 Cars Blown Off Deck of Lake Vessel in Storm

Parched Jungle Snakes Invade Towns of Ceylon

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Venomous jungle snakes invaded southern Ceylon communities in search of water today as a widespread drouth caused threats of famine in other areas. Acute distress was reported in various parts of Ceylon. Hundreds of cattle died. Rice fields remained unworked. Epidemics of dysentery and malaria were feared.

Early Bird Gets the Wor— No, 300 Quarts of Whisky

Two truck drivers called yesterday at the Lawrence warehouse, 1525 South Morgan street, for the 300 quarts of whisky the Mercury Trucking company was to pick up. The first one got it, and he was an impostor. Moral: The early bird sometimes gets something besides a worm.

Broker's Son's Fate in Holdup Hangs by Hair

Hubert Heintz, son of a Winnetka broker, will be arraigned in the Felony court this morning on a charge of robbery with a gun. The charge was placed against him at the detective bureau last night and he was released on $6,000 bond. Meanwhile experts at the police crime detection laboratory were analyzing a strand of his hair as they sought an explanation of several mysterious circumstances in the case.

Heintz's description, except for lighter hair and a mustache, checks with that of a gunman who held up the Household Finance corporation branch at 3150 Lincoln avenue on Nov. 4 and took $100.

Lodge Charge Before Deadline.

The discrepancies were the basis of a habeas corpus petition on which Heintz' lawyer, Frank Kennedy, sought his client's release yesterday morning before Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley of the Criminal court. The judge instructed police that if they placed no formal charge against Heintz by 6 o'clock last evening, he was to be freed.

The complainant was Policeman Bernard Kennedy, a brother of Heintz's lawyer.

Mrs. Gertrude Wietholter, 4024 North Ashland avenue, cashier at the finance corporation office, who described the gunman to police, viewed Heintz Monday night but was unable to make a positive identification because of the difference in the hair. The bandit was described as darker.

Analyze Hair for Dye.

The laboratory experts are attempting to determine whether Heintz is a natural blond and has never dyed his hair, or if his hair might have been a darker shade early this month.

Heintz lives at 6447 North Rockwell street. His father, Philip F. Heintz, a member of the New York and Chicago Stock exchanges and the Chicago Board of Trade, lives at 495 Willow road, Winnetka.

The gunman who held up the finance company was seen going to an automobile afterward and the license number was traced to Mrs M. B. Clark of 4456 North Ashland avenue, wife of Dr. Tracy Clark.

Heintz is their son-in-law. Mrs. Clark said she had lent the car to Heintz, who told her he was going to Joliet. Dr. Clark, a north side physician, insisted that Heintz is a natural blond.

Bookie Killer Pleads Guilty; Demand Chair

The state yesterday defied tradition and began a determined and forceful effort to send to the electric chair a defendant who pleaded guilty to a charge of murder. Only half a dozen killers in the annals of Cook county have been sentenced to death after such a plea.

Charles Lane, 30 years old, who killed a north side handbook owner during a wild gun battle in a holdup last month, is the defendant whose life is at stake. Yesterday he sought to escape the chair by suddenly changing his plea from not guilty to guilty after eight jurors had been chosen. The jurors had been qualified to inflict the death penalty.

His Bravado Returns.

Lane, a robber who blustered and boasted when he had a shotgun in his hand, squirmed uneasily in Criminal court as juror No. 8 was chosen. Then his attorney, James Daniels, offered the change in plea and Lane set back with some of his old bravado. But Assistant State's Attorney Leslie V. Curtis immediately made it plain that the state was determined Lane should pay for his crime with his life.

Curtis drew from Lane the admission that he had not been promised leniency in exchange for his plea. Judge Dunne warned the defendant that he might still be sentenced to the electric chair if the facts so warant. Curtis will finish presenting his evidence this afternoon. What mitigating evidence will be offered in behalf of Lane is conjectural.

Charged with Bookie's Murder.

Lane is charged with the murder of John Bozula, 33, proprietor of a handbook at 3633 North Halsted street. A woman patron and one of Lane's two robber companions also were shot to death. Two policemen and Lane were wounded.

Judge Dunne admitted a confession Lane had made to police which revealed that the holdup which precipitated the fatal gunfight was incidental; that Lane, William Wright, and James [Screwball] Gilfoy—who was slain—had entered the handbook in search of Art Winch, once manager of Barney Ross, former lightweight boxing champion, now retired.

The three gunmen had been trailing Winch for three weeks after seeing him wearing a large diamond and spending freely. They expected to corner him in the gambling resort. He wasn't there so they decided to hold up Bozula.

Town Hall Police Called.

A blast from Lane's sawed-off shotgun killed the handbook proprietor when he resisted. A patron escaped and summoned Town Hall police. Two of the responding policemen, James V. O'Malley and Otto List, testified for the state yesterday.

"I was met at the door by a charge from Lane's gun," said O'Malley, "and fell wounded. Gilfoy was hold-

ICKES TOPS LIST; AID BELONGS TO 2 RADICAL UNITS

Others on SEC, WPA and Labor Board.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Six high officials of the Roosevelt administration were linked with communist front organizations today as the Dies committee on un-American activities delved further into communist influences within the New Deal.

Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior, and Nathan R. Margold, solicitor of the interior department, were identified with the American Civil Liberties union, which repeatedly has been described in testimony before the committee as a communist front outfit.

William O. Douglas, chairman of the Securities and Exchange commission; Jerome Frank, a member of the SEC; Corrington Gill, assistant administrator of the Works Progress administration, and Edwin S. Smith, a member of the National Labor Relations board, were linked with the American League for Peace and Democracy, which is accused of being under communist control. Margold was identified as a supporter of this organization, as well as the Civil Liberties union.

Sponsor Red Lectures.

Representative Noah M. Mason [R., Ill.] introduced into the record a pamphlet announcing a series of lectures in a Washington hotel under the sponsorship of "The Modern Forum of the American League for Peace and Democracy." The list of sponsors of the lecture series included Margold, Douglas, Frank, Gill, and Smith.

Mrs. Hallie Flanagan, national director of the WPA's federal theater projects, was among the prospective lecturers.

"The evidence before this committee, which would be admissible in any court, clearly shows that this so-called league was organized by Earl Browder, secretary of the communist party in the United States, on instructions from Moscow," said Representative Mason. "This pamphlet proves, it seems to me, that many government officials not only belong to but are active in advocating the principles and purposes of this communist front organization."

Browder a Vice Chairman.

Previous testimony has shown that Browder is a vice chairman of the League for Peace and Democracy, formerly known as the American League Against War and Fascism. An article from the Daily Worker, official organ of the communist party, showing in Browder's own words that the communists control the so-called league, was introduced into the record today.

The Daily Worker for Sept. 26, 1938, carried the full text of a speech by Browder before the national committee of the communist party in the Manhattan Opera house. In this speech Browder said:

"I would emphasize for the general attention of everybody the necessity to be at work now to contribute all we can to the common work of preparations, so that the coming congress of the American League for Peace and Democracy, which takes place in January in Washington, around the time of the opening of the new congress, should really be a gigantic gathering of the forces of the American people."

Tells Ickes' Connections.

Secretary Ickes and Solicitor Margold were identified with the American Civil Liberties union in testimony by Alice Lee Jemison, a Seneca indian and legisiative representative of the American indian federation.

Mrs. Jemison described Ickes as "a long time member" of the American Civil Liberties union and submitted a mass of documentary evidence purporting to show that the bureau of indian affairs is dominated by the American Civil Liberties union.

Margold, she said was chairman of the Indian defense committee of the American Civil Liberties union before he became solicitor of the interior department.

Mrs. Jemison submitted the testimony of John Collier, chief of the bureau of indian affairs, before the house indian affairs committee on March 28, 1935, in which he refused to answer directly whether he was a member of the American Civil Liberties union. However, Collier professed sympathy with the purposes of the American Civil Liberties union and said he would be glad to contribute money to the organization if he had it to give.

Upholds Advocacy of Force.

In this connection the Dies committee ordered inserted in the record an abstract from the testimony of Roger Baldwin, national director of the American Civil Liberties union, before the Fish committee of the house of representatives in 1934. Baldwin was questioned concerning the purposes of his organization as follows:

Q.—Does your organization uphold the right of an American citizen to advocate force and violence for the overthrow of the government? A.—Certainly, in so far as mere advocacy is concerned.

Q.—Does it uphold the right of an alien in this country to urge the overthrow and advocate the overthrow of the government by force and violence? A.—Precisely, on the same basis as any citizen.

Q.—Do you uphold the right of an alien to advocate the overthrow of the government by force and violence? A.—Sure. Certainly. It is the healthiest kind of thing for a country.

Ideas Imposed on Indians.

Mrs. Jemison said that a communal form of government had been imposed upon the Indian tribes by the Indian bureau under the Wheeler-Howard "New Deal for Indians" act of 1934. This bill, she said, incorporated the recommendations of the American Civil Liberties Union Indian defense committee and was drafted by Margold and Collier. She said it was handed to Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] who sponsored it, but repudiated it in 1937 and introduced a bill to repeal it.

The witness said a book called "The New Russia's Primer," which praises the Communist experiment in Russia, was on the required reading list in the Indian school at Cherokee, N. C. When the Indians protested, she said, Collier asserted that the book was "eminently proper" for collateral reading matter. She testified that books on the required list in other Indian schools, including "The Rope and Faggot," by Walter White, Negro leader, attacked religion and morals.

Deplores Fanning of Hates.

At the opening of today's session, Chairman Dies denounced a statement made yesterday by Aubrey Williams, deputy administrator of the WPA, before the Southern Conference for Human Welfare at Birmingham, Ala. Williams told the conference he was "not sure that class welfare is not all right."

"That merely corroborates what we've been trying to show—that many of those opposing racial and religious hatred are openly advocating class hatred," Dies said. "It is a most amazing statement, coming from a government official in high place."

Board Promises 46th Ward to Fix Hawthorne School

The board of education plans to enlarge and remodel the old Hawthorne elementary school building, 300 North Seminary avenue, next year, James B. McCahey, board president, told a 46th ward delegation yesterday. The delegation called to ask that a new school be constructed.

ADMITS FAKING HOLDUP STORY TO AID MOTHER

Norman Page, manager of a currency exchange at 6247 Wentworth avenue, ran into the Englewood police station Monday to report that he had been robbed of $1,325. Capt. Walter Healy, in charge of the station, thought Page's story sounded like a radio thriller on the children's hour. Yesterday Page admitted that it was all a myth.

Norman Page.

In his Monday version Page told Capt. Healy a story that went like this:

"I was opening the exchange at 8:45 in the morning when some one poked a gun into my back and told me to go on inside. The robber made me kneel down and open the safe. I took out $1,325 in bags of change and gave it to him. The man told me not to look around at all and I didn't."

Under persistent questioning by Healy Page insisted that he hadn't even seen the robber's feet. The captain wanted to find out what color shoes the man was wearing.

Yesterday Healy called Page and invited him down to central police headquarters to sit with a lie detector. Page accepted and answered a few questions. Then he said:

"Stop that damn thing. I'll tell you all about it."

Page told Healy that he had $1,089 of the money at his home, 3654 Huron street. Business had been bad, he was losing his mother's money at the exchange, and he thought it would be a good idea to let the insurance company make good his mother's losses, Page continued.

Capt. Healy said that Page, although he is only 24 years old, is the president of a synagog. He will be questioned at the state's attorney's office this morning. Healy said he will charge Page with an attempt to commit a crime.

JUDGE REFUSES MORE TIME FOR TRACTION TALK

Closes Hearing on Plan to Merge Lines.

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday brought to an abrupt conclusion hearings on the long receivership of the Chicago Surface Lines. He will write his decision on the case by the middle of December, he told attorneys.

Judge Wilkerson held steadfast to his position that he would grant no further continuances in the efforts to work out a merger between the car lines and the elevated railways. He ignored the pleas of attorneys for both systems for additional time just as last week he ignored the city's request for a thirty day continuance.

Must Act Before Dec. 1.

If the representatives of the two systems can work out a merger agreement by Dec. 1 or give him assurance that an agreement will be made, he will consider the plan, he said. Otherwise the court either will proceed with a foreclosure sale of the properties or attempt a reorganization under bankruptcy laws.

Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant to State's Attorney Courtney, attended the hearing. He said he had been directed to be there by Courtney. Neither Crowley nor Courtney would discuss the reason for the state's attorney's interest in the case.

Judge Wilkerson left no doubt in the minds of attorneys that he will permit no more delays in disposing of the traction cases. The car lines have been in his court in receivership proceedings for nearly twelve years and the elevated company for six years.

Lawyer Tells of Progress.

John W. Kearns, attorney for holders of junior securities of the surface lines, told Judge Wilkerson at the opening of the hearing that considerable progress had been made since last Thursday in merger negotiations. Francis X. Busch, representing elevated mortgage bondholders, supported Kearns. Both asked for additional time to continue negotiations.

Judge Wilkerson quietly reminded them that they have spent more than two years in the last series of unification negotiations and the court could wait no longer. Previously when the court set dates for disposing of the case, he said, the interested parties believed it was a mere gesture.

"Now the matter must come to a conclusion," he declared. "That is the only position the court can take. The case is under advisement. I will make my decision before the middle of December. If you wish to meet and straighten out your differences [on the merger plan] I would be glad to hear you any time you come in with an agreed plan."

Must Have Elastic Plan.

He fixed Dec. 1 for hearing on a separate reorganization for the elevated lines and on a two year old petition for reorganization of the surface lines under bankruptcy instead of receivership laws.

Judge Wilkerson warned the traction attorneys that if they do reach an accord on a merger plan they should bear in mind that it must be one under which they can deal with the city for a new franchise.

"Such a plan," he said, "must embrace provisions broad enough to carry on negotiations with the city. The court cannot petrify the provisions of new bond issues so that a new company cannot deal with the city. The court will not entertain a plan that is not elastic enough to meet requirements of the city."

May Suggest Distribution.

The traction lawyers said they would continue their merger negotiations. They held a long conference Monday with Walter A. Shaw, Judge Wilkerson's traction adviser. Shaw prepared the merger plan on which the companies are now attempting to work out an agreement. It provides for the organization of a new company to take over the properties of both systems through an exchange of securities. Busch said the differences have been narrowed down to two major questions. These, it is reported, involve the amount and type of securities each company would receive.

Judge Wilkerson indicated last week that as a result of hearings he has held on the Shaw plan he may, as part of his opinion in the surface lines case, present what he thinks is a fair distribution of securities to each company.

Such a step, attorneys said, might be his final effort to bring the systems together.

ing a woman in front of him. [She was Mrs. Lucille Budassi, 18, of 622 Patterson avenue, who died later of her wounds.] Lane fired again and List went down."

Police bullets finished Gilfoy and wounded Lane.

Identified as Slayer.

Other witnesses identified Lane as the slayer of Bozula. Capt. Patrick O'Connell of the Town Hall station testified that Lane's gun could not be fired twice in succession unless it was deliberately reloaded. It was shown that Lane had been involved in other robberies.

The other surviving bandit, Wright, has waived a jury and will be tried after Lane's case is concluded.

The first Cook county slayer to lose his life after a plea of guilty was Thomas R. Fitzgerald. On Sept. 23, 1919, Judge Robert E. Crowe sentenced him to be hanged for the fiendish sex murder of Janet Wilkerson, 6 years old.

The most recent similar execution was that of Joseph Schuster, paroled gunman who killed Policeman Arthur Sullivan on an "L" platform on Jan. 14, 1937. He was sentenced by Judge John J. Lupe and died in the electric chair April 15, 1937.

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 22.—[Special]—Confronted with the problem of choosing between career and marriage, Bette Davis, screen actress, chose career. This was the complaint that her husband, Harmon Oscar Nelson Jr., former orchestra leader, made today in a suit for divorce filed in Superior court.

Nelson charges that during the last year of their six years of married life together Miss Davis has become so engrossed in her work that she shut him out of her life. "She has been inattentive, casual and distant to the point of rudeness and embarrassment," he said.

All of her spare time, Nelson added, Miss Davis used for reading and when he besought her to show evidence of conjugal friendliness and affection she would become enraged and would indulge in a "blatant array of epithets and derision."

RESCUE MUSEUM PARTY MAROONED TEN DAYS ON ISLE

Boat Upsets on River in British Guiana Wilds.

Field museum officials yesterday received a cablegram from Emmet R. Blake, assistant bird curator, telling of an adventure that nearly cost his life and resulted in the loss of half the specimens he had collected on an expedition into British Guiana. The cablegram came from Georgetown, British Guiana, where Blake is resting after his mishap.

Blake's native boat overturned in the raging Courantyne river on Nov. 1, throwing him and his companions into the King William rapids. They managed to reach an island, where Blake and two others were marooned for ten days with little food. The party went into the interior early in September, leading the first zoölogical expedition ever to explore that part of the world.

Blake is expected to arrive in Chicago next month, bringing with him 1,200 specimens of birds, mammals, and reptiles.

Fifteen Natives in Party.

Blake sailed from New York on July 30 to head the Sewell Avery zoölogical expedition to British Guiana. In Georgetown he signed another white man, named Baldwin, and about fifteen natives. The natives went up river to make a base camp. Blake flew into the interior by seaplane later.

He was met about 200 miles from Georgetown, on the Courantyne river, by members of the party. The rest of the expedition was made by motor boat and canoe. Most of the specimens were collected at the base of unnamed mountains near the Brazilian frontier 400 miles south of Georgetown. The party was returning sooner than had been expected because the river was falling unusually early and the rapids soon would have been impassable.

The boat upset in rough water about seventy-five yards from a small island, Blake said. All members of the party managed to get to the shore. Blake and two companions remained on the island while the rest of the party made a five day march back up the river where they had abandoned two canoes.

Hope for Rescue Almost Lost.

They returned, carrying the canoes, when the marooned trio had almost given up hope of rescue.

The territory explored by the expedition has been compared to the fictional Lost World, museum officials said. It was first explored during the last two years by the British boundary commission and is thought to be totally uninhabited.

Blake, 30 years old, is a native of Abbeville, S. C. He is a graduate of Presbyterian college, Clinton, S. C., and was a champion swimmer and boxer in school. He has been on the museum staf for the last two years, although he took part in expeditions in 1932 and 1934 to Venezuela and Guatemala.

FIND HEART FAILED SWIMMER.

A coroner's jury held yesterday that the death of Kenneth Schimpf, 14 years old, of Calumet City, was caused by heart disease. The boy died Monday while swimming in the pool of the Thornton township high school.

ROUTS THIRD SET OF BANDITS BY STEPPING ON GAS

Two robbers with pistols stopped yesterday afternoon in Dad's Currency exchange at 133 East Cermak road. But William E. Stoeckel, the manager, wasn't flustered when they cried, "This is a stickup." He was not even discouraged.

Mr. Stoeckel stepped on a lever behind his counter. This set off some mechanical gadget. Six little vents along the counter opened up and a lot of tear gas swished out in the faces of the bandits. The men were so astonished that they fired several shots that sped bullets into the walls. Then, rubbing their smarting eyes and sneezing mournfully, they staggered to the sidewalk and fled.

"This is the third time I have had to turn on the gas," Stoeckel said. "Each time the robbers have been routed. It takes a little time to clear the gas out of the store, but it's worth the trouble. We saved a considerable amount of money."

HALL OF SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY IS ALMOST FINISHED

Speed Museum Opening After 8 Years' Work.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.

Yesterday painters were putting a few final touches on the doors. Stone masons had closed a great gap in the east wall through which the locomotives entered. A dozen great halls, in shining marble and smooth plaster, are ready for exhibits.

After eight years of work Julius Rosenwald's dream for the entertainment and instruction of his fellow Chicagoans, the Museum of Science and Industry in Jackson park, is approaching its major opening. On April 14 members of the Commercial club are to have a preview of the vast central pavilion. It will be July, probably, before the exhibits are ready for public view.

West Pavilion Open.

For eight months now the public has been admitted to the west pavilion. There more than 200 exhibits are arranged in a series of galleries and halls ranging about a large auditorium and a lecture room scarcely smaller. This space, however, is only a bungalow in comparison with the mansion of science now being made ready in the huge center pavilion.

Members of the museum staf, asked when it will be finished, have a stock reply. That reply is, "Never." For the Museum of Science and Industry presents living, not dead, exhibits. It is intended that it keep pace with the modern world. This is reflected in the arrangements with many manufacturers who have loaned modern machines, to have them replaced with new models as those on exhibit become obsolete.

A Task of Magnitude.

The magnitude of their task—the explanation of the eight months that will elapse from the day the painters walk out of the center pavilion until the day the public walks in—is best shown by the measure of the area they have to fill. The building covers a nine acre site. Its three main floors have 680,000 square feet of space—more than fifteen acres.

These acres will be filled by many hundreds of exhibits, many of them actual machines which can be run for the instruction of visitors. Supplementing the machines are other hundreds of exhibits illustrating basic sciences, each the product of weeks or months of work on design and construction.

Tribune Press on Exhibit.

Typical of the thoroughness with which modern industrial processes are treated is the graphic arts exhibit. Already workmen have put in place, on the ground floor, a giant press on which regular editions of THE TRIBUNE were printed until quite recently. Still to be installed will be a complete operating exhibit of printing machinery, not only in the newspaper field but in other branches of the industry.

There are to be linotype, monotype, and Ludlow typesetting machines, a variety of smaller printing presses, rotogravure and lithographic plate making and printing equipment, stereotype equipment, a complete photo engraving shop, and historic reproductions of Gutenberg's shop and type foundry and of an early American printshop with its Washington hand press.

Paper to Be Printed.

When the exhibit is assembled it is planned to let visitors watch the setting of type and making of engravings, assembly, stereotyping and printing of an eight page standard size newspaper that the big TRIBUNE press will roll off. Its news matter will be a description of the museum—a souvenir for the visitors.

All the exhibits have been meticulously planned. The present arrangement in the west pavilion is temporary. For instance, the exhibit of the ninety-two chemical elements now shown there, containing specimens of the materials from which they are obtained, the purified elements where they have been isolated, and lists of their principal uses is to have a place of honor in the rotunda under the huge central dome.

Transport Exhibit Planned.

To the left will be a hall of land transportation, with early locomotives. Suspended from the high ceiling above them will be historic airplanes, of which the museum already owns more than it can exhibit. Directly behind the central chemical exhibit is a coal mine, with working machinery that takes visitors to galleries where mining processes are illustrated. It was in operation until the pavilion was turned over to the building craftsmen last year.

To the right of the central entrance the power exhibit will be installed. Adjoining halls will be occupied by exhibits in physics, now being shown in the west pavilion; geology and architecture. One large hall will be used for temporary exhibits, the first of which will commemorate the 100th anniversary of photography.

Huge Ore Crusher Shown.

Stair wells in the center pavilion have been used to accommodate exhibits of unusual height. In one of them, already installed, is a 750 ton ore crusher. A second has a huge six foot valve, made for one of the Panama canal locks, and a third will have a Foucault pendulum, which by its constant motion demonstrates the rotation of the earth.

The east pavilion of the building will be the last to be opened, perhaps not before 1940. It is now used for storage of hundreds of exhibits for the center pavilion. Eventually it will be given over to exhibits on agriculture, textiles, and forestry, some of which are now being shown in temporary locations.

FIRE AT GIFFORD.

Gifford, Ill., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Four business houses of this place were destroyed by fire which started in Bartell's tavern early today. The loss is placed at $30,000. Fire departments of Rantoul, Paxton, and Urbana assisted the local department.

COMPANY DEFIANT AS C.I.O. TIGHTENS STOCKYARDS BAN

Meat Shortage Unlikely Despite Strike.

Pens in the Chicago stockyards were virtually cleared of live stock late yesterday afternoon. Striking C. I. O. union stock handlers declared that, until their controversy with the Union Stockyard and Transit company is settled, no more animals will be permitted to go through to the packing houses.

O. T. Henkle, general manager of the company, gave a defiant reply to this ultimatum. "This company has been operating for 65 years," he said, "and it will continue to operate." He and his associates indicated they had no intention of granting the union a closed shop and a checkoff [collection of union dues by the employer], which had been demanded.

No Danger of Shortage.

It was pointed out that consumers in Chicago and elsewhere are in no danger of an immediate meat shortage. Nearly 60,000 meat animals were delivered to the packers yesterday. They were passed through the yards under an agreement between the strikers and the live stock commission merchants.

Spokesmen for several of the packing houses declared their supplies of live stock are ample for their killing needs until the end of the week, even if the tieup is completely effective in the yards. In addition, they have large quantities of dressed beef and pork in their coolers.

The bigger processing firms, moreover, have facilities for direct shipments of animals that need not pass through the yards. One firm, for instance, received 4,000 head of hogs yesterday through this means.

The commission men, the yards, and farmers with cattle to sell are the greatest sufferers.

Threaten to Call Out 20,000.

No strike peace moves were made yesterday. Last night at a meeting of the C. I. O. union, known as Stock Handlers union No. 567, plans to tighten restrictions in the yards were made. Benjamin Brown, the union president, asserted that if the yards attempted to resume operations with "scab labor," a strike of from 18,000 to 20,000 workers in the packing plants would be called.

Five of the smaller packing plants signed C. I. O. contracts last summer. Brown asserted their workers would refuse to butcher any stock handled by non-C. I. O. yard men.

This threat was made as a retort to Thomas Devero, business agent of local 517, an organization of stock handlers affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. Devero announced last night that he was ready to lead members of his organization into the pens and work if policemen on guard there were withdrawn.

A. F. L. Union Claims Majority.

Although the C. I. O. won an election some months ago and became the accredited bargaining agent for all employés, Devero claimed that his union now has a majority of the 600 men employed in the yards. The C. I. O. has been negotiating for weeks for a contract and the sudden unannounced strike on Monday was a surprise, apparently, to the yards company.

Among the demands are: Pay raises for 65 men getting less than 62½ cents an hour, a 40 hour week, time and a half for overtime, and vacations with pay. Henkle said an agreement could be reached quickly on all points but the closed shop and the checkoff. The C. I. O. union men asserted, however, that they called their "work stoppage" strike because the company refused to discuss the demands with them.

The clearing of the pens yesterday was accomplished under an agreement made by the live stock commission and the union.

The C. I. O. drive to organize the entire packing industry in Chicago has been in progress for months. Organizers representing the Packing House Workers organizing committee, a C. I. O. subsidiary, have been active in the campaign, and are taking a leading part in urging Brown's union to fight the stockyards company.

Tells Engagement

MRS. AUDREY JAMES FIELD.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Mrs. Audrey James Field, former wife of Marshall Field III., announced her engagement today to Peter Pleydell-Bouverie, who is 29 years old and the youngest brother of the earl of Radnor.

Mrs. Field married Dudley Coats, a member of the Coats cotton family, in 1922. He died in 1927. Her marriage in 1930 to the Marshall Field heir ended in a Reno divorce in 1934.

Mrs. Field is the daughter of Mrs. Willie James who was a famous London hostess during the reign of King Edward VII.

FIRST OF ANIMAL ROYALTY ARRIVES FOR STOCK SHOW

Breeders Not Hampered by Handlers' Strike.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Blue blooded animals from all parts of the continent began arriving at the International Live Stock exposition grounds yesterday. The eight day show will be opened in the International amphitheater, 43d and Halsted streets, at 8 a. m. Saturday.

Farmers and their helpers were following the custom of unloading and stalling their own herds and flocks, requiring little or no outside help. The current strike among live stock handlers at Union Stockyards is not interfering with the handling of show shipments.

Stock from the Hanna Stock farm of Bordulac, S. D., was the first to arrive yesterday. Fifteen pure bred Aberdeen-Angus cattle were in the shipment. They are among the 383 breeding Angus that are to compete here next week. This is the largest exhibit of pur bred Angus breeding cattle ever assembled, according to W. H. Thomhave, secretary of the American Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' association.

Shipment from Massachusetts.

The second show animals to be unloaded were from Wachusett Meadow farm of Princeton, Mass. The shipment included seven head of purebred milking Shorthorn cattle.

Mrs. A. C. Thompson of Elmhurst, Ill., was among the early arrivals with strings of horses that are to compete in the nightly light horse shows to be held during the International.

Forty Iowa farmers who boarded a trainload of 45 carloads of beef steers, bound for Chicago, Monday night were expected to arrive last night at the exposition grounds. The farmers are coming with their cattle prepared to handle them without assistance if necessary. Most of the animals are to be shown at the International.

Approximately half the show animals are expected to be comfortably bedded in their stalls and pens by tomorrow night. This will allow ample time for the handling of late arrivals and the polishing of hoofs and horns before the judges start their work on the opening day, according to B. H. Heide, general manager of the show.

Exhibits for the hay and grain show also are beginning to come in. Six farm girls are among the competitors in the hay and grain contests. Hilda Winifred Pearkes is shipping barley samples from her farm near Sidney, B. C. Mrs. Eva J. Schoults of Minot, N. D., will be one of her rivals. Mrs. Schoults' daughter, Regina Schoults, will exhibit flax.

Displays Hybrid Corn.

Two Oklahoma women, Mrs. Annie West of Edmont and Mrs. W. J. Arthur of Luther, will be among the competitors in the grain sorghum class. Mrs. Warren D. Foster of Milford, Ill., will be a contestant in the shelled hybrid seed corn class.

Late shipments arriving yesterday included 10 Hereford cattle to be exhibited by Clifford Goecke of State Center, Ia., in the junior live stock contest to be held Saturday. Pat, one of young Goecke's steers, won the junior steer championship honor at the Iowa state fair. Clifford's cousin, Clarence Goecke, exhibited the 1928 International grand champion steer that sold for $7 a pound.

The Iowa State college shipments of sheep and cattle also arrived from the college farms at Ames, Ia., late yesterday afternoon.

ONE YOUNG SALESMAN LEARNS AT LAST THAT THE ANSWER IS 'NO!'

Harold Horwitz, 18 years old, believed the salesmen's guide book when it said never take no for an answer. Dangling his pots and pans, Horwitz appeared Nov. 14 at the home of Mrs. Patrick Griffin, 3432 Hirsch street.

Mrs. Griffin said "no." She repeated the word with varying degrees of emphasis. Mr. Horwitz, like a good salesman, continued expounding the virtues of his kitchen ware.

Then Mrs. Griffin's husband came home. Griffin is a policeman. He arrested Horwitz for disorderly conduct. The charge was dismissed by Judge Joseph A. Graber yesterday when the policeman failed to appear against him. Horwitz lives at 3240 Leland avenue.

ALLEN WARNS U. S. OF PERIL IN ITS MEXICAN POLICY

New York, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Henry J. Allen, Kansas editor, said tonight the only solution to Mexico's expropriation of foreign owned property is return of the property to its rightful owners. He told a New York state chamber of commerce dinner that the United States would be weakened at the Lima Pan-American conference by any uncertainty of its Mexican policy.

Allen pointed out that the United States is buying at an inflated price six million ounces of Mexican silver per month, despite Mexican seizures of property of Americans.

Restoration of the seized property, he said, would be a blessing to Mexican labor, which has suffered from the maladministration of the workers who have tried to produce oil, would check the rapid decline in Mexico's economic status, and put the United States in a position where it might respect itself and be respected by our other good neighbors.

Fog Blankets Newark Airport; Flights Canceled

Newark, N. J., Nov. 22.—(AP)—All flying operations at Newark airport were canceled tonight as dense fog blanketed this area. The trafic control tower reported ten outbound flights were canceled and incoming planes from Chicago were grounded at Harrisburg and Camden air fields.

CHARGE FORMER ACE POLICEMAN WITH ROBBERY

Joseph Hennessey, who ten years ago was the ace of the Grand Crossing police district's speakeasy cleanup squad, was locked up at the Central station last night, charged with robbing two insurance collectors.

Hennessey and another detective were dismissed from the force in 1929 for shaking down a saloonkeeper. Previously they had built up federal cases against thirty-five booze vendors in a whirlwind 30 day drive.

Hennessey, who is 42 years old, was seized in his home at 7259 South Maplewood avenue by Sergt. George Barnes and Policeman John O'Brien. At the showup he was identified by Mitchell Franks, 50 North Albany avenue, and Nicholas Frecko, 5455 North Bernard avenue. Franks was robbed of $160 on Sept. 26 at Rosemont avenue and Rockwell street, Frecko of $148 on July 5 at Ravenswood and Lawrence avenues. They said Hennessey had a companion in each holdup.

Wins $17,000 Damages for Loss of Four Fingers

For four fingers of his left hand, Porter D. Winans of Belpre, O., won $17,000 yesterday. The award, against the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, was made by a jury in Superior court. Winans, a switchman, testified that he tripped over a wire and fell with his hand beneath the wheels of a train.

The most severe check for Bouquet

in Whiskey!

MAKE THIS CHECK FOR BOUQUET AGAINST ANY BOTTLED IN BOND WHISKEY

1 After filling a regulation "snifter" glass with your whiskey up to the etched line, warm it, and then pour out the whiskey. (Use an ordinary brandy snifter if you prefer.)

2 Now warm the snifter glass again... this time by rolling it between the palms of your hands, and thoroughly shake out the glass until you see that it has become almost dry.

3 After 1 hour, 4 hours, and 12 hours, warm glass in hands and note bouquet. If the bouquet still lingers, your whiskey has passed the most severe check any whiskey can undergo.

BELMONT PASSES THE "BOUQUET CHECK"

It takes a truly great whiskey to pass this severe check. To our knowledge there is one whiskey that can come through with colors flying—BELMONT. It is an old-style Kentucky Bourbon of luxury unlimited.

A. F. L. ATTORNEY CALLS C.I.O. MILK UNION RACKET

Riskind Tells Demand for Money to Drop Suit.

Attorney David A. Riskind charged yesterday that the C. I. O. milk drivers' union is a racketeering organization. He said that, for money, it could be dissolved. He referred to it as the tool of independent dairy concerns.

He made the charges before Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan, who is hearing an injunction suit filed against the Chicago Milk Drivers' union, an American Federation of Labor affiliate. Plaintifs are the C. I. O. union, the Lake Valley Farm Products company, and associated concerns and organizations. Riskind represents the A. F. of L. union.

Charge Illegal Picketing.

The plaintifs in the suit charge violence, intimidation, and illegal picketing by the A. F. of L. union. Yesterday was the second day of a hearing on the recommendation of Master in Chancery Charles McDonald that the dairy suit be dismissed because it is based upon a labor dispute over which the federal court has no jurisdiction. This is denied by the plaintifs, who charge that the A. F. of L. union is trying to control the distribution of milk.

Riskind—who is under indictment in connection with the federal grand jury's recent investigation of the Chicago milk industry, made his statement as a counter charge.

"This C. I. O. union," he declared, "is merely a sham union founded by independent dairy concerns for their own benefit and protection. As a matter of fact various parties have come to me and told me that if I would pay them money, the C. I. O. union would cease to exist and that this suit would be dropped.

Admits Some Disorder.

"I indignantly refused.

"I told them I would abide by the decision of Master McDonald, which at that time had not been handed down."

Attorney Riskind, in replying to the dairy concerns' charges of violence, said that there had been some disorder on the part of the A. F. of L. union members during the strike of 1934, but that it was not condoned by the union.

"Some of our members got out of hand because they were afraid of their jobs," he added. "But we soon got them under control and paid for the damage. We do not condone violence or racketeering."

Arguing against the master's recommendation, Attorney Arthur R. Seelig, for the plaintifs, insisted that the suit does not involve a bona fide labor dispute as defined by the federal statute and therefore is within jurisdiction of the court. The arguments will be resumed today.

Meanwhile bonds were posted by two more defendants indicted in connection with the milk and ice cream industries. They are George L. Boedecker, president of the Boedecker Manufacturing company of Dallas, Tex., and Benjamin Z. Brown, president of the New Orleans Ice Cream company. Both posted $1,000. Only four of the ice cream case defendants have not yet surrendered.

ITALY FORBIDS JEWS TO SELL LAND OR HOUSES

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

ROME, Nov. 22.—The government today forbade notaries public to stipulate the sale of land and houses belonging to Jews. Jews under a recent decree were deprived of the right to possess more than a specified amount of real estate. Now they are prevented from disposing of the surplus according to their own free will. They must await government instructions as to what to do with the property they no longer are permitted to own.

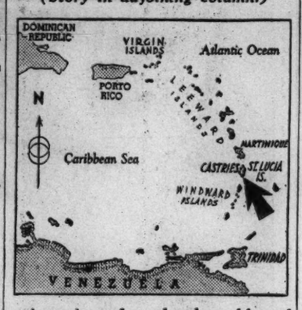
Mountains Give Way

(Story in adjoining column.)



A series of avalanches, blamed on heavy rains or volcanic disturbances or both, yesterday terrorized parts of St. Lucia Island (indicated by arrow). Mountainsides gave way and tons of earth settled down upon the valleys below taking a heavy toll of life and property.

FATHER ORDERED HELD TO JURY IN FATAL SLAPPING

Ralph Koch, 24 years old, of 4229 New England avenue, was held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter yesterday by a coroner's jury investigating the death of his son, Tod, 4 months old.

The baby died of a skull fracture on Nov. 11. Soon afterward Koch, a WPA laborer, gave himself up to the police, saying that he lost his temper and slapped the child. He did not testify at the inquest.

Dr. Paul Schmitt, coroner's physician, testified that the fractured skull must have been caused by a violent blow. Koch's wife, Marcia, told the jury that six weeks ago she saw her husband, in a fit of temper, threw the baby head first into his crib.

FIND 75 BODIES IN WEST INDIES MOUNTAIN SLIDE

Fear Hundreds Dead; Two Villages Buried.

CASTRIES, St. Lucia, British West Indies, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Steep mountainsides of St. Lucia, among the most beautiful in the West Indies, cracked open today in a series of avalanches. It was estimated that hundreds of persons were buried.

The government, supervising rescue work, late today had accounted for seventy-five bodies. Many persons were missing. Sixty injured persons were being treated in the Port Castries hospital.

Temporary roadside morgues were established in continuing rain, which hampered workers. Long lines of anxious persons, many weeping, waited for news of missing relatives.

Two Hamlets Buried.

Two hamlets were buried in the initial slide last night. New avalanches today buried more inhabitants, including injured victims of the first and rescue workers and carpenters building wooden coffins.

Fifty laborers were swept into a river when a house in which they were sheltered tumbled down with an acre of land. Few were saved.

A whole mountain appeared to have parted in half and toppled over, the mass moving across a valley so rapidly that few had time to escape its path. Legs and arms were severed from bodies by the rush of debris.

Evacuate 64 Square Miles.

An area of 64 square miles was ordered evacuated as a precautionary measure as slides continued this afternoon. One zone of seven acres was covered with a coat of clay slime 20 feet deep.

Some witnesses said the landslides began with loud detonations, lending weight to reports they might be of volcanic origin. The meteorological station of nearby Martinique Saturday warned that disturbances could be expected Monday or Tuesday.

Other observers attributed the slides solely to continuous rains of the past three weeks. Whatever the cause, the rain added to the tragedy, loosening tons of earth, which tumbled down with horrifying roars.

Jan Garbers Reconciled; She Halts Divorce Action

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Jan Garber, orchestra leader, and his wife, Dorothy, have kissed and made up, it was disclosed today when she obtained dismissal of her divorce suit. Mrs. Garber was granted an interlocutory divorce decree last December, but no final decree was entered.

SEIZE EX-FELONS; CRIMES PLOTTED IN JOLIET PRISON

of a laundry wagon driver during a robbery.

Sergt. Lynch and Policeman Martin trapped the Nitti brothers yesterday in their apartment. They broke down the door when Michael refused to open it. He was caught in the bedroom. Tony tried to escape over an adjacent roof but surrendered when the policemen opened fire.

Tony Nitti is wanted for burglary by the county highway police, the detective bureau, and the Fillmore station. Pauley is also wanted on the same charge at the highway station.

ASK NONPOLITICAL PAROLES

Directors of the Chicago crime commission yesterday announced support of a plan to take parole, probation, and prison management out of politics. The directors said they will urge the incoming legislature to pass laws embracing the ideas of the commission headed by Bishop Joseph H. Schlarman of Peoria.

The Schlarman commission reported to Gov. Horner April 15, 1937, after more than a year of inquiry. Its recommendations were ignored but are now to be resurrected and offered to the legislature with the sponsorship of the crime commission. Col. Henry Barrett Chamberlain, manager of the Chicago commission, was secretary of the Schlarman commission.

Loesch Reforms Unaffected.

If enacted into law, the Schlarman plan would not conflict with the other parole reform program sponsored by President Emeritus Frank J. Loesch of the crime commission, it was said. This was the plan embodied in the Ward-Schnackenberg law passed in 1937, but vetoed by Gov. Horner. The Loesch plan would give trial judges power to fix minimum and maximum sentences within the limits of the indeterminate sentence imposed under present laws.

The plan approved by the crime commission directors calls for abolition of the parole board as it is now constituted. The board would be replaced by another with wider jurisdiction and supervision of probationers. Probation now is administered by the judges through appointees of their own.

Consolidation Is Urged.

"There should be consolidation into one administering unit of all the factors having to do with punishment—this to include probation, incarceration, parole, and after care," the recommendation said.

"The plan is to have the proposed board supersede the present parole board, appoint the superintendent of prisons, wardens, and all others necessary to administration of the prison system, and to have complete control of prison administration.

Board Plan Explained.

"It is proposed that the board consist of five persons to be appointed by the governor without reference to politics, religion, nationality, fraternal, or other affiliations. The members of the first board would be appointed for terms of 3, 6, 9, 12, and 15 years, respectively; thereafter one member to be appointed every third year for a period of fifteen years. The pay to be sufficient to attract competent persons. No member of the board to have other occupation, but to devote his entire time to the work."

Notice of the support of this plan was mailed yesterday to every member of the commission. Col. Chamberlin said steps would be taken to have a bill drawn for presentation to the legislature which would cover the ideas stated.

2 BANDITS ROB BANK IN INDIANA; BIND 7 PERSONS

Angola, Ind., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Two bandits held up the Steuben County State bank this afternoon, holding seven persons prisoners for forty minutes before they fled in an automobile with between $10,000 and $15,000.

The gunmen entered the bank shortly before the 3:30 o'clock closing time. Two customers and five employés were huddled into a corner under the threat of leveled revolvers. The front window curtains were drawn and the door locked.

Then the bandits began tying the prisoners with a rope they had brought with them. One by one the employés and customers were tied and made to lie on the floor.

The employés were Miss Georgia Barr and Paul Burns, bookkeepers, Frank E. Gilbert, cashier, and Carleton Chase, and Royal Carpenter, assistant cashiers. The customers were Terry Waite and his son, Lorin.

Before Chase was tied he was forced to set the time lock on the bank vault to register open.

SUICIDE VERDICT HALTED IN AUTO GAS DEATH CASE

White Plains, N. Y., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Eugene Y. Burckhalter may not have committed suicide.

This announcement by the authorities today brought new mystery in the case of a husband whose supposed suicide by automobile exhaust fumes in the garage of his home here last week caused his wife to be held on a manslaughter charge because she admitted she helped him to end his life.

Melvin Kittel. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

"The case is wide open," said Assistant District Attorney Elbert T. Gallagher today. "We have withdrawn the suicide finding."

Widow Held in $10,000 Bail.

Gallagher made this statement after the widow, Marie, who is 44 years old, was held in $10,000 bonds on the manslaughter charge. Unable to supply bail, she was locked up in jail in Eastview. Her friend, Melvin Kittel, 34 years old, was held in $2,000 bonds as a material witness.

Dr. Amos O. Squire, Westchester county medical examiner, said that the case was carried on his records as "death by carbon monoxide poisoning" and that any reference to suicide would be left to the filing of a supplementary death certificate.

Cremation of the body, which Gallagher said was ordered by the widow to be done "as quickly as possible and without publicity," after the body was found, was delayed four or five hours today while the vital organs were taken for analysis.

Dr. Squire said they showed about 39 per cent carbon monoxide in the blood and some alcohol; indications of intemperance because of an oversize liver; various other serious ailments and the presence of a hypnotic drug that induces sleep.

Mrs. Burckhalter was subjected to prolonged questioning and Gallagher expressed doubt as to some of the details she told of helping her husband rig up a vacuum cleaner hose to the exhaust of a car in their garage to make a lethal chamber of the interior, where he was found dead.

Helps Locate Starter Button.

Gallagher said Mrs. Burckhalter admitted she "thought up" the method of death and helped her husband locate one starter button when he faltered.

Gallagher said local police were in possession of a glass from which she told him she served Burckhalter an eggnog just before he pushed the starter of the car to start the flow of exhaust gas. The prosecutor said she took the glass back to the kitchen and washed it before leaving on a shopping trip while Burckhalter lay in the car.

Gallagher questioned Kittel concerning his presence in the Burckhalters' suburban New York home four hours before police were summoned to find the body.

SUPREME COURT OF INDIANA HALTS SENATE RECOUNT

Van Nuys Gets Writ in Hoosier Contest.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—A recount of votes cast for United States senator in the recent Indiana election was blocked today by a temporary writ of prohibition issued by the state Supreme court.

The writ was issued on the plea of Senator Frederick Van Nuys, Democrat, whose reëlection by a close margin is being contested by Raymond E. Willis, his Republican opponent.

The court set Dec. 1 for a hearing on whether the temporary writ should be made permanent. The writ was first made returnable for Dec. 5 but was changed to the earlier date. Hearing of Willis' recount suit, filed in the Marion county Circuit court here, was set for Dec. 5.

State Contests Not Affected.

Attorneys for both Senator Van Nuys and Willis are expected to submit voluminous briefs to the court between now and the Dec. 1 hearing.

The Supreme court's action does not apply to contests for state offices. Recounts had been sought by all Republican candidates on the state ticket who were shown by the official tabulation to have been defeated. They asked recounts in the counties of Marion, Lake, Vigo, Vanderburg, Vermillion, Clark and Franklin.

The writ of prohibition was granted by three Supreme court judges who heard arguments yesterday on Van Nuy's petition. The incumbent senator asked the court to prevent any action on the recount petition by Circuit courts of the seven counties.

Holds Senate Is Judge.

He contended that the power to investigate senatorial elections rests solely with the United States senate, which is the final judge of its membership. The senator also attacked the constitutionality of the 1921 Indiana law under which the recounts were sought.

In previously stating his position on the matter, Van Nuys said he has no desire to return to the United States senate if it cannot be shown that he was lawfully selected by the electorate of Indiana.

He admitted that his opponent has the legal and moral right to contest returns as promulgated if he possesses any evidence that they are not correct. But the law provides, he held, that such a contest be held under the supervision of the United State senate, which is the sole agency empowered to hear such a challenge.

Wants Entire State Counted.

Furthermore, a recount in a few counties or precincts, such as has been proposed, Van Nuys asserted, would fail to determine the question of a true election of a senator and would be unfair to the defeated contestant in that it would deprive him of opportunity to avail himself of possible errors in other than the recounted precincts. He demands that any recount include the entire state.

It previously had been indicated by those seeking the recounts that today's expected action by the Supreme court would be met with an immediate petition to the United States Supreme court to assume jurisdiction over the entire proceedings, impound all election evidence, and hear any allegations of fraud or irregularities such as would affect seating of the next senator.

Precedent for such proceedings is said to have been established in a Pennsylvania case which went through the Appellate and United States Supreme courts.

Swallows a Key

SHIRLEY JAGIELSKI.

Shirley Jagielski, 2½ years old, was feeling fine yesterday for the first time in eight days. But then, of course, any one would who formerly had a clock key lodged in her throat. When her mother, Mrs. Stephanie Jagielski, wanted to wind Shirley's toy clock, she couldn't find the key.

Monday night Dr. Osar G. Becker, chief resident physician of the ear, nose, and throat ward of County hospital, X-rayed Shirley's throat. He found the key, lodged in Shirley's esophagus. Working with Dr. Jacob Lifschutz and using the new esophaguscope, a long hollow tube inside which forceps may be thrust, they grasped the key, and brought it out.

The Jagielski home is at 4831 South Springfield avenue.

ACT TO RETURN H. K. BROWN ON LARCENY CHARGE

An extradition hearing was begun in Detroit yesterday in an effort to return Henry Kirsey Brown, 60 years old, to Chicago to face charges of a $60,000 larceny by bailee.

Brown, former president of Valparaiso university, went to Detroit just before the state blue sky department began an investigation of charges brought against him by Mrs. Leonia J. Cram that he had failed to account for $60,000 worth of stock she had entrusted to him to manage.

Assistant State's Attorney John J. Phillips went to Detroit to represent the state at the hearing. Mrs. Cram, who lives at 5512 Everett avenue, is the widow of George F. Cram, who was head of the Atlas Publishing company.

GUTKNECHT TOPS ALL CANDIDATES IN CHICAGO VOTE

Clayton Smith Is Second in Official Total.

Judge John Gutknecht of the Municipal court was the biggest Chicago vote getter in the election of Nov. 8, the official returns showed yesterday.

Judge Gutknecht.

Although the Chicago Bar association criticized some of his practices in the Trafic court, such as radio broadcasting of trials, Judge Gutknecht received more votes in Chicago than any other man on the ballot. His total was 866,466. Clayton F. Smith, reelected president of the county board, was second with 856,142. County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki ran third with 855,980.

Official county figures on the election probably will be announced today.

KERNER AND IGOE WILL TAKE OATHS AS JUDGES TODAY

Attorney General Otto Kerner at 10 a. m. today will present his resignation. Gov. Horner will accept it. Then John E. Cassidy will take his oath of office as the new attorney general of Illinois. The ceremony will take place in the Congress hotel suite where the governor has been ill for several weeks.

Later in the day Kerner will be sworn in as a judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. That will take place in the new home of the court at 1212 Lake Shore drive.

Two other presidential appointees will be sworn in during the day. They are District Attorney Michael L. Igoe, who will become a judge of the United States District court, and William J. Campbell, the new district attorney. Their two oaths will be administered in the courtroom of District Judge James H. Wilkerson.

About $1,900 was raised yesterday at the police auction of lost and unclaimed automobiles and bicycles. One hundred and fifty-four autos, in two lots of fifty-two each, and about seventy-five bicycles were sold under direction of Police Custodian William Doudek at the Navy pier. The only restriction on the sale was that the autos were sold for junk purposes only.

Republican Election Winner Charges Gross Poll Frauds

BY PARKE BROWN.

State Representative William G. Thon [R., 23d] yesterday did a thing unprecedented in Chicago politics. Although he was reëlected on Nov. 8, he charged that gross frauds were committed in his district and demanded that guilty precinct judges and clerks be punished.

"I won," he said, his voice tense with emotion, "but it would be obvious to a high school student who looked at the record that they tried to steal my seat from me. Something must be done to stop these election crooks and I'm willing to make the battle single-handed if it's necessary."

Files Complaint in Court.

Representative Thon filed a typewritten complaint with County Judge Jarecki, setting forth what he described as conclusive evidence of vote theft taken from the precinct records as canvassed by the board of election commissioners. He said that Judge Jarecki, who has charge of the election machinery and appoints all judges and clerks, promised a vigorous investigation.

Thon charged that the thefts committed against him were of the most amateurish sort. The method, he alleged, was simple for those experienced in election matters but perhaps difficult for the average voter to understand. It consisted of false recording of the number of votes due a candidate from straight party ballots.

In Thon's district there were two Republican nominees for state representative. That meant that a straight ballot would give each of them 1½ votes. The first duty of judges and clerks in counting ballots is to sort the straight from the split ballots and to record the total number of straight for each party.

Charges 1,459 Votes Stolen.

In this case Thon took from the precinct officials' own tally sheet their record of the number of straight Republican ballots. Then he went to the column showing the number of votes credited to him and to the other Republican nominee, Stanley J. Coffey, from those straight ballots.

In his complaint Thon recited that in sixteen precincts of the 31st and 32d wards he was credited with 192 less votes than were cast for him in straight votes and that Coffey was given 1,259 more than were due him.

AUSTRALIA HAILS TRADE TREATY AS U. S. ALLIANCE

Sees America Tied with British Empire.

BY W. A. O'CARROLL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 22.—The British-American trade agreement, signed last Thursday in Washington, D. C., is regarded in Australia as the embodiment of an unwritten defensive alliance between the British empire and America, particularly in the Pacific area.

Most Australians, therefore, accept cheerfully the concessions at their expense in the treaty, which are deemed necessary for America's coöperation. This aspect has been emphasized by politicians and the press almost to the exclusion of any other consideration. Protests, primarily from producers affected by provisions of the treaty, are received with indifference.

Australia Was Consulted.

Sir Earle Christmas Grafton Page, Australian minister of commerce, said the changes in empire preferences enjoyed by Australia were accepted by the Australian commonwealth after full consultation with the British and dominion governments. He said Australia recognized the great influence exercised on world economic affairs by the comprehensive agreement between Britain and the United States.

Premier B. S. B. Stevens of the state of New South Wales said the agreement might be the foundation for a still wider economic coöperation in world politics.

Typical press comment was that of the Sydney Daily Telegraph, which said:

"Whatever small trade consessions we may be called upon to face by the pact are outweighed a thousand times by the life and death importance of American friendship."

Sees Pact as Hint to Japan.

The Sydney Sun said:

"The pact is an index of closer alignment, not to be missed in Europe and Japan."

The view also is held by many here that the threat to the peace of the United States is greater than in the world war years, and that the treaty reflects the end of American isolation.

Wheat growers are bitter. They declare the treaty will cost them $5,000,000 this year. The United Kingdom preference to March of this year was worth nearly $9,000,000.

Wool growers hope an American-Australian agreement will follow, reducing American import duties on raw wool.

In the eyes of most Australians the pact's greatest achievement was bringing Britain and America together.

ELEANOR HUNT, FORMER FOLLIES BEAUTY, AND HUSBAND SEPARATE

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Ending a little more than three years of married life, Eleanor Hunt, former Ziegfeld Follies beauty and film actress, today separated from George Hirliman, independent motion picture producer. Miss Hunt admitted there had been a parting of the ways when she was reached at an apartment she took in Hollywood after leaving her husband's home.

The couple was married in 1935 after Miss Hunt had scored successes in pictures with Edde Cantor. She was starred in a series of productions made by her husband. She came to Hollywood from the follies in 1931.

MOSCOW BABIES CENTER OF NEW RUSSIAN CRISIS

MOSCOW, Nov. 22.—(AP)—An alarming diaper shortage in soviet Russia was disclosed today by the newspaper Izvestia. Inefficient organization was blamed by the goverment organ.

"In 1938," Izvestia said, "the peoples' commissariat of public health ordered the production of 3,170,000 sets of diapers. But, although this figure was below the actual needs, the commissariat of light industry produced, during the first nine months of 1938, only 765,900."

Many of these, the newspaper charged, failed to reach the ultimate consumer.

"Even in Moscow shops in the same neighborhood as the peoples' commissariat of trade," it said, "it is difficult to find a set of diapers. During the past 20 days articles for babies have disappeared entirely from the shops."

Fascist Party Outlawed by Finnish Government

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The government today dissolved the Fascist Patriotic National party for "illegal activity" and suppressed its eighteen newspapers. The party was formed in 1933 and held fourteen of the 200 seats in the Finnish parliament. The status of the fourteen members of parliament will be decided by the Supreme court. Urho Kekkonen, minister of interior, said the party violated the law by enrolling schoolboys in its ranks and publicly using political badges and signs.

EVANSTON BANK CLERK IS INDICTED IN $4,500 SHORTAGE

The federal grand jury yesterday returned an indictment against Clyde Alfred Beese, 29 years old, charging him with embezzlement of $4,500 from the First National Bank and Trust Company of Evanston. Beese, who was a savings teller with a salary of $100 a month, confessed that he spent the money playing roulette at north suburban gambling houses.

He was arrested late last month after losing more than $2,000 of the bank's money in one sitting. Judge James H. Wilkerson, before whom the indictment was returned, fixed Breese's bond at $5,000. Unable to post it, Beese was returned to the county jail.

CHINESE FORTIFY 'GATEWAY' TOWN ON YELLOW RIVER

Fear Japanese Push Into Far Northwest.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Nov. 22. — Chinese forces in the northwest today were reported fortifying themselves against an expected Japanese thrust across the Yellow river.

The Chinese hold Tungkwan on the southern bank of the great bend of the river. Japanese on the opposite bank—in Shansi province—repeatedly have shelled Tungkwan. To the west is unconquered Shensi province, the stronghold of the Chinese Eighth Route [communist] army.

Chinese so far have turned back all Japanese attempts to cross the river at Tungkwan. However, Japanese air raids on Sian and Lanchow, northwest of Tungkwan on the trade route to soviet Russia, have indicated that the Japanese will make a more determined effort to cross.

"Gateway to China."

For centuries Tungkwan has been known as the "gateway to China" from the west. It is situated at the southern end of the "red earth" plateaus of Shensi and Shansi provinces at the point where the Yellow river leaves deep gorges and spreads out on the plain of Honan province.

In central China, Japanese spokesmen said their forces had consolidated their front in Kiangsi and Hunan provinces and asserted the capture of Nanchang and Changsha, the two province capitals, was imminent.

The Japanese denied Chinese reports that their offensive had been pushed back across the Sin river, 40 miles north of Changsha. Japanese forces were reported only 30 miles north of Nanchang. The battle front stretches from the eastern shore of Lake Tungting, north of Changsha, about 200 miles eastward to the western shore of Lake Poyang, north of Nanchang.

Japs Rule Canton Customs.

Chinese commanders reported that their forces were within three miles of Canton, the metropolis of South China, and that the city was in danger of recapture. Japanese reported their military authorities had taken over control of customs in Canton.

Japanese planes raided Kweilin, the largest city of northeastern Kwangsi province. Kwangsi is west of Kwangtung province and Canton.

The many military planes in the sky above Shanghai have led to the belief that the Japanese are bombing many towns of the Yangtze valley in which Chinese guerrillas are believed to be hiding between raids by which they menace Japanese communications.

Fortify Gateway

(Story in adjoining column.)

Chinese yesterday were reported fortifying Tungkwan (1), the gateway to the northwest, against Japanese attack. Japanese asserted their capture of Changsha and Nanchang (2) was imminent. Dotted line locates battle front and shaded area territory nominally under Japanese control.

LOYALISTS HALT REBEL DRIVE ON RIVER SALIENT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PERPIGNAN, France [at the Spanish Frontier], Nov. 22.—The Spanish rebel counter offensive, designed to recapture the loyalist salient on the west bank of the Segre river in eastern Spain, was halted today, Barcelona dispatches reported.

The rebels ceased their costly counter attacks, the loyalists reported, after approaching within a few hundred yards of the northwest edge of Seros. On the other hand, the government troops drove near the Fraga-Lerida highway. The loyalists took Seros, Aytona, and Soses in a surprise drive across the Segre on Nov. 7.

Rebels Seize 3 Greek Ships.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Lloyd's of London reported from Spain today the capture of three Greek steamers by the rebels. The 3,404 ton Faneromeni was reported confiscated and her crew imprisoned, the Epploia confiscated and the captain sentenced to twelve years' imprisonment, and the 4,528 ton Nicolaou Eleni captured with a cargo of sugar from Cuba.

Aviator Who Flew British Premier to Germany Killed

LONDON, Nov. 22. — (AP) — Eric Glynne Lawrence Robison, who piloted Prime Minister Chamberlain to Germany during the Czechoslovak crisis, was killed today when his plane crashed at Redcliff bay on the Bristol channel. Co-pilot R. P. J. Leborgne also was killed. Robison was senior flight commander for British Airways and at one time flew freight for mining companies in Canada.

JAPS' OPEN DOOR REPLY PERTURBS SECRETARY HULL

Stand Unsatisfactory to U. S. Officials.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Japan's reply to an American note, which demanded the maintenance of the open door and complained that Japan was trying to monopolize Chinese trade, was characterized today by Secretary of State Hull as unsatisfactory.

The Japanese reply had rejected all major contentions in the American note and declared that "ideas and principles" of the past no longer applied to the Chinese situation.

Hull said today that the Japanese communication conflicted with the general position the United States has taken throughout its history.

Officials said that it was the implications in Japan's remarks about past principles and about the creation of a "new order" in eastern Asia that troubled them most. Observers have interpreted the remarks as an indication that Japan expects to dictate conditions under which foreigners shall live and foreign business be carried on in China.

Although Japan promised equality of economic opportunity in China, officials here believe she means that there should be equality among all foreign nations, but that Japan in China is not a foreign nation.

STUDENT KILLED WHILE CROSSING RAILWAY TRACK

Frederick A. Fisher Jr., 25 years old, of Lowell, Mass., was killed yesterday on the right of way of the Illinois Central railroad at 58th street. He had been seen crossing the tracks and apparently was struck by a south bound freight train.

Fisher had been studying for his doctor of philosophy degree at the University of Chicago, but was not registered there this quarter. A year ago he obtained his master of arts degree there. He roomed at 5627 Drexel avenue.

the largest single group of modern women in America united by a common interest

YES, upon a certain day each month, many times 3,044,000 American women begin reading the same things . . . considering the same issues . . . visualizing the same improvements for their homes and communities . . . thinking the same thoughts . . . acting in unison! With the exception of patriotic and religious societies, this is the largest group of women united by a common interest anywhere in the United States.

The force that convokes this great assembly of modern women is their active interest in a single, vital magazine—the Ladies' Home Journal.

Within 3 years, close to half a million more American women have joined the growing audience of Journal reader-buyers. This is not only the country's important trend in feminine lives and reading habits. It is an outstanding achievement in publishing history. No single magazine of any type with over a million buyers 3 years ago has equaled this amazing increase in readership.★ No magazine-buying group in America except The Saturday Evening Post's equals the size of the Journal's present buying audience!

MARSHALL FIELD & COMPANY
presents here each day observations intended to be of value to those it seeks to serve.

FLASHBACK
By CALEB

CHICAGOANS OF THE present generation are accustomed to seeing big things done in big ways. This logically conditions their thinking with the same element of bigness; so that only an athletic feat of imagination can conjure up at 137 Lake Street, today, the four-story building in a nineteen-years-young prairie town, whose first floor housed a store later to become world-famous.

The store was that of Potter Palmer; the year 1852; the memorableness of store and year, their historic value as the birthplace of an enterprise which, some twenty-nine years later, assumed the name of Marshall Field & Company.

Marshall Field himself arrived in Chicago when a Massachusetts farm-boy of twenty-two, and worked as a clerk for Cooley, Wadsworth & Company. In 1857, the firm name was changed to Cooley, Farwell & Company. In 1864, the firm became Farwell, Field & Company. A year later, Marshall Field and Levi Z. Leiter bought interests in the Potter Palmer establishment, then at 110-16 Lake Street; and three years after the close of the Civil War, as Field, Leiter & Company, the business moved to State and Washington Streets.

Change and vicissitude marked each step thereafter. Wiped out by the great fire of 1871, wholesale activities were resumed, in temporary quarters, nineteen days later; and retailing in nine days more. Came a second fire in 1877, but business was indomitably restored, in the Exposition Building on the Lake front, in less than two weeks. In 1879, the retail returned to the old site, State and Washington Streets, occupying a new six-story and basement building. In 1881, Mr. Leiter retired, and the firm name became Marshall Field & Company.

In the fifty-seven years which followed, new buildings sprang up; manufacturing sources were acquired; Marshall Field died; the store expanded to an entire city block; The Store for Men was added at Wabash and Washington; and further modernization and growth continued. The Merchandise Mart, the world's largest building, began construction in 1928. Today—with an organization of many thousand people, approximately 60 acres of floor space, 12 exclusively owned and operated mills, three suburban stores and 234 distinct merchandising sections—the name of Field's is perpetuated in its 80th year by every known resource of trained personnel and skilled service.

As an inquirer into these matters recently remarked, "Of such a truly modern store great things are expected—and obtained—because it has already exacted great things of itself."

HITLER TO INVITE RUMANIAN KING TO JOIN HIM AS ALLY

Nazis Hint Military Pact Will Be Framed.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 22.—In his favorite residence, Berghof, near Berchtesgaden, Bavaria, Reichsfuehrer Hitler today prepared for two visits which he hopes will prove a new milestone in his victorious career.

From King Carol II. of Rumania—the first reigning king to call on Hitler in the Berghof—Hitler hopes to wrest assurances that will consolidate his mastery over southeast Europe. Through an unspectacular, bespectacled son of German parents, Oswald Pirow, defense minister of the Union of South Africa, he expects to gain a stronger foothold than ever in Africa and the start for what he trusts will be his big colonial empire.

Rely on Hitler's "Persuasion."

King Carol, returning from his state visit to London, first turned a deaf ear to the pleas of German relatives to call on the master of continental Europe. The Germans were able to induce the monarch to call on Hitler at a hunt organized by his kinsman, Prince Frederick Hohenzollern, near Freiburg. The Nazis rely on Hitler's "power of persuasion" to win Carol's support for the Fuehrer's plans. The Nazis have not disclosed these plans. They merely talked of an "economic understanding," no doubt remembering to what good effect Bismarck and Hitler used this tool for political purposes.

Political observers in Berchtesgaden and Munich were convinced that more is involved. They have seen a steady stream of high ranking officers—mostly members of the general staf—call at the Berghof and remain there in conference with Hitler for hours. When the Nazis were asked about the military activity they replied: "The democracies need not think that nice words and talk of nonaggression pacts can lull us into soft minded safety."

Army Hard at Work.

They admitted that German army leaders were working with the same feverish haste as in preceding years when they built up much of the nation's new armed forces.

The Nazis' apparent dislike for soft speeches did not cramp the style of Hitler or France's new ambassador to Germany, Robert Coulondre, when the latter presented his credentials to the Fuehrer in the Berghof today. Their speeches were filled with assurances of mutual respect and friendship.

It was expected that when Hitler receives Pirow on Thursday the tune will be different.

Call Pirow a German.

The South African defense minister, acording to Nazi ideology, is still a German regardless of his passport and Hitler has proclaimed himself the leader of "all Germans inside and outside the reich." The Nazis with whom Pirow spent his first days in Germany declared "he fully understands this."

"He told us that Germans in South Africa need not worry about formulating big plans and demands—they are automatically getting what is their due in the way of language, cultural and political privileges," the Nazis said.

The British in Berlin clung to another view. They said they were confident Pirow will not allow himself to be won to the German side. The Nazis smiled at this. They said Pirow has made it clear that he is with them—that he even shares the Nazi views on the Jewish problem and that "the Jews need not hope they will be able to settle big groups of refugees in South Africa."

Wedding Date Set

[Acme Photo.]

Philip Plant and Marjorie King, who will be married on Dec. 15.

Waterford, Conn., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Philip Plant, wealthy sportsman and gentleman farmer, announced today he will take a third wife on Dec. 15. Marjorie King, former New York show girl, will become the next Mrs. Plant, he said.

The Oswegatchie farmer was divorced three weeks ago from Edna Dunham Plant, upon whom he made a cash settlement of $173,500. He was previously married to Constance Bennett, the movie actress.

Plant said he and his bride will take a two months' honeymoon in Africa where he will collect rare species of birds and game. He is well known as a big game hunter and has done much exploring in African jungles. Many of his hunting trophies are on exhibit in the American Museum of Natural History at New York. He is heir to a fortune from hotels, steamship lines and varied other travel agencies.

'To Hell with Hitler!' Cries British Newspaper

LONDON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Big yellow and black news placards informed London today: "To hell with Hitler." The placards were those of the popular weekly, The Leader, which announced that it had changed its policy of favoring Anglo-German appeasement talks as a result of Germany's anti-Semitic campaign.

HITLER HASTENS TO RID GERMANY OF ALL ITS JEWS

Rothschild Palace Made Emigration Bureau.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 22.—The number of Jews and part Jews under the Nuremberg ghetto laws whom Germany wants to force to emigrate "considerably exceeds one million." This statement was made today by the Essener National Zeitung, official organ of Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering. Of this total 300,000 live in Austria. The others reside in Germany proper and newly conquered Sudetenland.

To speed up the emigration of these Jews, the ZEFJA, or central office for the emigration of Jews, is working overtime in the Viennese palace of Baron Louis Rothschild, who was placed in a concentration camp after the seizure of Austria. The central office already has brought about the emigration of 12,000 Jews and now is able to deal with 650 Jewish applicants each day.

135,000 Apply to Leave.

It was disclosed that 135,000 Austrian Jews had applied for emigration. Most of the applications were turned down because, as the Essener National Zeitung said: "England and the United States, with vast lands at their disposal, closed their frontiers and with unctious platitudes left it to Germany to worry about the future of the Jews."

The newspaper said the following documents must be obtained by Jews desiring to emigrate: A statement by tax authorities that applicant had paid the almost prohibitive taxes demanded from Jewish emigrants; a license to get necessary foreign currencies; a record from the police; a statement by military authorities that there are no objections from a military viewpoint; a statement that the landlord has no rent claims, and finally a visaed passport.

After the Jews have obtained these papers, the newspaper said, they can leave the country within a week, provided some country permits them to enter. The paper failed to add that many German Jews by then are almost paupers.

Says Americans Do Not Coöperate.

The Essener National Zeitung complained that the American Jewish committee, as well as other Jewish organizations abroad, do not "coöperate sufficiently to carry on the Jewish emigration with the necessary speed."

Similar cynicism was displayed in almost all German papers, which declared that "no country wants the Jews."

The press insists that just because Germany wants to oust "part of her systematically impoverished population the world must be willing to accept it."

The Nazi government received a United States note which requested formal assurances that decrees eliminating Jews from business life in Germany would not apply to American citizens. The note, which was delivered to the foreign office yesterday and made public today, asked for a reply.

Violence to Prisoners Reported.

Reports of violence to Jewish prisoners in Austria's jails and concentration camps spread in Vienna. Wives of prisoners told of seeing their husbands with bandaged heads and other signs of alleged brutality. Women who visited one prison said the faces and bodies of their husbands showed marks which, they charged, were caused by whips or butts of guns.

At least two new concentration camps were reported to have been opened in Austria. One was said to be located at Marschegg on the German-Slovakian border where Jews are forced to work on irrigation projects. The other was reported to be at Mathausen on the Upper Danube river. Jews at this camp work in stone quarries.

The Nazi drive on Jews continued throughout Germany. Services in synagogues were banned by the secret police over the week-end.

Put Jews in Ghettos.

Goering, as chief of the four year plan for economic self-sufficiency, prepared to supervise the liquidation of Jewish property instead of leaving the matter to the finance ministry.

Under the plan for the establishment of ghettos the Nazis intend to concentrate the Jewish population in a few buildings and streets of big cities where most of them are located now.

GERMAN ENVOY BIDS FAREWELL TO HULL; STARTS HOME FRIDAY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Hans Dieckhoff, German ambassador, said good-by to Secretary Cordell Hull today before leaving for Berlin to report on the attitude in the United States toward Germany.

The ambassador, smiling as he entered the office of the secretary of state, remarked he had come in simply to bid farewell and did not have any message from his government for the secretary.

Hull rose to his feet as the ambassador entered his office and shook hands with him but did not smile. When the ambassador came out the broad smile with which he had greeted correspondents before entering the office was gone and his face carried a grim look. Dieckhoff had been inside two minutes. It is expected he will sail from New York Friday.

Mine and Ranch Owner Is Missing in Northwest

Santa Rosa, Cal., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Disappearance of Ernest A. Goff, 64 years old, owner of a palatial estate at Kenwood, was disclosed today by his wife and son, who have been trying to trace him. Sheriff Harry L. Patterson said Goff left Merritt, Wash., where he has large mining and ranch interests, for home about three weeks ago. Mrs. Goff has received a letter from Seattle, dated Nov. 13, in which Goff said he was ill and was leaving for a Portland, Ore., sanitarium. Goff never reached the sanitarium.

5 MILLION MEN TO BE CALLED ON STRIKE IN FRANCE

Labor to Fight Abolition of 40 Hour Week.

PARIS, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The executive committee of the General Confederation of Labor met Premier Daladier's stern measures to halt spreading labor troubles with an announcement tonight that it had decided to carry out instructions for a nationwide strike involving 5,000,000 French workers.

The confederation's national congress at Nantes last Thursday adopted a motion authorizing collective cessation of work to protest the premier's decree laws, particularly those abandoning the 40 hour five day work week to speed up armaments production.

The executive committee planned another meeting Friday to arrange the actual date for the strike and other details.

Order One Day Strike.

The General Confederation of Government Employés also sent instructions to all its affiliates to join in a nation-wide protest day set for Saturday.

Representatives of 17,000 metal workers in factories near Lille and Valenciennes voted to call a stay-in strike tomorrow.

Before the general strike was voted Daladier had issued instruction to prefects of all departments to "put an end immediately to occupations of factories which have taken place."

Labor leaders said one reason for the strike vote was an official order for clearing of the Denain-Anzin factories of northern France, where 5,000 metal workers struck in sympathy with 4,000 "stay-in" strikers of the Cail Arms factory and occupied their plants. Police had announced that clearing of the Denain-Anzin buildings would begin tomorrow morning.

500 Strikers Fired.

The entire 4,000 workers of the Cail plant, engaged in manufacturing artillery for the government, began their "stay-in" when 500 men who refused to return to work yesterday were discharged by the management. Mobile guards started to clear the Cail plant late this afternoon.

Germany and France exchanged good neighbor assurances today on the eve of important conversations between French statesmen and the British premier and foreign minister.

An official source called the assurances—made at Berchtesgaden, Germany, when the new French ambassador, Robert Coulondre, presented his credentials to Reichsfuehrer Hitler—the beginning of a "relaxation" of century old strained relations between France and Germany.

But the foreign affairs committee of the chamber of deputies urged the government to include in the French-British conferences beginning tomorrow a discussion of the "persecution [in Germany] of which certain racial and religious minorities are victims."

MRS. GRACE NELSON.

Grace and Axel Nelson were leaving the home of friends one night when he tore her clothes off and left her standing there — blushing — she told Judge Philip Finnegan yesterday. And lots of times, Mrs. Nelson said, her husband tried to tear all her clothes off in public.

Judge Finnegan gave her a divorce. She's 30 years old, redheaded, and lives at 7836 South Shore drive. Her husband is 40. Her attorney, Norman Becker, got her an injunction restraining Nelson from trailing her on the street, following her on street cars, telephoning her, or even talking to her.

NLRB EXAMINER RULES VIOLATION BY FORD PLANT

An intermediate report finding that the Ford Motor company violated the national labor relations act by distributing to employés pamphlets opposing their joining labor unions was issued yesterday by Conn Cohalen, a trial examiner for the national labor relations board.

The case involved the company's South Chicago plant. The complaint was made by the United Automobile Workers of America. Cohalen recommended that the company cease interfering with employés' rights of self-organization and post notices to that effect.

His report was released by Leonard C. Bajork, Chicago regional director for the labor board.

Hoover Says Peace Bonds Tie Up U. S. and Britain

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover was given a public reception at the city hall when he arrived today to address the annual banquet of the York Bible class tonight. In a brief speech Hoover said the people of the United States and the British empire were drawn together "for peace" by unbreakable bonds.

CZECH JURIST PICKED TO RUN FOR PRESIDENCY

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Dr. Emil Hacha, president of the Supreme court administration, accepted the nomination of leading Czechoslovak political parties today to be a candidate in presidential elections on Nov. 28.

Political circles deemed it in the nation's best interests to have Foreign Minister Frantisek Chvalkovsky remain at that post, and his candidacy, which had seemed certain, was dropped.

Hacha, an eminent jurist, is widely esteemed as a nonparty man. He held a high post in the Vienna ministry of justice in old imperial Austria. When Czechoslovakia was formed in 1918 he was appointed second president of the Supreme court administration and then first president. He is 66 years old.

The senate, meanwhile, accepted a law conferring autonomy upon Slovakia and Ruthenia [sub-Carpathian Russia]. Communists withdrew from the chamber during the vote, which otherwise was unanimous. The lower house approved the autonomy measure last week.

Slovaks Threaten Hungarians.

BRATISLAVA, Czechoslovakia, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The Slovak autonomous government today threatened confiscation of the property of Hungarian citizens in Slovakia as an answer to a Hungarian announcement that Slovak colonists would be expelled from Hungary's newly annexed territory.

The colonists obtained land from the Czechoslovak government in accordance with its land reform program that saw the breakup of many large estates after the world war. Many of the colonists settled in Hungarian populated areas which were annexed to Hungary in the Vienna agreement of Nov. 2 at which Italy and Germany were mediators.

As a protective step the Slovak government decided to register the wealth of Hungarian citizens in Slovakia for possible confiscation to provide for the colonists if they were turned out of Hungary without proper indemnification.

Advices from Budapest said the Hungarian government was prepared for negotiation concerning possible damages.

NIGHT LIFE TUNED TO FIT PURSES OF GAY MEXICO CITY

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 21.—[By air mail.]—There is plenty of night life in Mexico City. And it is night life for all castes and classes. None is neglected.

The gay spots are in three divisions so that the peon and the first lady each can find a suitable spot to go. The difference is in the quality of food, drink and the appointments. In the first bracket, the well to do Mexicans, army officers and foreigners hob nob together.

One dance place has the three divisions all under one roof. One enters a large room about 20 feet by 60 feet. The floor is crowded with adults and youngsters dancing in sweaters and shirt sleeves.

Some in Overalls.

Extending from one end of this room at a right angle is another room of equal size filled with people in overalls. Extending from the other end of the central room is another large room with customers all in good street clothes. No walls or screens separate the rooms, yet the patrons do not trespass.

Two orchestras furnish the music and all the patrons dance well—the Spanish are clever on their feet, bullfighting would not be popular if they were not.

The night clubs are much like those in the United States except, comparatively speaking, not as elaborately furnished and are much cheaper. There is no cover charge at any time, but there is a minimum charge on Saturday nights.

Modern Restaurants.

The night clubs are organized and put into classes according to what they have to offer, while beyond the tracks the inmates of 500 houses of prostitution are segregated according to age and looks.

Hotels and restaurants are much the same as ours in the United States. Usually at least one attendant speaks English, which helps a lot. In the long run, there are such different terms for the courses that one does not know what he is to eat, anyway.

There are no gambling places in the city. All betting inclinations are taken care of in the national lottery handled by the government. It is widely advertised as a means to get rich quick. The streets are crowded with ticket peddlers. Of the proceeds, 8 per cent goes to the sellers, 8 per cent to charity, 4 per cent to the government, and 80 per cent as prizes. Steel work is going up for a five story half block building which is to be the lottery headquarters.

Visit to Outlaw Village.

Another form of evening amusement, if one can find a driver to go, is a visit to the outlaw village. So many police have been killed there that the authorities decided to let the village alone, and the police stations were vacated.

The citizens there looked like all other Mexicans to this observer, but they were pretty poorly dressed. The village has clean streets, shacks, and little eat shops. There are not many lights, maybe the chauffeur was right, maybe it is a good place for visitors to avoid.

Rum vs. Rummy

[TRIBUNE Photo.]
MRS. ELSIE SCHROEDER.

Rum and rummy caused the troubles of Elsie and Ernest Schroeder, Judge John J. Lupe was told yesterday.

"She has a weakness for rum," Schroeder testified. "And he had a weakness for rummy," interrupted her attorney, Victor Frohlich. "He'd lose the earnings of their trucking business, as much as $275 a week, in his card games."

The judge awarded Mrs. Schroeder $9 a week temporary alimony pending final disposition of the case. Mrs. Schroeder is 26 years old. She lives at 9428 South St. Louis avenue. Schroeder lives at 9720 South Genoa avenue. She is asking separate maintenance, and he is asking a divorce.

HUNGARY FACES CRISIS; 61 BACKERS OF PREMIER QUIT

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Differences of opinion on the handling of Ruthenian and domestic questions led to the resignation tonight of 61 members of parliament from Premier Bela Imredi's Party of National Unity.

As a result Imredi's position was considered precarious in political circles. They said the dissidents were displeased with the sudden policy of moderation which the government displayed in its demands for Ruthenia [sub-Carpathian Russia], easternmost Czechoslovak district.

The total membership of the Party of National Unity, which is confined to members of parliament, is 160. Premier Imredi's friends, however, said he was sure of 98 votes of the National Unity parliamentarians and that 32 others would give him the necessary support to survive. Membership of the lower house is 255.

NAZIS THREATEN 'RUTHLESS' WAR AGAINST PRIESTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Nov. 22.—"Catholic clerics who spread dissent among our people will be punished with absolute ruthlessness despite the fact they are priests, or rather because they are priests."

Dr. Hugo Jury, Nazi district leader of Lower Austria, made that proclamation today in a speech in Mistelbach.

"Whoever says that we Nazis are irreligious is either a maniac or a fool," Dr. Jury asserted. "We believe in a God, the God who sent us the Fuehrer. However, one must differentiate between true faith and the aspiration of certain clerics for political power."

DENMARK NABS 12 OF SPY RING LED BY NAZI WRITER

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Three Danes and nine foreigners, including four identified by police as Germans, were under arrest today after the discovery of a nation-wide spy system.

Police said the key man in the intelligence service, which was planned to report the movement of ships and airplanes in Danish waters in wartime, was the former German naval captain, Horst von Pfluck Harttung. He is 49 years old and the correspondent for a Berlin newspaper, the Boersenzeitung. An unnamed foreign power was blamed as instigator of the organization.

Harttung and his brother Heinrich were arraigned in January, 1919, for participation in the slaying in Berlin of the Socialist leaders, Karl Liebknecht and Rosa Luxemburg, but were acquitted.

Italy Expels Reporter of Chicago Daily News

ROME, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Frank Smothers, Rome correspondent of the Chicago Daily News, was ordered to leave Italy today because of the "unfriendly" tone of his dispatches. Guido Rocco, director of the foreign press section of the ministry of popular culture, in informing Smothers of his expulsion, cited particularly his dispatch of Nov. 16 on the British-Italian accord. Smothers was given to understand the order could not be modified because of the "generally unfriendly tone" of his articles in the past.

LITTLE COLDS Often Lead to BIG TRAGEDIES

Jones' Chair Is Empty Today!

He only had a "slight" cold yesterday. "I'll shake it off," he said.

They relieve the headache and other pains that go with a cold. They help reduce the fever that accompanies a cold. They lift that heavy feeling of stuffiness with which a cold oppresses and depresses you.

Thousands swear by Bromo Quinine tablets. Get a package today at any drug store. They come in two sizes. Buy the larger size—the economy size—as it gives you 20% more for your money.

Why this New HIGH-VITAMIN YEAST is of Vital Importance to You

Potent combination of 4 essential vitamins and the remarkable "booster action" of fresh yeast itself—gives more complete results—more than just vitamins alone

Try this unique Vitamin food

THESE QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS TELL YOU WHAT YOU WANT TO KNOW:

1 Is there any need for most of us to take any vitamins besides those we get in our meals?

Yes. Many studies indicate that a large proportion of the people are getting fewer vitamins than they should, to be in splendid health.

2 How can I tell whether I need extra vitamins?

If your colds are severe and "hang on," you very likely need more Vitamin A.

If you are nervous, irritable and have poor digestion, B is often needed.

Plenty of Vitamin D is essential for the proper use of calcium and phosphorus, which are necessary for strong bones and hard teeth.

Tiring easily, too early aging may be due to a shortage of Vitamin G.

3 Do some people eat extra vitamins and not feel improvement?

Yes. Slow digestion may prevent their assimilating the vitamins properly.

4 How can poor vitamin assimilation be helped?

Slow digestion can often be quickened and stimulated by eating Fleischmann's new High-Vitamin Yeast, so that the vitamins are used by the body more quickly and completely. In this way yeast acts as a "booster" for the vitamins.

Further, science has discovered that unless all of the factors of the Vitamin B "complex" are present, it is impossible to secure normal nutrition. All of these factors are available to you in Fleischmann's new High-Vitamin Yeast.

5 Do I need an equal amount of each of these vitamins?

No. The number of units needed varies greatly, as you will see below.

6 Do I need all these vitamins every day?

Yes. To keep yourself well supplied, it is safest to take all these vitamins daily.

7 How much of my vitamin requirement will two cakes a day of Fleischmann's High-Vitamin Yeast give me?

It will give you, with your meals, more than the recognized minimum requirements of A, B and D.

6200 units of Vitamin A
200 units of Vitamin B_1
800 units of Vitamin D

and gives you a very rich amount, 100 to 120 units, of Vitamin G.

8 Won't these extra vitamins every day cost me more than I can afford?

They will cost you only 6¢ a day at your grocer's, if you get them in Fleischmann's High-Vitamin Yeast.

Read the great number of vitamin units now in Fleischmann's new HIGH-VITAMIN Yeast

2 cakes a day give you
Vitamin A 6200 Units
Vitamin B_1 200 Units
Vitamin D 800 Units
Vitamin G 100-120 Units

All the average person needs (in addition to his meals) of A, B and D, and a rich supply of the vitality vitamin G.

Fleischmann's Yeast gives you more than just Vitamins . . .

CITY WILL SHARE ITS THANKSGIVING TABLE WITH POOR

Private and Municipal Aid Arranged for Needy.

Chicago's unfortunates will share the bounty of Thanksgiving tomorrow. Tons of turkey, goose, chicken, and their trimmings were being prepared yesterday for the city's poor, as well as for patients and inmates of municipal institutions.

In practically all public schools, baskets of food and clothing, donated by students and their families, were gathered for distribution through charitable agencies. The annual Thanksgiving campaign to raise funds for the School Children's Aid society was brought to a close. Last year's campaign netted $90,236.32, an average of nearly 20 cents a pupil.

Homeless to Be Guests.

At Cathedral shelter, Canon David E. Gibson, who has come to be known as Chicago's "Friend of the Friendless," will serve 1,000 homeless men in the shelter dormitory. Eight hundred more will be guests of Morris Greenstein, at his restaurant at 701 South State street. The turkey dinner will be served in remembrance of Greenstein's late wife, who for thirty years held open house on Thanksgiving day to all who were hungry. The restaurant also will send a turkey dinner to inmates of the Martha Washington Home for Cripples at 4848 South Michigan avenue.

At Block's restaurant, where for twelve years the indigent have been served a turkey dinner, more than 2,500 persons will be welcomed. Two thousand children living in the vicinity of North and Milwaukee avenues will be guests of Albert Z. Halperin at his restaurant at 1587 Milwaukee avenue.

For the eleventh year Police Sergt. Edward De Vries, the "preaching copper," will be host to 1,500 unfortunates of the near west side at his Trinity Gospel mission, 203 South Halsted street.

Girl Scouts Aid 15 Families.

Fifteen deserving families will be remembered by several Girl Scout troops. For three weeks the girls have been collecting canned food and setting aside weekly dues collection for their Thanksgiving baskets. More than seventy baskets will be distributed by the Helping Hand mission, 848 West Madison street.

At Oak Forest infirmary, 4,000 residents will be served 3,500 pounds of goose. More than 650 chickens will go into the pot at Illinois State hospital at Dunning. Wounded war veterans at the Edward Hines Jr. hospital will have two tons of turkey. Eight hundred patients in the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium, as well as 230 patients in the branch in North Riverside, also will be served turkey. About one-third of the patients in these institutions will be allowed to spend the day with their families, Dr. Leo M. Czaja, superintendent, said yesterday.

At the Juvenile Detention home, 240 charges will eat turkey, while at the County jail, 834 prisoners will find chicken fricasee on their menu. At the House of Correction, each of 2,000 prisoners will have half a chicken.

In most of the public institutions and in many private community centers Thanksgiving parties will follow dinner. Some entertainments will be held tonight and others tomorrow night. After a big holiday feast convicts at the Stateville penitentiary will watch the football teams from cellhouse C and E battle it out for the prison championship.

Convicts Will Be Dined.

Warden Joseph E. Ragen said 6,102 convicts in the new prison and the old Joliet penitentiary will have a dinner of chicken from the prison honor farm. The menu includes 1,200 pounds of chicken, 400 gallons of gravy, 600 gallons of cranberry sauce, 120 bushels of white potatoes, and 60 bushels of sweet potatoes, coffee and bread.

At the tuberculosis sanitarium, where excitement is forbidden, Thanksgiving will be a visiting day.

"To patients making the long, hard struggle back to health visits from their friends are better entertainment than anything we could devise," Dr. Czaja said.

ROAD APPROVES TRACK MOVING TO ENLARGE AIRPORT

The board of directors of the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad yesterday authorized acceptance of the city's track removal ordinance for the extension of the Chicago airport. According to terms of the ordinance the tracks will be moved from along 59th street to a new location north of 55th.

At the railroad's suggestion the city has agreed to make a specific appropriation for removal in the 1939 budget. A lump sum of $800,000 was included in the 1938 budget for airport expansion. This now will be itemized.

Mayor Kelly was notified of the railroad's authorization yesterday by A. N. Williams, president and general manager. The railroad and the city each will file petitions with the Illinois commerce commission asking permission for the removal. Land will then be purchased or condemned for the new right of way, and the removal begun.

GIRL, 12, PLUNGES FROM TRAIN BUT HURTS ARE MINOR

Oakland, Neb., Nov. 22.—[Special]—Avis Minor, 12 years old, of La Junta, Colo., was standing with her mother in the rear vestibule of a train watching two autos race along a parallel highway. The platform covering the steps had been left up, and Avis fell through to the ground.

She somersaulted twice, slid several feet along the cinder roadbed, arose and called to the motorists she had been watching, "Please help me catch that train."

The conductor stopped the train, and at the next station an incredulous doctor could find nothing more than face cuts and a broken thumb on the girl. Today, propped up in bed, she shared congratulations with her great-grandmother, Mrs. Henry Johnson, to whose ninetieth birthday party she was traveling when the accident occurred.

Postoffice to Be Closed, No Mail Delivery Tomorrow

Postmaster Ernest J. Kreutgen announced yesterday that there will be no regular mail delivery tomorrow, Thanksgiving day. The main postoffice will be closed, but there will be two collections from letter boxes and the usual special delivery service will be in effect. At the same time, Postmaster General James A. Farley, in Washington, stated that the heaviest Christmas mail in postal history is expected this year.

Bagpipes to Hail 600 Pound Haggis from Scotland Today

Bagpipes will skirl merrily this morning at the La Salle street station when the Illinois Saint Andrew society meets there to claim a 600 pound haggis from Scotland. It will lie in state until Saturday night, when the society will hold its annual Feast of the Haggis at the Stevens hotel in celebration of the group's 93d anniversary. A haggis? O, it's a pudding.

Dr. Rawlings Requests Health Board Retirement

Dr. Isaac D. Rawlings, chief of the board of health's section on communicable diseases since 1929, asked yesterday to be placed on the retirement list Dec. 1. Dr. Rawlings, who is 69 years old, began service with the board in 1899. From 1921 to 1929 he was state director of health. His home is at 6158 University avenue.

Park Board Pays the City for Some Ups and Downs

The park board may own the new outer drive bridge, but the city gets to put it up and down. The park board voted the city $8,304.08 yesterday—for three months' wages—and then decided to buy two weed cutting boats for the lagoons. Boats like that cost about $700 and never have a dull moment.

Continued Cold

Continued cold weather is in prospect today and will last over Thanksgiving day, according to Forecaster C. A. Donnel. The maximum yesterday afternoon was 31 degrees. No precipitation is expected. The lowest temperature so far in November was 29 degrees on the 14th. This is the first real cold snap of the fall for Chicago. Since Oct. 1 unseasonably warm weather has prevailed.

FATHER IS 69; WIFE, 50, BEARS SECOND TWINS

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 22.—(AP)—James S. Hornshaw, 69 years old, puffed at a big cigar tonight and announced that his wife, Grace, 50 years old, had given birth to twins for the second time within twenty months. The mother and the new twins were reported in good condition at Providence hospital. Hornshaw is a city employé.

The twins, seven pound boys, were Hornshaw's thirteenth children from two marriages. The present Mrs. Hornshaw has borne him nine. Eleven of the thirteen are living. One of the previous twins, born in March, 1937, died five hours after birth. The survivor, George William, weighs thirty-three pounds.

STATE APPROVES WINNETKA GRADE DIVISION PROJECT

An order approving Winnetka's $3,450,000 railroad grade separation program was entered yesterday in Springfield by the Illinois commerce commission. Nine grade crossings, at which twenty-eight persons have been killed since 1913, will be eliminated by eight bridges and an underpass. The tracks of the North Western and North Shore lines run parallel through the village.

The commerce commission stipulated that work must start by Dec. 23, the date specified by the Public Works administration, which is making a grant of $1,552,500, and a loan of $1,897,500. Of the loan, $897,500 represents the railroads' share, which the roads will pay back to the village in annual instalments.

The project must be completed within eighteen months. It covers a distance of 3.41 miles.

500 EAT TURKEY WITH ROOSEVELT ON THANKSGIVING

Warm Springs, Ga., Nov. 22.—(AP)—A menu ranging from fresh fruit cocktails to nuts and cider, with roast young turkey and oyster stuffing intervening, was announced today for the Thanksgiving dinner of President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

The repast, to be served in the Warm Springs Foundation Georgia Hall restaurant at 7 p. m. Thursday, will be attended by about 500 persons, including the infantile paralysis patients, young and old, and their families. Here's the order of the courses:

Fresh fruit cocktail, pascal celery, mixed olives and salted almonds.

Roast young turkey, oyster stuffing, cranberry sauce, mashed and candied sweet potatoes, new peas in butter, hubbard squash, parkerhouse rolls, and harvest salad.

DIES IN PATROL WAGON.

John Ince, 28 years old, charged with stealing coal in a railroad yard, died in a patrol wagon last night as he was being taken from the Stockyards police station to the Bridewell hospital. He had become ill in his cell shortly before.

THIEVERY REWARDED.

American manufacturers of office supplies are expressing indignation over the loss of their Mexican market, and well they may. If ever there was an example of botch and bungle the conduct of our recent relations with Mexico provides it.

American oil companies some years ago thought there might be oil in Mexico and spent a great deal of money to find it. They spent millions more in the construction of refineries, pipelines, and tankers. In so doing they provided employment for many thousands of Mexicans and gave them a higher standard of living than they could possibly have attained otherwise.

No doubt, as an expression of gratitude the Mexican government stole the oil properties. Our state department made no effective protest. The Mexican government has taken the position that it need not even compensate the American investors, but out of the goodness of its heart it may pay something if it can find the money. It would be unfair to our state department to say that it accepted this formula, but it would do no injustice to the department to say that its objections have been wholly lacking in force. Whatever effect the feeble protests might have had was destroyed when the administration's man, John Lewis, addressing a labor congress in Mexico, encouraged his hearers to stand firm.

In short, the Mexicans got away with the swag. They have done more than that. There is evidence to indicate that they have sent envoys to neighboring Latin-American countries to pass the word along that American investments can be seized without risk. From the Mexican viewpoint it is of some importance that this doctrin be spread rapidly; if other nations join in the game of expropriation Mexico will be in a less conspicuous position.

Our government permitted Americans to act as agents of the Mexican government in the sale of the stolen oil. Some of the oil, it appears, has been sold to refiners in this country, but most of it has been traded to Germany, Japan, and perhaps Italy, also. Mr. Roosevelt storms at the dictators and the aggressors, but he permits them to get oil, the most important of all the munitions of war, when he has every moral and legal right to halt the shipments.

Germany does not pay for the stolen goods in cash. Germany conducts her trade with Mexico, as with most of the other countries with which she does business, by means of barter agreements. The result is that Mexico has to accept a huge quantity of German exports. Accordingly, German typewriters are rapidly driving American typewriters from the Mexican market, as the recent protest indicated, and what is true of the sale of office supplies is equally true of scores of other commodities.

While all this has been going on our treasury has continued to buy silver from Mexico for more than it is worth. Thanks to our so-called good neighbor policy, we have permitted our oil properties to be stolen, we have permitted the sale of the swag to the dictator countries to their great benefit, and we have lost the market for our products in Mexico, but we have continued to subsidize the despoilers with cash. And, of course, we have given encouragement to every peanut politician from the Rio Grande to Tierra del Fuego to join in this highly profitable game at our expense.

Among the many failures of the Roosevelt administration, it can safely be said that the handling of our relations with Mexico has been the worst.

FOOTBALL AS HIGHER EDUCATION.

The University of Pittsburgh freshman football players were shocked to discover that they had been billed for their tuition. They were quickly assured that everything would be arranged to their satisfaction, but it was painful for them to find that such a mistake could be made. Except for one unfortunate affair in which Carnegie Tech participated, Pittsburgh football players have maintained the reputation of their university as an institution of higher learning over a considerable period. Each Saturday the young men instructed by Dr. Sutherland have maintained the cultural traditions of the school. The tuition incident, now no doubt properly taken care of, was only one of the episodes which the country has learned to expect in the process of readjusting American education to the requirements of its most important output.

No one has yet discovered a way in which all the major colleges of the country can completely satisfy their alumni throughout October and November. This educational problem remains the principal one in the training of American citizenship.

The graduates of the institutions of higher learning are sent out into the world emotionally untrained to cope with life. Their colleges have failed them. They have learned what the major objective is, being the ~~ning~~ of football games. The higher education has been intended to produce a citizen with certain emotional restraints. He was to have, if not a completely Spartan immunity to the spiritual bruises of contact with life, at least a certain poise and balance which would keep him from the most disastrous emotional overthrows. He has been unable to take his football.

The ability to cope with major strains has not been developed as successfully as the more hopeful providers of higher education wished. Still the scene is not without encouragement for persons who believe that by keeping at the problem something can be done. The University of Chicago is offering one of the most brilliant spectacles of adjusting football to the intellectual requirements of the university. In a proper system of rating the Maroons would be easily the country's number one team. The season was not what the players would regard as a success, but the university continues undisturbed and unblemished. That is an achievement which could be generally recommended.

Elsewhere coaches are being fired with complete disregard of the spirit of the labor relations law. If a better sense of justice prevailed the president of the university, half a dozen of the faculty, and the board of trustees also would be fired. What the institutions of higher learning will get if the emotional sufferings of the alumni increase and the conditions of employment become much worse will be some attention from John Lewis' C. I. O. Football as an industry will not be allowed to continue in such a condition of chaos. The institutions of higher learning will be brought under the Labor Relations board and they will learn to like the sitdown strike, the mass picketing of the gridiron, the closed shop, and the check-off. The alumni will like it when they see the coach sitting on the ball on the ten yard line and the players building the fires to boil hot dogs and warm their fingers.

STALIN'S THE FRIEND.

The closer Herr Hitler gets to the grains of the Ukraine and the metals of the Urals the more ardent becomes the admiration of soviet Russia for the United States. It also waxes with the wane of Chinese resistance to the Japanese. What have we done to merit so much affection? Underneath our rough, bourgeois, capitalistic exterior Moscow detects the heart of gold.

"The Munich conspiracy," says Izvestia, the soviet governmental newspaper, "has imposed new tasks before the major capitalist state which is not associated with the Munich pact. We refer to the United States of America. The leaders of American policy long ago realized the true meaning of events and, unlike leading politicians of certain European states, were capable of soberly and courageously evaluating and openly characterizing the present state of affairs."

Stalin had alliances in Europe. With them Hitler was boxed in and Mussolini was blocked out. Russia had France and Czechoslovakia as military allies. Through them it influenced Great Britain and the little entente. The Popular Front party in France was Russophile. The French socialists and communists were politically powerful. The anti-Nazi block wasn't afraid of Hitler.

These favoring circumstances for soviet security were destroyed by repeated outbursts of primitive fury in Moscow. Stalin came out shooting from the hip and when the smoke had cleared away he had shot his alliances into kingdom come. His renewal of the terror drove away his expedient friends. He destroyed his army, navy, and air force. He devoured the founders of the soviet union. He executed and exiled tens of thousands of obscure people. He made a ghastly farce of his courts and spread the silence of death over the land.

In these excesses of cold treachery and barbarism he became Hitler's best friend. He broke down the defenses against Naziism. The alliances blew up. Stalin's purges brought him face to face with the German dictator in the preliminaries of what probably will be the world's next great struggle. Stalin seeks another friend. The United States is supposed to be gullible. The soviets may learn that there is a difference between the sympathies of the American government and the sympathies of the American people. The people would like to see both Stalin and Hitler destroy themselves.

PURCHASED VOTES.

At the recent election just short of 45 per cent of all the voters in Chicago cast straight Democratic ballots. Just short of 30 per cent cast straight Republican ballots.

Now let us see what happened in the precincts in which the residents of the government's housing projects do their voting.

The Jane Addams homes constitute five precincts. In these precincts 57 per cent of the ballots were straight Democratic and only 18 per cent straight Republican.

The three precincts of the Trumbull Park homes produced 61 per cent of straight Democratic ballots and 18 per cent of straight Republican.

In the four precincts of the Julia Lathrop homes 59 per cent of the ballots were straight Democratic and 14 per cent were straight Republican.

Federal housing provides superior quarters at considerably less than cost to a favored few. As a remedy for urban congestion and slums it is of negligible value. As a vote buyer it rates high.

Editorial of the Day

SIMPLER AUTO NUMBERS.

[Dallas Morning News.]

Maintaining simplicity and brevity of automobile numbers on number plates is a problem in this day of many motor vehicles. The number that is quickly read and easily remembered is the ideal number, and such devices as 4H48-76, 10 774D, L33676, and 7K 27 67, representing New York, Georgia, New Jersey, and California, respectively, are seen on Dallas streets daily. The Texas highway department numbers straight through to 999,999 and then resorts to such a device as A10-18. All of these numbers and number-letter devices are difficult to read and remember.

Long number combinations result from the tendency to use the Arabic notation which recapitulates symbols at each ten units. This runs up the length of a number relatively fast. If the Texas highway department would adopt its own system of notation consisting of all the numbers and letters in customary order of rotation, it could issue number plates bearing no combination with more than four places. Such system would repeat after thirty-five [discarding from the system either 0 or zero to avoid confusion], which would permit registration of a total of 1,544,760 automobiles with the use of no symbol of more than four places. In other words, an automobile which would bear the number 1,544,760 according to the Arabic system would carry a relatively simple ZZZZ on its number plate. It could be made ZZ-ZZ for readability. A middle bracket number would be something like MU-1P or LB-S2.

With a still longer base, of course, the number system could be still further simplified, but the nine numerals [eliminating 0] and the twenty-six letters are the only symbols well fixed in order in the general public mind.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

GET READY FOR LINE BOOK.

An advance copy of the Line Book of 1938 is now in the hands of its editor, who believes that a review is in order. After spending a month up to our neck in clippings and getting into a state of jitters over problems of selection, we were afraid that we might not enjoy this opus in its published form. Authors and editors get that way; they gaze with lackluster eyes upon the completed work and groan to themselves, "Behold, the mountain has labored and brought forth a mouse."

But we enjoyed our evening as a reader of the Line Book. It has a certain continuity and form; its verse, prose, and quips have been organized and interrelated, as far as possible, to give pace and rhythm to the work as a whole. This Line Book, therefore, is not a miscellaneous jumble of odd lots.

We'll call it a streamlined affair; it moves with ease. The cover design by Stan Ekman is gay and simple, suggesting the carnival spirit. The more than 200 items represent, of course, the cream of the year's contributions. The book is dedicated "to the public whose affection for the Line o' Type column, day by day for nearly thirty years, has been a marvel of modern journalism."

The Line Book will go on sale at every newsstand day after tomorrow. It may also be secured at the Tribune's Public Service offices, 435 North Michigan avenue and Madison and Dearborn streets. Mail orders should be addressed to the Public Service office, with inclosure of 10 cents for the book and 3 cents for postage. Out-of-town customers, please note this.

Bulletin in Dauphin Hunt.

Alas! and alack! The late Dauphin Louis Charles was last seen on a Mississippi raft southbound, in company with Huck Finn and others. I suggest you search the records of our hobo district, as undoubtedly this prince of the order rode the bumpers back to Chicago hospitality.

ONE GREEK TO ANOTHER.

(These verses illustrate the attitude of the members of any American college fraternity toward another. They are authentic, for in this form a member of the mythical "Gamma Nu" answered the sneer of a member of the equally mythical "Gamma Chi." If there are any fraternities of these names, the editor apologizes, and announces that the rimes have no direct application.)

Gamma Nus are gentlemen,
Debonair and chaste;
Chesterfields, Apollos,
Dressed in perfect taste.

Gamma Chis are débauchés,
Drunkards, lechers, thugs;
Satyr-hoofed Apollyons,
Gawkish, awkward lugs.

Hymning praise to Heaven,
Winging toward the blue,
White-robed, starry-eyed,
Soars the Gamma Nu.

Drunken in the gutter,
Retching in the sty,
Foul-breathed, stubble-bearded,
Sprawls the Gamma Chi.

Gazing toward the Ideal,
Eyes bloodshot and dim,
Grunts Gamma Chi of Gamma Nu,
"How I envy him!"

And sing and paint and dance.
They all said I would "get somewhere,"
And envied me the chance.

My fiddle strings are mute,
Slippers and brushes laid away,
And yet from Orpheus' lute

Was never heard such melody

With richer hues than Rembrandt knew
My jelly shelf abounds.

Is polishing a task?
What fool would trade originals
For copies, may I ask?

The Line o' Type's search for the grave of Chicago's Lost Dauphin has been successful. There was such a character, although he did not make much of a stir in the field of dauphinology, and he is buried in Calvary cemetery. His grave is said to be unmarked. This story is to be continued.

ABNORMAL APPETITE—BULIMIA.

"I AM so famished I could eat a horse." This remark is heard frequently, although the pièce de résistance of the gastronomic feat may be a mule, a bear, or an owl. Exaggerations? Yes!—wild ones at that, as we consider normal appetite, but not so far fetched if the speaker is suffering from a peculiar disease called bulimia—a word meaning hungry as an ox.

In such cases the demand on the part of the body for food may become so intense that many an individual responding to the impulse will stuff constantly. This condition has been recognized for many centuries and by ancient writers was termed "wolf's hunger."

The case is reported by B. B. Crohn of a woman 32 years of age who since childhood had felt a more or less continuous urge for edibles. Whenever she was under a particularly heavy nervous strain the craving became uncontrolable. These strenuous periods would disappear during intervals of complacency when she was happy and comfortable.

A few months ago the patient entered a hospital for special study. Waking at about 7 a. m. the menu allowed included coffee, milk, and fruit juices. All was swallowed with great gusto. So ravenous was she that she would not wait for solid foods to be prepared. A substantial meal was provided every hour until noon, when she consumed a huge dinner. Additional snacks were served at 2, 4, 5, 6, 9, and 11 p. m. and again at 2 and 5 a. m. The early morning portions consisted of milk and on one occasion she drank four quarts between 11 p. m. and 7 a. m. At no time did she feel as though she had had enough.

Mentally she seemed to be depressed, although highly excitable, emotional states were evidenced at times. Spells of crying alternated with dejection, although reasoning powers were normal. When she could be persuaded to talk about anything but food she carried on a conversation satisfactorily.

Within six months from the beginning of her last episode she gained fifty pounds. Careful examination revealed no abnormalities that could not be explained on the basis of excessive nutrition. The stomach was found to be normal, although considerably enlarged. A diagnosis was then made of a psychoneurosis from which she would probably recover eventually. Efforts directed toward controling her nervous symptoms with sedatives were only partly successful. Once she had been sent to the country in the hope that a change of climate and environment would bring improvement. Although somewhat relieved for a while she relapsed quickly into her former state, desiring large quantities to eat. To date there has been no marked change for the better, although two or three days will elapse with marked lessening of demands.

Bulimia is characterized by the fact that generous meals apparently increase appetite. In fact, the more that is taken, the more one wishes. If the hankering is not appeased, weakness, nervousness, even prostration may come on. Many authors recommend small lunches at frequent intervals, and this plan has been tried with varying success. Victims are afraid to leave home because the desire may come on suddenly when nutritive material is unobtainable.

What is eaten seems to make no difference. Food that has never been taken before, that has no relation to appetite, even substances that are spurned ordinarily will be swallowed with avidity. With the individual in a severe paroxysm, while he or she is powerless to discriminate between articles of diet—eating everything that lies at hand—nevertheless the line will be drawn instinctively between those articles which are wholesome and acceptable and those which are not.

The diagnosis in Crohn's case appears to be clear. There is an obvious element of hysteria responsible for some upset in the machinery of the digestion, since everything that is consumed is rushed through the alimentary tract. The gastric pouch empties itself with vigorous contractions. It is entirely possible that the nervous reactions of the intestine occasion not only rapid expulsion of the stomach contents, but an exaggerated sense of hunger.

DIET AND VOICE.

F. S. writes: Which foods or treatment will prove helpful in attaining a good voice?

REPLY.

A good singing voice is produced by no special diet or medical treatment. If nature has given you a set of flexible, well controled vocal cords, a good respiratory apparatus, and a certain amount of intellectual ability, any first class teacher of voice can help you to sing well.

RAPID GROWTH.

C. A. writes: What causes rapid growth of a boy 13 years old? How can it be prevented?

REPLY.

Nature and heredity are responsible and there is nothing to be done about either. If the boy's growth is so alarming as to suggest giantism, the pituitary gland should be investigated.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. If questions are based on some previously printed problem a clipping of the article should accompany. Most of the replies are mailed. Letters bearing no name and address are disregarded. A self-addressed envelope will expedite handling.

SEWER OBSTRUCTION.

Chicago, Nov. 15.—[Friend of the People.]—I would like to know if there is some way we can have the sewer in front of our home repaired. This sewer is lower than the street and all the leaves and dirt fall into it, and it gets blocked. It has never been cleaned out since we lived here, eight years. When it rains it gets so flooded it runs over the curb. Recently when we had a bad rainstorm and the sewer overflowed the neighbors complained to me saying it was our fault. We can't everlastingly be standing out in the rain cleaning the sewer. Anything you can do will be appreciated. A. B.

A thorough investigation was made and the catch basin outlet at the location mentioned was rodded and satisfactory service should now prevail. Assuring you of our coöperation at all times.

THE LITTLE MAN HAS SPOKEN.

Holland, Mich., Nov. 20.

The little man has spoken. Sure you know him,
The hero of no saga, song or poem;
The little guy who sweats to pay his taxes;
Whose little world rides steady on its axis.
He owns his little house, his friends respect him;
He's never met a Morgan or a Du Pon [t].

The little man has spoken.
The little guy who sweats to pay his taxes,

His wife, who seldom speaks in open meeting,
Has watched her husband take a six year beating.
She cooks, she bakes, she mends and does the scrubbing;
Her children's clothes are faded with much tubbing;
When voting she's been known to split her ticket;
But she's puzzled by the gals who march and picket;
She's not the girl friend of the whirling dervish.

Her little man has spoken,
Her little guy who sweats to pay his taxes.

They listened to those fireside chats, and wondered—
Why strikers were applauded when they plundered;
And aliens like Bridges, Perkins-pampered;
While anxious men who make the jobs were hampered;
Why Murphy could spend money not yet minted;
Why Roosevelt loved Boss Hague was never hinted.
The chat'rer and his idealistic boy friends
Seemed tangled with some smelly hi-dehoi trends.

The little man has spoken,
The little guy who sweats to pay his taxes.

NOT THE WORLD'S POLICEMAN.

Chicago, Nov. 21.—America was never meant to be the world's policeman. While we may abhor certain existing conditions abroad, we very justly refute the right of any other nation to influence our conduct here and therefore should consider the right of other governments to the same opinion inviolate. Mr. Stalin thinks his communist internationale is the answer for our difficulties, and yet witness our just refutation of his idea.

AN AMERICAN.

AN ANXIOUS MOTHER WRITES.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—Why must our President "stick his neck out" for trouble for our country considering our past experience? [I had three brothers who served, one still in the government hospital; also a classmate who never returned.]

Please, America, keep your feet firm on the ground, and pray to God that our President does not plunge us into another war.

ANXIOUS MOTHER.

WHY DEMOCRATS WIN HERE.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—Spokesmen for the Democratic party give all the credit for their recent victory here in Chicago to the machine and its leaders. I contend that some credit be given to the two faced Republican ward committeemen who, with some of their so-called precinct captains, hold jobs under the Democrats.

They are the real cogs in the machine. Before each campaign they go through the motions of nominating "straw men" for the Republican ticket. To them the selection of a slate is a mere formality. A few meetings are held, a dab of literature is distributed, and the captains are provided with a few haphazard instructions.

The chairman of the central committee and his cohorts dwell on some minor issue, give out the reports of some phony straw votes, and predict that the Republicans "will carry Cook county by 50,000 votes." After this we have an election, and you know the rest.

Of the fifty committeemen, only nine carried their wards for Lyons. Lyons trailed Lucas by only 100,000 votes. This deficiency could have been overcome in Chicago if the committee members knew how to conduct an aggressive but honest campaign.

Since this is in the nature of a constructive criticism, I suggest that the chairmanship of the Cook county central committee be given to Patrick Sheridan Smith.

Mr. Smith has a splendid organization in the 6th ward and I am certain that if he were given a chance he could rebuild the Republican party in Cook county. He has always been successful in bringing out a heavy vote even in the most adverse times.

YOUNG REPUBLICAN.

FARMERS TIRE OF NEW DEAL.

Chicago, Nov. 21.—The tirade against THE TRIBUNE by a person named Drake in Wednesday's issue shows his ignorance when he speaks of a Democratic landslide in Illinois. The county in which I reside—Iroquois, about seventy-five miles south of Chicago, in the farm belt of the best land in the state—made a clean Republican sweep, not one Democrat being elected in the whole county, and not because they failed to work hard either. It was because the farmers are tired of New Deal tactics. This result is typical of the results all over Illinois.

More power to THE TRIBUNE, Orr, and Parrish. E. S. BLISS.

CITY HALL: PLEASE NOTE.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—Can something be done to prevent the further destruction of property in our neighborhood? This is going on at the present time at 88th and Aberdeen streets.

A WPA project is tearing up perfectly good sidewalks, to what end I really do not know. If they want to do good work why don't they finish repairing May street between 88th and 89th streets? A. J. LA JEUNESSE.

SHE'D BE AMONG THE FIRST.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—We've had a "Line Book" for Christmas, a "Wake Book" for Thanksgiving. Why not a "Voice of the People Book" for New Year's? I think it would go over with a bang. It would be exciting fun wondering who would get in. ANNE JESTY ROGERS.

HORDES OF DELINQUENTS.

Chicago, Nov. 21.—Our community, like all others, has an abundance of problems, but to my mind the most perilous of them just now is tax delinquency. We don't hear much about it, but I see just now a statement by the county treasurer that real estate taxes alone are 158 million in arrears in Cook county. Personal property arrearages are relatively larger.

But what I wanted to say is based on what I saw yesterday in a regional newspaper printed in the northwest part of the county. It contained the delinquent tax list for 1937 in the township of Maine—largely rural and relatively small in population. Maine contains the thriving small cities of Park Ridge and Des Plaines. The published delinquency list in real estate taxes in that one township, reported by the county collector, occupies 76 newspaper columns of small type. It lists probably 200 items per column—something like 15,000 parcels of land on which the 1937 taxes are unpaid. In the list are some properties on which taxes were paid under protest, but these were relatively few. Most of the items covered plain failure to pay taxes on the lots and lands.

How are we to continue as a solvent, tax supported community when in one minor township in the county there are 15,000 tax bills unpaid? NOR'WESTER.

WARNS OF INTOLERANCE.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—I am wondering whether an excitable press and our for-God's-sake-do-something politicians are not moving a little fast in this German situation. If we want to really help and protect our own Jewish population we must give more than hysterical consideration to the situation.

Right now we have vast numbers of unemployed—about the same number of millions that were idle when Mr. Roosevelt took office. We have an almost dangerously high public debt. If, in a spirit of sentimental marauding, we open the gates to large numbers of the oppressed in Germany there will follow the usual unsentimental reaction. The unemployed will be further embittered. Politicians will make capital and blame those who authorized the influx. Gradually the whole move will be magnified as a curse that has prevented business recovery and the blame will be tossed in the laps of American Jews. It will tend to stir the fires of intolerance in this country, fires that should be kept low TOLERANCE.

SUSPECTS "100 PER CENTERS."

Chicago, Nov. 19.—It is a pathetic circumstance, and they are more to be pitied than scorned, but lived there ever a contributor to this department who signed himself as "100 per cent American"—or some similar misnomer—that was not inconsistent with genuine American principles as to be oozing with the venom of hatred and prejudice?

MARTIN K. ASH.

BACKING UP MR. DIES.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—Our organization [the Young Republican club of the 19th ward] is only two years old, but active. We have written Congressman Dies asking if we, as a group, could be of any assistance to him, with funds or otherwise. Please print this so that other organization may see how we feel concerning the issue and probably follow suit. ROBERT V. MEHAFFEY.

Front Views and Profiles

Mr. Cohan.

After the opening performance of I'd Rather Be Right at the Auditorium George M. Cohan went up to see an old friend of the theater, Mrs. Loyal Davis, who, as Edith Luckett, appeared with him some years ago. They reminisced, Mr. Cohan speaking with humor and tenderness of old friends and fellow producers and players, revealing himself to be exactly the same person off stage as on, even to the well known Cohan mannerisms—the repetition of phrases, the use of the handkerchief, the occasional gesture of the hand toward the breast pocket.

One story concerned their late mutual friend, the Irish singing actor, Chauncey Olcott. He wanted Cohan to write a play for him in which he would be a dramatic star, not a singer, and Mr. Cohan wrote Popularity. He saw in rehersal that the audience wouldn't be happy without Olcott singing in the play, and he tried to prepare him for it by a little story about himself. He once had wanted to do a straight play himself, he told the Irish singer. He wrote it and appeared in it, and there were curtain calls for his opening night. He took a bow, pleased at his new rôle, a nice little author's speech ready. But before he had got fairly started on it a voice from the audience yelled: "Cut out the talk and give us a step."

The late Chauncey Olcott wanted to be a dramatic star and Cohan hoped to be able to do a play without the audience demanding his expert hoofing. Today Opera Singer Rosa Ponselle is in Hollywood reducing in the hope of getting into the movies, and Joan Crawford is working indefatigably with her voice trying to get into opera.

Mores, 1938.

A girl wearing a hat with a long feather waiting for a bus at Scott street and Lake Shore drive said to a friend who came up to the bus stop, that she was afraid she was going to be late for work.

"Why didn't you take that last bus?" asked the friend.

"O, I couldn't, it was too low," was the answer. "I have to wait for a higher bus because of my feather."

Turkey Notes.

The phenomenon called a turkey note came to attention yesterday with the news that a Davenport bridge hostess — name Hortense Finch—gave turkey notes instead of prizes. Perhaps it's an old Davenport custom. . . . A turkey note is a poem beginning Turkey red, turkey blue . . . ending, "If I fall in the lake so will you" or in similar nonsense. The note is rolled in colored paper about six inches long, tied with colorful ribbon or yarn, and the ends frayed with the scissors to resemble the frilled paper put on fowl legs and lamb chops. The turkey note writer then hangs it on the door of his best girl, rings the bell and runs.

Bachelors and Benedicts Will Dance Tonight

BY JUDITH CASS.

THANKSGIVING eve means the Bachelors and Benedicts' ball to the 500 who about midnight will assemble in the grand ballroom of the Palmer house. The nine young women who will receive will make an effort to reach there shortly after the time stated on the invitations, eleven o'clock, but no one else will try to be on time.

Hundreds won't get there until after the receiving line breaks up, which usually is about a quarter past twelve. From then until the two orchestras pack up their instruments about four thirty there will be almost continuous dancing. And if tonight's party is like last year's, it will be nearly 6 o'clock tomorrow morning before the last guest departs.

Around one thirty supper service will be started. For a number of years the favorite menu at balls consisted of scrambled eggs and sausage, but last year the Bs and Bs substituted chicken patties for this breakfast-y combination, and this year chicken a la king is to be the entrée. Champagne will be the favorite beverage, without a doubt, but the bar will be supplied with other liquids, hard and soft, for those who do not care for "bubbly." After three milk is a popular drink with both sexes no matter what has been imbibed earlier.

Two on Committee Will Miss Party.

There are eleven married men on the committee, but only nine of them will be present, which accounts for the length of the receiving line. George A. Ranney Jr. and his bride of last summer, the former Nancy Ryerson, did not come from New Haven for the party, and William B. Cudahy and his wife, formerly Miss Honore White, have gone to New York. They are celebrating their third wedding anniversary today.

Young Mr. Ranney has only tomorrow off from his Yale law school studies or he and his wife would have come to Chicago for the ball and to spend Thanksgiving with their families.

As the wife of the chairman of the party, Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin II. will head the receiving line. She and the other hostesses—Mrs. George A. Poole Jr., Mrs. John Jay Borland II., Mrs. A. Watson Armour III., Mrs. Hugh McBirney Johnston, Mrs. Gaylord Donnelley and her sister, Mrs. Wyndham Hasler, Mrs. Potter Palmer III., and Mrs. James O. Heyworth—will carry old fashioned bouquets of gardenias tied with the Bs and Bs colors, burgundy and gold.

The Heyworths came from their home in Detroit for the party. They are staying with Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Koch in Lake Forest. Donald R. McLennan Jr. will be the Heyworths' dinner host tonight. He is taking his party to dinner at the Blackstone hotel and then to see "I'd Rather Be Right" before going to the ball.

The McLaughlins and the Haslers will attend a dinner the John M. Simpsons are giving. Mr. Simpson was chairman of last year's ball, and retired from the committee this year. The Borlands are giving a small dinner party themselves, at which one of the guests will be her cousin, Miss Mary Gardner, a debutante of last year, who will be attending her first Bs and Bs.

Juveniles Turn in Real Job in 'Listen, Darling'

"LISTEN, DARLING."
Produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.
Directed by Edwin L. Marin.
From story by Katharine Brush.
Presented at the Garrick theater.
THE CAST.

"Buzz" Mitchell	Freddie Bartholomew
"Pinkie" Wingate	Judy Garland
Dotty Wingate	Mary Astor
Richard Thurlow	Walter Pidgeon
J. J. Slattery	Alan Hale
Billie Wingate	Scotty Beckett
Abercrombie	Barnett Parker
Mr. Drubbs	Gene Lockhart
Uncle Joe	Charley Grapewin

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Katharine Brush has written a gayly understanding story about two kids who set out to keep the girl's widowed mother from marrying a man they don't like.

The picture constructed from that story is one that adolescents will love, and adults like—much of the time. It abounds in dialog, music, and complications of a naive brand that should hugely tickle contemporaries of the leading juvenile characters, Judy Garland, Freddie Bartholomew, and Scotty Beckett. It is blessed by excellent acting on the part of these and the older players, and the director knew what to do and when to do it.

"Pinkie" and her pal, "Buzz," are determined to be monkey wrenches in the machinery of Mrs. Wingate's marital intentions, and they allow nothing to interfere with this determination. . . . When at last it becomes necessary to lock mamma in a trailer and speed her away from danger, why, presto, such is done.

See the film for developments. You'll be glad to know that Walter Pidgeon is the pot of gold at the end of Mary Astor's rainbow.

That grand little trouper, Judy Garland, grows more endearing each time you see her. What a daughter for a mother to have! Young Freddie Bartholomew, increased in years and stature, does neat work, and that little Scotty Beckett is a darb!

[Best liked song, Judy's old one, "Zing Went the Strings of My Heart."]

"MYSTERIOUS MR. MOTO."
Produced by 20th Century-Fox.
Directed by Norman Foster.
Presented at the Garrick theater.
THE CAST.

Mr. Moto	Peter Lorre
Ann Richman	Mary Maguire
Anton Darvak	Henry Wilcoxon
David Scott-Frensham	Erik Rhodes
Ernst Litmar	Harold Huber
Paul Brissac	Leon Ames
George Higgins	Forrester Harvey
Gottfried Brujo	Fredrik Vogeding
Sir Charles Murchison	Lester Matthews
Sniffy	John Rogers
Lotus Liu	Karen Sorrell
Nola	Mitchell Lewis

The "mysterious Mr. Moto" is neither as mysterious nor interesting as he has been in other pictures of the "Mr. Moto" series. Nor does his current vehicle measure up to those that have gone before.

Playing a lone hand, the Japanese secret service sleuth rounds up a gang of assassins, with practically everybody else on the hunt—including Scotland Yard operatives—playing dumb. [Able supporting cast, with little to set their teeth in as to rôles.]

There are times when Peter Lorre, who can be so smooth and sinister on occasion, turns out a positively amateurish performance. As the "mysterious Mr. Moto" this is what happens.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

The Reviewing Stand.

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 22.—On Dec. 10 the Tower road estate of John Barrymore will be auctioned off to the highest bidder, and the inventory of the magnificent place reveals better than anything else the difference between the movie star of today and the movie star of ten years ago.

The Barrymore estate breathes of that lush period when actors vied with one another in expressions of prosperity. . . . It was an era of extravagance. . . . In the music room is a chandelier from the palace of an Austrian archduke. . . . On the lawn is a sun-and-moon dial imported from England for $15,000.

There are two main residences, a guest house, two garages, two garden houses, an aviary, a bowling green, a swimming pool encircled by a water spray. . . . The bar is an old English tavern with pieces brought down from Alaska saloons. . . . All in all, it represents an outlay of some $500,000.

Today Barrymore wants to get rid of it, because styles in living and thinking have changed out here. . . . The trend now is to comfortable homes out in the valley, where actors can raise oranges or walnuts or even horses on the side, and are not above marketing them for a profit.

The movie stars have learned something about earning a dollar and saving half of it against a rainy day. . . . The era that witnessed the architectural splurge of such homes as Pickfair, the Buster Keaton mansion, the Fatty Arbuckle mansion and the Barrymore Goliath has ended. . . . The auction sale on Dec. 10 will mark finis to the record.

I think that the income tax did more to "smarten" actors and acquaint them with the value of a dollar than anything else. . . . When Uncle Sam put the bite on their salaries the movie stars learned something about division and subtraction, and learned the vast difference between gross wages and net income. . . . Your old time star, who didn't have to pay income taxes, generally wound up broke. . . . Your modern star, despite income tax assessments, has money in the bank.

Probably one of the best examples of business sense is Rudy Vallee, who opened an engagement at the Coconut Grove last night. . . . Vallee has been one of the big money makers of show business for the last ten years, and he lives modestly. . . . No exhibitionism for this level headed Maine product; he has a lovely home in Maine and that has been his only indulgence.

Vallee has as sane a viewpoint of show business as any one I can call to mind. . . . He has played more "repeat" dates than any other performer, simply because theater and hotel managers know that he'll cooperate with them completely. . . . Bob Christenberry, at the Hotel Astor, says that of them all Vallee is the canniest business man and the easiest to work with, and Christenberry has employed most of them.

From Vine street to La Brea avenue, Hollywood boulevard is now arrayed in Christmas trees, for "Santa Claus Lane" will be opened formally next Friday with the Lane sisters, Joe E. Brown, Charlie McCarthy, Joan Parker and Dorothy Lamour presiding at the inaugural ceremonies.

It's a pretty sight, this "Santa Claus Lane," particularly at night when the trees are lighted and you have a panorama of tinted electric bulbs winking at you.

This poor old world needs more of this sort of make-believe, could use more of the carnival spirit. . . . Trouble with us all is that we are too practical. . . . Hollywood's "Santa Claus Lane" is a step in the right direction. . . . It helps us to forget that two plus two makes four; helps us to hope that maybe two and two makes five, or even six.

In just a little while Beverly Hills and Bel-Air and the Wilshire districts will enter into the Christmas spirit. . . . On each lawn will appear lighted Christmas trees, and the distant hillsides will be alive with red and blue lights. . . . Strings of bulbs will be attached to bushes and trees, and huge Christmas trees will decorate Wilshire boulevard for miles.

Perhaps other sections of the country do this, too, but the only other place I've ever seen it done, on a much smaller scale, is in the Gramercy park area of downtown New York. . . . Every section of the country should do it, because it is a marvelous tonic. . . . It revives your spirits. . . . It makes you feel glad that you're alive. . . . Anything that accomplishes that is fairly important.

Smart Audience Attends Lecture by Abbe Dimnet

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

"What the Map of Europe Says" is not as discouraging as most of the lecturers who have been heard in Chicago this season would have us believe, according to Abbé Ernest Dimnet. He talked yesterday for the benefit of Orphans of the Storm. He feels that the European democracies will stiffen in their attitude toward the dictators and he hopes that this democracy will do the same toward Japan.

He does not consider us a real democracy, however. "America is a democracy every four years for a few minutes when the presidential vote is cast," he stated.

It was a decidedly smart audience that assembled at noon in the ballroom of the Drake hotel to have luncheon and to hear the distinguished French churchman and philosopher talk. Rather, that was supposed to assemble at noon, but which did not settle down to the business of eating until nearly 1 o'clock. Therefore the affair was not concluded at 2 o'clock, as the sponsors had hoped. Which was too bad for those who had to leave before the speaker had finished in order to reach the symphony concert near the starting time.

The penetrating but kindly wit and the scholarly knowledge of world affairs that characterize the writings and lectures of the abbé are well known to Chicago audiences, for he has been coming here annually for many years. His talk was as delightful and interesting an "hour's history lesson," as one woman called it, as lecturegoers have had in some time. There were many who disagreed with what he said, no doubt, but that is what the abbé urged his listeners to do. "Say no, disagree with what you hear, question a lecturer, ask him what he means and if he is sure of his facts" he reiterated.

Chauncey McCormick introduced the speaker in the abbé's native tongue, although the abbé spoke in English. Mrs. Robert R. McCormick, co-chairman with Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin of the committee that planned the benefit, had the Frenchman at her right at luncheon and on his right was Miss Gertrude Lawrence. Mr. McCormick sat on her right, probably not knowing that the guest of honor had requested that an especially attractive man be put on the other side of the actress. The abbé explained to Miss Mildred Fitz-Hugh, who arranged the table, "It is too distracting to have a charming lady to myself just before giving a lecture."

Among others at the speaker's table were French Consul General and Mme. Rene Weiller, Mr. and Mrs. Max Epstein, who are the abbé's hosts during his Chicago visit; Robert Hall McCormick, Durand Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel M. Rinaker, Mrs. Howard Linn, and Mr. and Mrs. Lithgow Mitchell. The yellow mums that decorated the table came from the Owen Joneses' green house.

Some of the many who were there were Mrs. Frank Hibbard, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mrs. Byron S. Harvey, Mrs. I. Newton Perry, Mrs. John Kellogg, Mrs. J. Andrews King, Mrs. Vaughan Spalding, Mrs. John Root, Mrs. Stanley Morrill, Mrs. Howard Emig, and Miss Gillian Hansard.

Still others were Mrs. Welch Dickinson, Miss Harriet Stuart, Mrs. Rudolph Ganz, Mrs. Norval Pierce, Mrs. Leo Nicholson, Mrs. Stillson Hart and her daughters, Mrs. Harold B. Smith and Mrs. Donald Bateman; Mrs. Eugene McDonald, Mrs. Arthur A. Small, Mrs. Ward Farnsworth, Mrs. Albert D. Williams, Mrs. Lewis Hardin, and Mrs. William H. Hubbard.

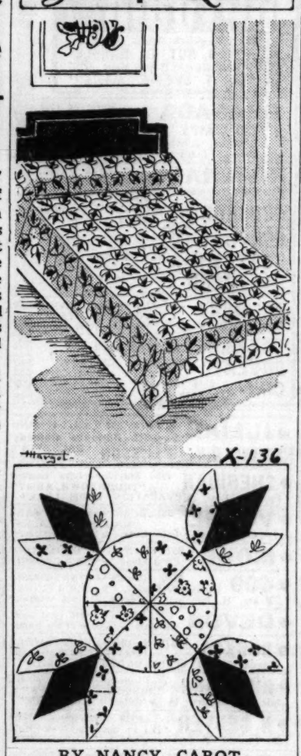
Today's Quilt



X-136

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Painted Snowball" is one of the delights of the quiltmakers, since it allows the utilization of the various scraps in the quilt bag. Plain colors are used for the center of the flower, and a variety of prints for the center and outside leaves. One does not have to have all blocks alike, as long as they are arranged in a harmonious combination.

For the applique quilt pattern, "Painted Snowball," No. X-136, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

The Housewife

The wrapping of gifts has become almost an art these days. It's not enough to stick them in white tissue paper and tie them in baby ribbon. That's passé.

No, you choose your decorative paper for the occasion. For the friend who is going away there's a stunning beige paper decorated with red capped porters carrying mountains of luggage, and over their heads are the words: North? South? East? West?

For that birthday present there is a paper with little pink flowers scattered over it and Happy Birthday in gold printed on it. And for the gift to the new baby there is still another design with a baby in a white bassinet swinging from the branches of a fantastic tree.

Other papers are gay with printed patterns of ropes of colored fruits, with allover patterns of flowers and of leaves, and with Scandinavian figures.

Lounging Robes Provide a Real Fashion Thrill

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Just once in a season comes a real thrill—finding an exciting new house robe! We've found some that rate everything—color, new idea, glamor, and a cozy warmth. All at a price that will take your breath away. These robes are ready for lounging around the fireside, make good breakfast companions, and can be used for Sunday or week-end lounging in town or country. They are feminine, flattering, and made to be cuddly, cozy and warm.

The price is around seventeen dollars, and that makes them the find of the season. The material is fleecy, soft and utterly irresistible; a tricky material that looks exactly like a fuzzy little lamb. The white beauty is devastatingly effective, looks like the combined glamor of the movie stars. Two other shades, cloud blue and bonbon pink, are also contenders for shopping favor.

Sleeves are wide, long and loose; there's a good wrapover allowance in front; a huge pocket on the hip and the neckline can be worn open or closed for additional warmth or comfort. Inside is a gleaming satin lining to harmonize.

Not since the discovery of the padded "tea cozy" robes, the quilted swanky things of prints, have there been such irresistible heating units tagged with such a low price.

These can be used for boudoir or general lounging wear, will go over pajamas as well as your most luxurious satin nightgown, and give you an air of cherished luxury to make you feel like ten million dollars.

Fashion photograph . . . a dinner dress combining two contrasting colors and fabrics uses a slinky tobacco brown velvet skirt and a short sleeved satin blouse. Around the square cut neckline and the very short sleeves is a narrow braid design of the same thread as the all-over design of the blouse. A third color can be introduced with a fitted long sleeved wool jacket [not illustrated] to complete an evening ensemble.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Here are some excellent sets of bath trimmings that you can mark down now as possibilities when you begin to shop for your fastidious friends:

The first is a bottle of cologne, very blithe as to fragrance, boxed with a large container of fine afterbath powder in the same scent. The fragrance is an unusual one, cool and sweet and clinging.

The powder container is an unusually handsome one, done in white and copper colors, topped off with a large pearl knob.

The cologne bottle is in a simple, restrained design. Boxed together they make a most acceptable gift and the whole package comes definitly under the head of beauty bargains. The cost is less than three dollars for the two.

Then, a smaller set, and even less expensive: This is a bottle of pine bath oil, boxed with a bottle of the cologne described above. All the pine addicts tell us this is an excellent version of that always popular scent. It does all the softening tricks you expect in a good bath oil and has the very special fresh charm of the pine fragrance as well.

This same cologne, in another package, comes singly, with an atomizer. Women who really love cologne and who use it to the best effect—which is generously—will love owning the atomizer with which to spray it on generously but without waste.

A fourth gift box is of three cakes of very bland cold cream soap, each one attractively wrapped and sealed. Women who love nice soaps will love these and the cost of the gift to the giver will be less than one dollar!

A Door Closed Softly

SYNOPSIS.

David Beddoes, young American, and his cousin, Alison Young, going to a party at Lady Wibbe's, stumble by mistake into the house next door. While they are talking to the spinsterish woman who receives them they hear a woman scream and a body fall. The spinster explains it is a parrot. Young Penelope Wibbe says their strange neighbors have no parrot. But they acquire one next day. David learns his former love, Betsy Greentree, lives in the mysterious house. Betsy's father died after losing his money. While traveling in Europe with her aunt, Fanny Rush, Betsy met and married an Englishman, Geoffrey Scarpath. David sends a letter to Betsy which is unanswered. He confronts Scarpath who explains that Betsy is suffering from a chronic nervous condition and can have no visitors, that she is being cared for by his sister Evie. David gains a secret interview with Betsy and learns she is miserably unhappy. When the specialist, Dr Broderick, insists on her taking the medicine which always makes her feel worse, Betsy grows desperate. Alison's friend, Dr. Colin Ladbroke, leaving her flat one night, finds Betsy unconscious on the threshold. Revived she explains Penelope helped her escape. Under their care Betsy rapidly improves. Colin learns Dr. Broderick is a drug addict. Fanny Rush arrives and stays with Geoffrey, whom she admires. When Geoffrey learns she intends to disinherit Betsy he kills her. Broderick has the body cremated. Under pretext that Fanny is dying and calling for her, Geoffrey gets Betsy to go off with him. Drugged and unconscious she is taken home and from there by ambulance to a private nursing home, with Evie as nurse. Penelope Wibbe sees them leaving. David, Colin, and Alison trace the ambulance to the home. They see Evie in an upper back room. Late that night they attempt to rescue Betsy.

INSTALMENT LVII.

A BATTLE IN THE DARK.

Up rose the ladder, for a second tottering precariously. Under steadying hands it came to rest with its summit some eighteen inches beneath a window ledge. Only a slight grating sound. The base seemed fairly firm, with David and Bream to hold it. Instantly the position was assured Colin mounted the rungs.

A few squeaks marked his ascent. To his ears they made a raucous clamor, urging the greater dispatch. When his head just topped the sill he dodged sideways, and keeping behind a fluttering curtain peered past into the lighted space.

He stiffened, holding his breath. Unseen, he was staring almost straight into the full, startled eyes of a man seated not six feet away—Guthrie Broderick, apparently just roused from a doze.

The figure was directly under the cone of light. Colin saw clearly the drab, slightly disordered hair, every dry pucker of the strangely devitalized skin. His eyes remained suspiciously on the window, but still he did not stir—only listened. Wearing his overcoat, the astrakhan collar drawn high. Tucked round his knees a mass of soft brown fur—Elizabeth's mink! No wonder, with this cutting winter gale sweeping in on him . . . yet even so the casement cloth brushing Colin's nostrils retained a faint, sickly scent. God, why must he sit there blocking the view?

Now the gaze, withdrawing, rested on a heavy volume sprawled on the floor. Tension relaxed. No doubt Broderick was telling himself it was the fall of this book he had heard. Picking up his property and methodically marking the place, he seemed about to settle down, but no, he had begun sending little furtive glances toward the medical case set on the table. Twice his hand reached out to finger some invisible object. Each time he drew it back, putting temptation aside.

A losing battle! Face muscles twitched, all the gallant stiffening parade on the lecture platform was crumbled, leaving behind a moral wreckage loathsome to behold. In the absence of known watchers the man soon to be made a peer of the realm revealed himself as what he had become—a sodden drug addict, weakly aware of his defeat.

He got up, letting the mink wrappings slump down. Two steps, and tongue sliding along bagged lips he was bending over the table, so that what he had screened lay open to survey.

Colin looked—and prepared though he was felt his soul retch with nausea.

Broderick, utterly absorbed, had his forearm bared and the needle poised above a peppering of recent punctures. As the instrument jabbed deep into the flesh Colin braced himself to spring into the room—and heard the ladder creak under its second weight. David had begun climbing. On the instant tranquillity was shattered.

Swift as jagged lightning several things occurred. The consultant whipped round, glared at the intruder with a face of terror, and plunged right to beat on a door. "Scarpath!" he shouted—and in two seconds had come a total black-out. Colin, alighting, was met by a dim shape, at bay, and even as he saw something swish a pale arc in the gloom felt his jaw gashed to the bone. A surgeon's knife, snatched in transit to the light button! No weapon more deadly.

His feet were entangled in the fur coat. He could sense rather than see the wicked blade aiming for his jugular vein, but Broderick also was hampered by sudden darkness and the garment on the floor. Down the pair of them came, locked in a struggling embrace.

Other events were happening. David, looming above the sill, was lit by a ribbon of brightness as the door on the right was flung wide and Scarpath, like a hurricane, strode to the scene, in his grasp a revolver.

David, about to enter, found the ladder seized from above and hurled savagely outward. Only his weight steadied it, and despite this he had a moment's dizzy balancing between sky and earth while two feet aloft the revolver muzzle pointed full in his face.

It recalled Scarpath to his senses. He dashed to the open door and slammed it, thus giving David time to land inside.

Colin seemed, by the sounds, fully occupied with his colleague. Where was the other? At his first move David sent a table crashing and stumbled amidst rolling objects. Now he blundered on the bed, his hand grazing flesh of such death-like chill that only one horrible conclusion seemed tenable. Instantly a red flame spat. With it came a deafening explosion and hot pain searing his shoulder.

The flash had shown him Scarpath, midway the room. While echoes still volleyed he made a battering ram of his head and with a rush drove his assailant to the floor. Loud hammering on panels, the bursting inward of an unlocked door from behind were vague incidents, hardly registered. New light admitted, though, and the man lashing under his weight cursing viciously. David could see him now—livid, raining blows, maneuvering for another shot. That revolver hand must be made powerless.

David got his own right hand grip on Scarpath's throat. His left remained fastened to the struggling wrist. Could he keep it there? He must—and at the same time choke, choke hard. He thought he was gaining ground. The crimson features were purpling, the pale eyes beginning to protrude, when suddenly, from above, he heard a whimpering snarl, like an animal's. An avalanche crushed down on him, and sharp nails dug into his eyes.

The sister? He had left her wholly out of his reckoning—and here she was, blinding him, teeth tearing at his hand, the full force of her amazingly strong person interposed between him and accomplishment! He let go his hold to throw off the human wildcat. She clung on, while Scarpath regained footing and made a lunge. Still enveloped, David found himself staring straight into a ring of hot metal.

Once more the spurt of fire and the thunderous report.

Alison heard it on her mad rush around the house. The first shot had brought her tumbling out of the car—and now another. While it yet rang in her ears another sound reached her—a bumping, slithering noise, as of a body hurtling from a height and being intercepted as it fell. It ended in a thud. Slowly, dreading what awaited her, she put her head around the angle of the wall—and gaped, disbelieving her senses.

The ladder—yes, soaring spectrally up to a faint rectangle of light far above, but of the fallen body not a sign!

What was this by her foot, smoking? Hot when she touched it. A revolver! Dropped—or thrown out. She picked it up carefully—and all at once, up above her, the subdued glow of the window blazed to hard brilliance. Light streamed forth. The bedroom had sprung to life. Cries sounded, together with violent banging on a door.

Christmas to Child Should Be "Season"

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"What's news?" I asked an older relative of mine the other evening.

"I went to dinner at Alice's last Saturday," she replied. She loves going to Alice's house. It's her "pet" place. The food's always delicious, the children are entertaining, and they treat her as one of them.

"The only thing is that Alice is so sudden with her invitations," she went on. "I was looking forward to a dull week-end and feeling pretty glum about it, when the 'phone rang and they announced that they'd be over to get me in an hour.

"Of course, I had a lovely evening, but I wish I'd known a few days ahead. Then I would have had time to look forward to it. As it was, I scrambled into my clothes, and before I knew it the evening was over. I like to anticipate pleasant things. It spreads them out and you get a lot more out of them."

Anticipation does extend delight. And I don't know of anything it adds more to than Christmas. It would be a pity to make Christmas just Christmas day, here and gone!

Christmas is a season, a season that should hold more than the delight of the day for children. It should be spread out in quite tangible ways. And when this happens parents will realize what opportunities arise for inner advantages to the children. Mothers who "point up" the weeks that precede Christmas with definite doings, not only add to their children's enjoyment, not only provide them with a joyous, interesting purpose in all they do, but [without the children's realizing it] benefit them.

These weeks before Christmas can be a sort of "linked sweetness long drawn out."

"How?" you may ask, if you've not done this before. O, in many ways.

Let your children start saving right now, from their allowances. Or give them a sum of money—it can be very small—so they can begin to plan and shop for the Christmas gifts they make to others.

Let them create their own Christmas cards.

Let them help with the fruit cake or other Christmas cooking.

These are some of the ways in which you can keep your children happily busy for the Christmas season. All of these subjects will be discussed in detail in this column during the next few weeks.

We have leaflets on "Gifts Children Can Make" and "Homemade Christmas cards." Each one requires a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, the Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

also appearing at their first Bs and Bs, will go to a dinner Miss Kathrine McNulty is giving before the ball. Lefens Porter's bride of last month, the former Marjorie Walsh, will go on to her first Bs and Bs from a dinner William A. Cremin is giving.

Others going to their first ball, Mr. and Mrs. George Shields III. of Glencoe, who moved here a few years ago, will dine with the junior F. Strother Carys. Miss Dorothy Dewes, the Gilbert H. Robinsons, the Edmond M. Sullivans, and the junior L. Edward Harts are others giving dinner parties. The John I. Shaws are giving a dinner in the Ambassador East hotel.

In addition to Mr. Fortune, the unmarried members of the committee are Arthur M. Wood, Garfield King, Dustin Grannis, and Howard F. Gillette Jr. Mr. Grannis will not be at the ball, for he was injured in an automobile accident last Sunday and will be in the Holy Family hospital in La Porte, Ind., until next Sunday. His companion, Miss Bette Rich, who was hurt more seriously, is in the same hospital, but it is hoped that in about a fortnight she can be moved to the Passavant hospital in Chicago. Her mother, Mrs. R. Joseph Rich, and her brother, Joseph E. Rich, and his wife have gone to La Porte to be with Miss Rich.

The John W. Valentines are arriving today from New York for the ball and to have Thanksgiving with his parents, the Joseph W. Valentines.

Marie Louise Gardner Will Be Bride Today.

The Thanksgiving celebration will come to an anti-climax to the Henry A. Gardner family. The marriage today of their elder daughter, Miss Marie Louise Gardner, to Frederick Gleim Jr. will be the high spot of their holiday festivities. The ceremony is to take place at 5 o'clock in the Gardner home in Winnetka, the Rev. Samuel Harkness officiating. Only the families will witness the ceremony, but a larger reception will follow.

Miss Gardner's only attendant will be her sister, Evelyn Gardner, who is at home from Dobbs Ferry. Henry A. Gardner Jr. will be best man for Mr. Gleim, whose mother, Mrs. Frederick Gleim, and sister, Mrs. James Leithead, have come from Washington, D. C., for the wedding. Gifford Gardner has returned from Yale.

Mr. Gleim and his bride will live in the south this winter.

Delafield-Underwood Wedding in East.

Announcement is made of the marriage yesterday in Bronxville, N. Y., of Mrs. Hope Northrup Underwood of Highland Park to Herbert Delafield. The wedding took place at the home of the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Henry D. Chapin, with only the members of his family and the bride's son, John, present.

Mr. Delafield and his bride will make their home at 3204 Sheridan road. They are returning to Chicago shortly to place young John in school and will take a wedding trip after the first of the year.

Symphonietta Spans Century in 1st Concert

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The eighteenth and the twentieth centuries rubbed shoulders last night when the Saidenberg symphonietta —seventeen men and a girl—confined the first program of its '38-'39 Goodman theater season to the works of Bach, Telemann, Hindemith, and Roussel.

With Daniel Saidenberg directing his unique string ensemble and with Philip Manuel and Gavin Williamson providing seldom heard harpsichord parts, the third Brandenburg concerto of Bach began the evening auspiciously with its clean vigor and its huge creative drive.

Georg Philipp Telemann beat Strauss by a century and a half to the idea of clothing the adventures of La Mancha's knight in music. His "Don Quixote" suite, which stood second on last night's program, boasts a gentleness and a naïvete which partly compensate for its lack of sonority and forthright power. Rosinante, the windmills, and Sancho Panza all find their place in this quaint bit of early descriptive music.

More Bach—the C minor concerto for two harpsichords—led to the intermission and to the modern group. Five pieces for string orchestra by Hindemith, and the same composer's Funeral music for solo viola and string orchestra, strengthened our belief in the originality and the inventiveness of the composer. The Funeral music especially displayed a remarkable economy of device—as if its creator were contemptuous of everything which did not immediately further his austere musical ends. The music is spare, uncompromising, immensely expressive. The solo viola part was the charge of Milton Preves.

A Roussel sinfonietta for string orchestra brought the program to a close on a much more lyrical note. The second movement, in fact, shocks one into believing for a moment that the theme is going to be languorous and long breathed. However, it turns out quite differently.

In the afternoon the Chicago Symphony orchestra's Tuesday subscribers heard an unassuming little program full of songlike melodies and dainty tonal effects. Frederick Stock had chosen music calculated to charm and to relax an audience rather than to whip it into a frenzy.

A profound note, it is true, was struck at the very beginning when Mr. Stock's new transcription of the Bach chorale prelude, "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God," received its second hearing. Strauss' shimmering "On the Shores of Sorrento" came next. Tschaikowsky's Second symphony, revived earlier in the season after a ten year silence, followed the Strauss.

Hostess Gown a Good Gift

WOMAN'S AND MISS' HOSTESS GOWN.

If you want to make a "luxury" gift for your mother, sister, or favorite girl friend, you couldn't find anything more suitable than this hostess or house coat. You can make it for yourself, of course, too! Figured or plain silks, especially the heavy slipper satins and brocades, make up exceptionally well. However, the style lends itself beautifully to woolens and cottons, too. The basque influence is apparent in every line. The bodice is tightly fitted, the sleeves puffed, and skirt voluminous below a diminutive waistline. Buttons match all the way down the front, from the tailored collarline almost to the floor.

The same pattern makes up well in a street length dress, as one of the smaller sketches shows you.

In spite of the fact that this hostess coat looks like a large sewing order, it's really very simple, and the pattern is diagrammed to make every step as simple as A-B-C.

Style No. 3371 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 30, 32, 34, 36, and 38 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 5¼ yards of 39 inch material.

As declarer, what are your plays at the second and third tricks?

Question 35: Both sides vulnerable. You deal and hold:

What call do you make?

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 heart	Pass	2 spades	Pass
3 spades	Pass	4 no trump	Pass
5 no trump	Pass	6 hearts	Pass
6 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

This hand formed the basis of Question 34, which is answered in detail below. North opens the diamond queen. It must be immediately apparent to declarer [West] that his contract depends only on holding his trump loss to one trick. If the trumps are well split, any method of play will be safe. But if by chance North holds four trumps, including the queen and ten, ordinary methods of play will be ineffectual. The safety play against this possibility involves laying down the spade ace, then, if both opponents follow, leading a low spade, and if North follows with a low card, to play dummy's nine spot. Note that this guards against every division of trumps except a 5-0 split. As the cards are placed, dummy's nine holds the trick, and the king then captures one of North's honors, leaving only one loser.

Suppose it were South who held the four spades to the queen-ten. In that case, North would show out on declarer's second trump lead. Dummy, of course then would play the king and would lead the nine spot through South, who could make one trick only with his queen-ten because West's jack still would be intact. I advise readers to lay out the missing Q 10 7 3 2 of spades in all possible combinations between the North and South hands and note for themselves that the recommended play cannot lose [except the unimportant overtrick] and does gain if North holds both honor cards doubly guarded.

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's column.

ANSWER TO LAST WEDNESDAY'S QUESTIONS.

Q. No. 34: The only perceptible danger in this hand is that you may lose two trump tricks. Hence, correct planning involves a safety play in trumps. At the second trick you should lay down a spade ace; at the third trick you should lead a low spade and, if North follows suit, should play dummy's nine spot [unless, of course, North plays the ten or queen]. For full explanation of this safety play see today's hand above. [No demerits for improper play, but take 25 points credit for playing as prescribed.]

Q. No. 35: You should bid one diamond. When choosing between a six and five card suit, the longer should be bid first, regardless of the rank of suits. By starting with one diamond, then bidding and rebidding spades, partner is clearly advised that you have six diamonds and five spades. [Eighteen points demerit for one spade; 30 points demerit for any other bid, including an opening two bid.]

Today is quite like any other day to families who have been invited out for Thanksgiving dinner, but in the families where the dinners will be given, today is that important DAY BEFORE THANKSGIVING DINNER.

In such homes there isn't much time to spend on today's meals. But people still get hungry on the day before Thanksgiving, so the only humane thing to do is to feed them. A hurry-up dinner [but a good one] is the solution.

Here's such a dinner:

SHORT CUT DINNER
Scalloped Potatoes with Ham Slices
Canned Corn in Cream
Poppyseed Rolls [Bakery]
Mincemeat Turnovers [Home Made or Purchased] with Cheese
Coffee

Scalloped Potatoes with Ham.
[Serves four.]
4 potatoes, sliced thinly
2 thin slices ham
2 cups milk, heated to scalding
Flour, butter, salt, pepper

Slice two of the potatoes into a greased casserole. Sprinkle with flour, salt and pepper, and dot with butter. Top with a slice of the ham. Slice in the other two potatoes and repeat the process, having the second ham slice on top. Pour in the hot milk, cover, and bake at 350 degrees for half an hour. Uncover and continue to bake about 10 minutes longer, or until potatoes are tender. If the milk boils over, uncover the casserole immediately.

ORANGE AND TOMATO SALAD.

Peel a good sized orange and remove the membrane. Slice crosswise. Peel two medium tomatoes and slice crosswise. Arrange circular slices of orange and tomato on lettuce or other greens, overlapping each other. Top with French dressing and sprinkle with minced parsley.

MINCEMEAT TURNOVERS.
[Serves Four.]

Make plain pie pastry [1½ cups flour] and divide it into four pieces. Roll each piece into a circle, or cut it into a square after rolling. On one side of each round or square place a fourth cup of prepared mincemeat [use canned or package mincemeat, adding moisture to the latter, if needed, observe instructions given on the package], and turn the other half of the pastry over the filling. Press edges together firmly with the tines of a fork, and prick the top of each turnover. Put on a baking sheet and bake in a hot oven, about 425 degrees, long enough to bake and brown the pastry, about 15 minutes. The turnovers may be baking while the first part of the meal is served, if they are liked hot. Serve a slice of American cheese with each.

Polish Harvest Festival to Be Feature of Bazar

The annual bazar of the Neighborhood Guild of the Northwestern University settlement will open at 6 o'clock Friday evening at 1400 Augusta boulevard. The bazar will be accompanied this year by a colorful presentation of a Polish harvest festival and wedding. Dinner will be served at 6 and 7 o'clock and will feature Polish and American dishes. The festival will be staged at 6:30 and 8:30 o'clock. Proceeds will go to the House in the Wood, the guild's settlement camp.

The Stage

A holiday opening will take place at the Selwyn theater Monday, Dec. 26, in the form of "Shadow and Substance," one of last season's outstanding Broadway successes. The cast includes the noted English actor, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Sara Allgood, and Julie Hayden. While Miss Allgood has been seen here with the Abbey Theater players, both Sir Cedric and Miss Hayden are new to Chicago.

Ellen Moore is replacing Ann Rutledge, beginning tonight, in the part of the historic Ann Rutledge in the Federal theater production of "Prologue to Glory," playing at the Blackstone theater.

Gertrude Lawrence has just signed a new contract to continue under the producing aegis of John Golden next season. Her former contract expired Feb. 1, leaving the future of "Susan and God" on the road in considerable jeopardy and making specific plans for Miss Lawrence's next play impossible.

Head Posture Important to Chic of a Hat

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Maybe you did get a fall hat that smartens you up both in looks and spirit. Or maybe you are going around with a miniature salad bowl, soup plate or other hybrid hat growth atop your regal coiffure and wondering why no one says: "Where did you get that stunning hat?" Yeah, when they don't mention it, we fair ones suspect the hat is none too good.

But we did not intend to talk about chapeaux, as you can't do it this year, seemingly, unless you are a real humorist. But some one said something within our hearing the other day that supplied today's little theme.

"A good walk," said this keen observer of our sex, "is better than a new hat!" You needn't stop to quibble over the fact that a bad walk is better than some of the comic supplements they're trying to sell us as millinery. Just take the word for it that a good walk IS better than a new hat. Because you could have on a stunning creation with perfect lines for your head outline and profile—but if the head goes wobbly, forward, sideward, any way but up high and on top of that column known as your throat you might just as well have put on the beach kerchief for all the glory you'll attain.

One of our better milliners repeats over and over again that she hates to sell one of her expensive numbers to some women. She won't sell them, in fact. She knows she'll get the bad taste reflection, when it is the way the woman holds her head that destroys the designer's dream. She tells you to buy a hat from the shoulders up. After buying the hat with the head held high, wear it that way, she will beg.

Anyway, you do not have to have unusual observation powers to see the truth of the above in any day's walk. You either don't notice the hat at all, or you sigh: "What a bonnet!" It's the head carriage that makes the chapeau and don't let any one influence you differently, least of all yourself.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

MAYOR REPORTS ASPHALT PAVING RECORD: 802 MI.

More than Laid in Previous 21 Years.

The department of public works in the last 5 2-3 years has laid more asphalt pavement on city streets than was laid in the twenty-one years between 1912 and 1932, Mayor Kelly said yesterday. The average yardage resurfaced has been nearly four times greater per year since 1933.

Letters giving figures to show the results of the asphalt paving program were sent to the aldermen, ward committeemen, and other city officials. Each alderman was told the amount of work done in his ward under the present administration compared with that done in other years.

802 Miles in Five Years.

Figures show that 14,109,511 square yards of the material have been laid in the last five years and eight months. From 1912, when the first city license tax was collected, to 1932 the total was 13,299,032. This is approximately 802 miles since 1933 compared with 755 miles in the previous twenty-one years.

The average yardage laid per year in the last five and two-third years is 2,489,714. In other years the average was 633,282. About 60 per cent of all the pavement in the city is now asphalt.

Employés Increase Production.

"It probably would be difficult to find a city service of this magnitude in the country which has shown such an enormous increase in benefits," the mayor said in his letter. "A major factor in the results has been the increased production of city employés. Instead of asphalt gangs spreading 80 or 90 tons of the mixture per day, the average has been increased to between 150 and 200 tons."

The paving program also has been aided by motor fuel tax funds released by the state highway department, Mayor Kelly explained, and by the WPA. The WPA does not lay asphalt. But its workers tear up the old pavement and it furnishes part of the asphalt for the new pavement.

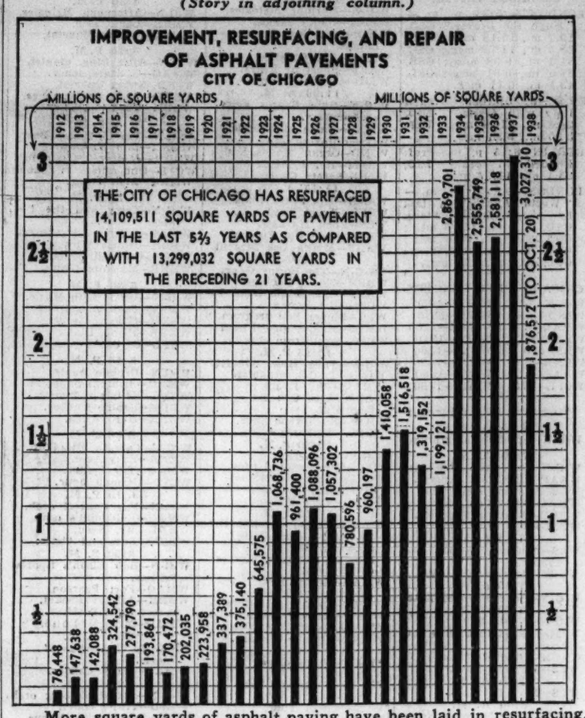
Promises Increasing Service.

"It is perfectly apparent that Chicago's asphalt pavements are in much better condition than they have been for many years," the mayor continued. "It is also obvious that the motorists who pay vehicle taxes have received much more than they ever before obtained although the amount of city license fees was reduced 20 per cent by the present administration. But the job is not finished and we aim to supply increasing service."

Between 1912 and 1932 the peak year was 1931, when 1,516,518 yards were laid. Since 1932 the peak was reached last year with a total of 3,027,310. The 1938 figure probably will be lower than the 1937 total because of a shortage of funds that delayed working during the summer.

Increase in Asphalt Paving

(Story in adjoining column.)



More square yards of asphalt paving have been laid in resurfacing, repairing, and improving Chicago streets since Mayor Kelly took office five years and eight months ago than in the previous 21 years.

CANCER CONTROL PROGRESS TOLD BY DR. HEKTOEN

Progress in the diagnosis and control of cancer during the last twenty-five years was described by Dr. Ludvig Hektoen at a public lecture last night in the auditorium of the Museum of Science and Industry in Jackson park. Dr. Hektoen reported that several states have statutes to guide their campaign against cancer and the groundwork for such legislation is prepared in other states.

A year ago congress passed the National Cancer institute act, which provides for continued study of the cause, prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of the disease. Congress appropriated $750,000 for a National Cancer institute, which is now being constructed in Bethesda, Md. States which have enacted laws for cancer control are New York, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Missouri, and Georgia.

Dr. Hektoen is director of the John McCormick Institute for Infectious Diseases and of the National Advisory Cancer council in Washington. His lecture was sponsored by the Institute of Medicine of Chicago and the Cancer Research Institute of the Chicago Women's club.

COURTNEY OPENS CITY HALL QUIZ IN FRANCHISE DELAY

Steam Heat Ordinance Is Held Up Four Years.

City officials' curiosity was aroused yesterday when they learned that State's Attorney Courtney's office had begun an investigation of a proposed franchise ordinance which has been pending in the city council for more than four years.

The Illinois Maintenance company, a subsidiary of the Commonwealth Edison company, applied for the franchise in 1934 to supply steam heat to approximately forty loop buildings. No action was taken, records show, beyond a few public hearings before a subcommittee of the council utilities committee.

Consolidated Permits Asked.

The company has sold steam for the last thirty-five years to groups of buildings in the southwest section of the loop. It operates three main generating plants. For every pipe that crosses under a city street it holds a separate permit. The proposed franchise would consolidate these permits.

Ald. Frank E. Konkowski [26th ward], whose office windows were shattered by salvos of bullets on two occasions following the posting of the police patrolmen's civil service list, is chairman of the subcommittee. He was the object of an investigation by Courtney last month and was ousted from control of the Democratic organization in his ward shortly before the election. Recently he has made several trips to Courtney's office.

Yesterday Assistant State's Attorney John Boyle was seen in the city hall in earnest conversation with William F. Harrah, chief secretary for council committees. He examined several files and took notes. Both he and Harrah declined to make any comment.

At the state's attorney's office it was admitted that the proposed franchise ordinance was the object of Boyle's trip to the city hall, but Boyle's superiors refused to go into detail. At the city hall it was reported that Boyle also visited the office of City Clerk Peter J. Brady.

Mystery was added when John F. Gilchrist, president of the I. M. C., said he had made no complaint regarding the delay.

Bill Never Was Pushed.

"We're doing business as usual," he explained. "We don't need a franchise as long as we hold the street crossing permits, and we never have pressed the matter."

Ald. James J. McDermott [14th], chairman of the utilities committee, pointed out that it was up to the subcommittee to make its recommendations before further action could be taken. He said he knew nothing of Boyle's visit.

Central heating plants are opposed by labor groups and coal merchants.

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS.
Boston, 4; New York Rangers, 2.
N. Y. Americans, 7; Montreal, 3.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 22.—(AP)—The Boston Bruins dealt the New York Rangers their first defeat in five National Hocky league games tonight before a crowd of 12,000 in the Boston Garden. The score was 4 to 2. The victory enabled the Bruins to tie the idle Chicago Blackhawks for first place.

Charlie Sands put the Bruins ahead during the nineteenth minute by combining with Bill Cowley and Ray Getliffe and those same forwards were in action when Jack Portland drove in a shot from 10 feet in the second period 15 minutes after Alex Shibicky had made the first Ranger score.

Trailing 2 to 1 during most of the final session, the Rangers kept pressing and, with four forwards in action, were trapped for two Boston goals by Roy Conacher and Gordon Pettinger within 19 seconds.

Portland drew the only Boston penalty at the fifty-eighth minute of play, and while he was off Clint Smith scored the Rangers' second goal in a five man rush that beat the final bell by 14 seconds. Lineups:

AMERICANS, 7; CANADIENS, 3

New York, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The Montreal Canadiens suffered their seventh straight defeat of the National Hocky league season before 9,000 in Madison Square Garden tonight, losing to the New York Americans, 7 to 3.

Dave Schriner tallied three times for the Americans, who went into a three way tie for third place in the league standing with the idle Toronto Maple Leafs and the New York Rangers, who lost in Boston. Tommy Anderson scored twice and Eddie Wiseman and Nels Stewart accounted for the other goals. The marksmen for the Canadiens were Jimmy Ward, Toe Blake, and George Mantha. The lineup:

10,000 Watch Opening of Ice Follies

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Elaborate obsequies for the most prolonged Indian summer of recent times were held in Chicago Stadium last night coincident with the arrival of winter, as reflected in the falling temperatures.

The wintry coming was occasioned by the première of "The Ice Follies of 1939." If the skating shown in this beautiful production is any harbinger of that long promised winter of ours there will be more than a shadow of Hans Brinker and jingle bells and such in our neighborhood ere long.

10,000 Attend Show.

Heading the show, mindful of the old Follies of the late Flo Ziegfeld, were Bess Ehrhardt and Roy Shipstad [Mr. and Mrs. Shipstad since back there in 1936]. In solos, duets, or with ensembles these two top American skaters, rivaling the talents of any foreign pair you may name, pleased a crowd of nearly 10,000 immensely.

The setting, comparable to that of any major revue, was designed by Donald S. MacLeod, manager of the Chicago Stadium technical staf. The production was directed by Edward Mahlke, Roy and Edward Shipstad, and Oscar Johnson.

Sharing the applause of the crowd with Miss Ehrhardt and Roy Shipstad were the performances of Evelyn Chandler and Bruce Mapes. Miss Chandler, well remembered for her antics at the Black Forest during the World's Fair, was given one salvo after another.

Ensemble Pleases Crowd.

The Ice Follies ensemble was one of the features of the entertainment. Their restrained precision on skates while wearing costumes in which it would have been difficult to go through ordinary slipper routines was something to make the shyest would-be skater hanker to get himself on a pair of blades.

The Ice Follies section of the cast, according to Director Mahlke, will leave after Sunday's night's final performance for Madison Square Garden, thereby continuing a 25 show tour of United States and Canadian cities through April. The troupe, headed by Miss Ehrhardt and Roy Shipstad, recently completed a movie to be released Jan. 15. The stars of same are Joan Crawford and James Stewart.

A Dash of Comedy.

The opening number, introducing the ensemble in a flower ballet, began with a solo by Leverne Busher and ended with an amusing parody by Les Hamilton. Thereafter, such stars as Harris Legg, the gifted Canadian barrel jumper; the McKellen brothers, a pair of nimble gobs; soloist Ann Haroldson, and Miss Busher, with partner Valerie Fink, held the party until the intermission number, which saw the main members of the cast do a swing number which probably was the neatest group bit of the show.

Eddie Shipstad and Oscar Johnson, two of the favorites of ice comedy in Chicago, were in their best form of recent years. Miss Ehrhardt revealed a gift for showmanship and maturity of execution which she had not quite attained during her performances with Sonja Henie a couple of years ago. It was such as to bring the entire house to its feet in praise.

Famiglietti --a Bear Who'll Face the Lions

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Gary Famiglietti, the young Italian lad from Medford, Mass., arrived as a professional player in the Bears' 24 to 6 victory over the Dodgers in Brooklyn last Sunday and solved for Coach George Halas the problem of a starting back field against the Lions in Detroit tomorrow morning.

On the strength of his showing Famiglietti will be in at the kickoff when the Bears line up before 45,000 in Briggs stadium to decide the western division championship contest between Green Bay and the Lions. And when Famiglietti plays, so do Jack Manders, Ray Bulvid, and Ray Nolting. Thus it becomes apparent that the Bears will fight fire with fire, for this quartet forms the power house backfield in Halas' unit system and power is what Detroit will rely upon to preserve its doubtful pennant chances.

Bears Follow a Tip.

Famiglietti, 210 pound son of a tailor, has been one of the most industrious players on the Bear roster. Adjusting himself to professional football and especially the Bears' complicated offensive system was rather difficult for the former Boston university star. But he labored diligently to establish himself and against Brooklyn gave one of the most impressive demonstrations of the year.

Boston fans sent the big full back to THE TRIBUNE's All-Star game squad last August after he had distinguished himself as one of the east's leading collegiate line smashers. Before the nation-wide all-star poll opened the Bears had been tipped off and had Famiglietti under contract. Western conference officials who worked some of Boston's games rated him even more devastating with a football than Indiana's Corby Davis, who returns to Chicago with the Cleveland Rams to oppose the Cardinals on Sunday.

Beats Boston College.

Until last Sunday, when he finally found himself as a professional, Famiglietti's outstanding feat was the 60 yard return of an intercepted pass in the final game of his collegiate career to beat Boston college, 13 to 6. It was the first time Boston university had defeated Boston college since their series began in 1916.

Famiglietti gives the Bears another accomplished power back. With Manders, Joe Maniaci, Sam Francis, Bert Johnson, and the hard running Nolting, he completes the outstanding array of battering rams in football. It

Dean May Get $20,000 and May Get Less

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The great Dizzy Dean, who knew the time when he could pitch as well as talk, may get $20,000 for wearing a Cub uniform next season. Then again, he might not get that much.

The $20,000 figure was put in black type yesterday when President-Owner F. K. Wrigley, in reply to a query on the point, readily admitted that he "was satisfied with what Dean did during the past season and that Dizzy probably would be tendered a 1939 contract calling for an equal amount.

Later in the day the baseball magnate began to suspect he might have become innocently involved in a bit of press agentry [Diz appears at a local theater in the near future], so decorated his earlier assertion with a statement that when he finally gets around to figuring contracts he might decide the great man isn't a $20,000 article.

It's a Nice Average.

It is highly probable that Wrigley's admission that he still placed a high value on Dean's services is loaded with dynamite. Dean was in thirteen games last season and was slapped up the clubhouse stairs by the Yankees in his one world series appearance. That works out at about $1,500 per game, some of which he was in only for a few innings.

A fellow named Bill Lee, who didn't have to rest for a week or two between starts, was in forty-four games. If $1,500 per game is a basic pitching wage, the invaluable Lee easily can figure out he is worth as much as a quartet of Deans. Clay Bryant also was in forty-four games, winning nineteen to Lee's twenty-two and Dean's seven. Rescuer Jack Russell was in forty-two games, winning only six for himself but saving any number of other decisions for faltering mates.

Dean is supposed to have received $20,000 from the Cubs last season, this being the total [$5,000 in the form of bonus] mentioned in his St. Louis Cardinal contract, which the Cubs assumed when they purchased him last April 16.

Dizzy Is Doing All Right.

Dean, who when the season closed declared positively he was going to devote the winter to an attempt to recondition his wornout arm, has been on a talking tour, not without benefit to his bank balance. He has been unveiling the Great Dean nightly before clubs in various small cities at $175 to $250 an appearance, the price being governed by the size of the community.

Tony Lazzeri, who more than a month ago announced that he had accepted Wrigley's offer of his release but was kept on the roster, now is reconsidering. The Cub owner has a plan to employ the ex-Yankee star in one of the club's minor league hookups. Lazzeri asked for details and they have been supplied by letter.

Lefty Gomez Arrested for Speeding; Pays $12.50 Fine

Stamford, Conn., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Vernon [Lefty] Gomez, star pitcher of the New York Yankees, was arrested here tonight for speeding. State police charged him with driving a car 65 miles per hour. Gomez, accompanied by his wife, was en route to Boston. He paid a $12.50 fine.

PREP GAME IS BRILLIANT SHOW FOR GOOD CAUSE

Report Weather Man Is to Co-operate.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The weather man, who has been so noble this fall, yesterday was reported to be bearing down extra special in behalf of the Mount Carmel and Fenger football boys and the 100,000 who expect to watch them play for the city prep championship in Soldiers' field next Saturday afternoon. There may be a little ornery weather between now and game time, but chances for a fine Saturday are said to be excellent.

Said weather man, of course, set a terrific precedent for himself with the setting he supplied to the Austin-Leo championship game last year. A crowd of 115,000 saw that contest, which was pretty squeezing. It is probable Mayor Kelly and Chicago's Own Christmas Benefit committee would be willing to settle for a few clouds that would hold the turnout to a mere 100,000. But that doesn't mean his honor will quit selling tickets at 100,000.

Good Selling Points.

No sports promoter ever had any better selling point than Mayor Kelly, his committee, the Chicago Public High School league, and the Catholic league have in the present instance. First of all, they have a swell sports show to present, a football game between teams composed of young bloods who know their stuff despite their tender years. And added to this, the dough goes for a great cause. Investment in tickets is a good one, even if the worst blizzard in history locks purchasers indoors Saturday.

We do not feel called upon to whoop up the charity features of the prep championship game. But the charity phase of this battle of fine high school kids for something far beyond athletic glory seems rather imposing when presented in actual, certified figures.

Helps Christmas Fund.

The total amount raised from the football game in the four years it has been a charity event is $310,072.71, which has gone into the Xmas Benefit fund which during five years has totaled, including the football receipts, $1,354,731.35.

From the fund 288,385 needy children have been provided with new and warm clothing and shoes. Each Christmas box contains a hat or cap, dress or pants, mittens, suit of underwear, two pairs of socks, a sweater, and shoe order.

Mayor Kelly's purchasing committee is composed of some of Chicago's leading merchants. Col. A. A. Sprague is treasurer of Chicago's Own Christmas Benefit and chairman of the purchasing committee. On the committee are Elmer Wieboldt, Maurice L. Rothschild, Frederick D. Corley, John T. Pirie, C. S. Maginnis, and W. J. Corbett.

The percentage of expense, according to the analysis of George Rossetter & Co., certified public accountants, has been 14.94.

Scouts Watch Game.

While thousands of poor youngsters get a sweater each year as the result of the football game, the players do not. When he first took over the game, Mayor Kelly wanted to reward the competing players with monogram sweaters as mementos of the occasion. Scholastic athletic authorities turned thumbs down on the idea. Also players are not permitted to keep the special uniforms they wear in the contest. The lads do come out of the show with something besides glory and bruises, however. Each is given a diamond studded watch fob.

The game produces other incentives for the players. It is a happy hunting ground for collegiate scouts, some of whom in the past have discovered university athletic scholarships available for boys who have distinguished themselves in the encounter.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOMEWHERE in Nebraska, Nov. 22.—Idle thoughts of an idle fellow speeding west for the Dartmouth-Stanford game at Palo Alto. . . . Assistant Burt Ingwersen will accompany Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern to Philadelphia for the Cornell-Pennsylvania game on Thanksgiving day. . . . Howard Barry will succeed the late French Lane as horse racing editor of THE TRIBUNE. . . . Iowa is prepared to make a real effort to bring back Howard Jones as head football coach. . . . If they can't lure him away from Southern California the Hawkeyes' new leader probably will be a Notre Dame man. . . . Bob Zuppke will take a whirl at the banquet circuit before heading west shortly before Christmas. . . . Ray Morrison of Vanderbilt attended the Northwestern-Notre Dame game. . . . George Stears, Purdue's most valuable player in 1930, who served as an assistant coach at his alma mater until 1934, will marry Miss Anne K. Rankaitis in Chicago Thursday morning. . . . Clint Frank, the most widely publicized back of 1937 football, is working for a Chicago advertising agency. . . . Bo McMillin once turned down an offer of $50,000 for a five year contract with the Canton, O., Bulldogs, a professional team. . . . It was in January, 1921, after he had earned all-America rating as a quarter back at Centre college. . . . He still had another year of competition. . . . In those days Bo himself was a "pore little boy," like the football players he talks about at Indiana. . . .

Five years ago Nick Katzmeyer dissuaded surgeons from amputating an infected leg. . . . He is now a tackle on the St. Mary's, Cal., eleven. . . . Some of the boys are rushing into print with pieces that Elmer Layden has arrived as a coach. . . . They're a little late. . . . Layden arrived the day he took charge of the Notre Dame squad in 1934. . . . As far as this department knows, none has questioned his talents as a coach, an athletic director, or an all around fellow at any time during his career at Notre Dame. . . . They say that Dizzy Dean will reveal the mysteries of that $185,000 arm in interviews with Bob Elson during his engagement in a loop theater. . . . Eddie Gould and Senator George Maypole report the heaviest applications since 1930 for their special train to the Southern California-Notre Dame game. . . . Coach Dutch Von Bremer of Farragut High school, Chicago, attributes the lack of injuries on his squad this season to the fact his boys drink no water during practice, in a game, or between halves. . . . The school doesn't carry a water bucket in its equipment.

MATES HONOR FULL BACK FOR BRILLIANT PLAY

Here Are Choices

FOUR Western conference football teams have named their most valuable players. The athletes now become candidates for The Tribune award which is given to the most valuable player of the entire conference. The choices follow:
Illinois—James Hodges, guard.
Purdue—Joe Mihal, tackle.
Indiana—Robert Haak, tackle.
Minnesota—Larry Buhler, full back.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Larry Buhler, hard hitting full back, is the most valuable player on Minnesota's Big Ten championship football team. His selection by his teammates makes him eligible for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S silver trophy awarded annually to the Big Ten player adjudged most valuable to his team.

Larry Buhler.

The vote, however, was the most widely distributed in several years. Three other players, George Faust, quarter back; Wilbur Moore, half back, and Francis Twedell, captain and star guard, also drew votes. Buhler's total added to more than the aggregate of the other three, however, so his selection was clear cut.

Buhler clinched the honor with his brilliant performance against Wisconsin in Madison Saturday. Larry was carried from the field early in the second half, but before he left he had turned in his greatest performance.

Larry Is Versatile.

Another factor in Buhler's favor was his versatility this year. When Harold Van Every, star half back and passer, was injured in the first game of the season, a hasty shift placed Buhler at right half.

He stayed there through the Michigan game, and his play was consistently good, although he was in a strange position.

Buhler was one of the most courageous players on a courageous team this year. Hard luck pursued him through much of the schedule. His fumble set up the Northwestern touchdown which gave the Gophers their sole conference setback this year. Injuries and other bad breaks likewise dogged him in other games, but he came back to star against Notre Dame and Wisconsin. Both Elmer Layden of the Irish and Harry Stuhldreher of the Badgers praised his play.

Backs Up the Line.

Although Buhler was one of the biggest ground gainers on the Gopher squad, he was even greater on defense. Playing defensive full back, he was largely responsible for throttling opponents' running plays. The Gophers had the best defensive record of the conference, holding their foes to 12 points, which included one touchdown by passing and one through the line.

Iowa Talks to Anderson at Holy Cross

Worcester, Mass., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Dr. Eddie Anderson, football coach at Holy Cross, admitted tonight that he had talked with an emissary from the University of Iowa regarding the coaching position there now held by Irl Tubbs.

Dr. Anderson would say no more than that he had been "approached by a representative of the Iowa Athletic association."

Anderson, who came here six years ago from De Paul university in Chicago, has had two unbeaten squads at Holy Cross. His teams have won 46, tied 4, and lost 8.

Details of his arrangements with Holy Cross never have been made public, but it is assumed he is working on a year to year basis.

TOM LIEB RESIGNS.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Tom Lieb, for nine years head football coach at Loyola university, resigned today amid mounting criticism by Loyola alumni over the team's poor season. Loyola has lost five games and won three this year.

Lieb, who came to Loyola from Notre Dame, where he played football and was assistant coach under Knute Rockne, said he would leave when his contract expires next March 1.

Lieb said he was negotiating with several athletic departments of other schools, but did not name them.

NAVY MUSTERS HUSKIEST BACKS FOR ARMY GAME

Hansen Will Start in Place of Whitehead.

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Navy's football squad continued to practice in strictest secrecy again today, but reports from the guarded maneuvers indicated Coach Hank Hardwick plans to start Harold Hansen, 225 pound blocking back, against Army at Philadelphia Saturday. The south Philadelphia middie was rushed into the Columbia game as a substitute and proceeded to throttle Sid Luckman's passing.

Hansen adds 50 pounds to the starting backfield. He has apparently won the starting assignment from Ulmont Whitehead, 175 pounds. With Hansen, the backfield will average 187½ pounds. Lem Cooke, who leads the East's former passers in percentage of completion, weighs 165 pounds, Ed Gillette, 185, and Emmett Wood, 175.

Cliff Lenz, sensational 200 pound sophomore back, was forced to return to sick bay today. He has been nursing a bad leg since the Penn game a month ago. He turned out for practice last night but the injury was aggravated and he returned for more treatment.

ARMY WORKS INDOORS.

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Army's football squad deserted the gridiron on the plains, where cadets have practiced for 30 years, and moved to the new field adjacent to the new field house today. The switch enables Coach Bill Wood to continue preparations for the Navy game until dark, then move indoors to prolong the workout.

The greater part of a two hour session was devoted to polishing the offense and a dummy scrimmage against Navy plays.

Wood sent in substitutes to relieve the regulars at frequent intervals and gave most of the reserves chances to work with the varsity lineup. The only change in the lineup which started against Princeton will see little Jack Little at left guard in place of Tom Davis.

Notre Dame Is Still Nation's No. 1 Eleven

New York, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Numbering ranking teams from the east, middle west, and south among its eight victims, Notre Dame's football team today retained its top ranking among the leading elevens in the latest Associated Press poll of the country's sports writers.

The fact that Georgia Tech from the south, Army, Navy, and Carnegie Tech from the east, and Minnesota and Northwestern, front rank Big Ten teams, lost to the Irish, probably was the deciding factor in keeping Notre Dame, with 48 first place ballots and 807 points, ahead of Texas Christian, with 28 and 746. T. C. U. has scored 234 points in nine games to Notre Dame's 149 in eight, but the southwest conference leaders have played a less representative schedule.

Of the 84 ballots the other first place nominations were split among the next three teams. Duke, only unbeaten-untied-unscored on major eleven in the country, drew three No. 1 votes and 553 points, to place third. Tennessee, also given three votes as top team, and once beaten Pittsburgh, given two, tied for fourth with 523 points.

The tabulation [first place votes in parentheses, points scored on 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis]:

Team.	Pts.	Team.	Pts.
Notre Dame [48]	807	Oklahoma	351
Tex. Christn [28]	746	Carnegie Tech	336
Duke [3]	553	Minnesota	152
Tennessee [3]	523	California	151
Pittsburgh [2]	523	Cornell	147

Second ten—Holy Cross, 79; Michigan, 52; Dartmouth, 38; Southern California, 36; Northwestern, 35; Villanova, 33; Texas Tech, 25; Fordham, 21; Santa Clara, 13; Georgetown, 11.

Walker, 68, Claims New 100 Yard World Record

Dr. Harry Klink, 62 years old, a chiropodist, said he broke a record he established forty-eight years ago by walking 100 yards in 12.75 seconds in a playground at 103d street and Prospect avenue yesterday. The test was witnessed by a surveyor and two timekeepers who will make affidavits. The previous professional record of 13 seconds, Dr. Klink said, was made by him on Oct. 8, 1890, in Magnolia Bluff park, Sarasota, Fla.

Big Six Teams Get Set for Final Games

Norman, Okla., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Cold weather kept the University of Oklahoma football squad inactive today. Coach Tom Stidham limited the session to an inspection of Oklahoma Aggie plays and formations. Otis Rogers and Gene Corrotto, senior backs, were named acting co-captains for the Aggie game Saturday.

Lawrence, Kas., Nov. 22.—(AP)—The Kansas Jayhawkers spent a half hour on signal practice today, then quit to watch motion pictures of last year's Missouri game and this year's Nebraska game.

A squad of about 40 men will leave tomorrow morning for Moberly, Mo., where a light workout will be held. In the morning the men will take a bus to Columbia for the annual Missouri-Kansas homecoming game.

Columbia, Mo., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Coach Don Faurot recalled today that field goals gave Missouri victories over Kansas in 1915, 1922, and 1925. He set Les Pieper and Ken Hawthorne to practicing placekicks.

Manhattan, Kas., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Kansas State concentrated on antipower plays today in a hard workout in preparation for the Nebraska huskers.

Coach Wes Fry believes Nebraska is stronger than the records indicate but gives the Wildcats an even chance for victory Thanksgiving day.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 22.—(AP)—The Nebraska Cornhuskers divided their time indoors and outdoors today, easing up with the Kansas State football battle here only two days away.

Du Sable Junior, Senior Swimming Teams Win

Du Sable High school won both divisions of a swimming meet from Farragut in the latter's pool yesterday. The seniors triumphed, 47 to 17, and the juniors, 36 to 17. Joe Hines, captain of the Du Sable seniors, finished first in the back stroke event and the 220 yard free style race.

Carnegie Tech Leaves for North Carolina State Game

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Carnegie Tech headed south today to close its season on Thanksgiving day against North Carolina State's eleven in Raleigh.

Victor and Tom

FRED SPANER.

A grinning 20-year-old graduate student at Northwestern university, who had never before donned a track suit, yesterday won an 18 pound turkey by running a mile and a quarter in five minutes and fifty-one seconds on the north campus of the school.

Fred Spaner, who was graduated from the College of the City of New York last June and is now doing graduate work in psychology at the Evanston school, toed the mark just east of Patten gymnasium along with 100 other students, ran north to Lincoln street, circled the north end of the fraternity quadrangle, sped south in Sheridan road, then described the circle again. He finished the race 100 yards ahead of the field.

Track Coach Frank Hill, Kenneth L. [Tug] Wilson, director of athletics, and Russell Walter, assistant track coach, who presented Spaner the turkey, told him they regretted he was not a freshman instead of a graduate student.

Waukegan Basket Teams Rout Antioch in 1st Games

Waukegan High school opened its basketball schedule by taking a double-header from Antioch in Waukegan last night. The frosh-sophs won, 35 to 8, and the heavyweights triumphed, 59 to 16.

N. U. Basket Coach Faces a Hard Job

Now that his duties as assistant football coach are completed, Coach Dutch Lonborg of Northwestern has turned his undivided attention to the basketball team which will open a twenty game schedule against Carleton in Patten gymnasium on Dec. 7.

Lonborg is confronted with one of the most difficult jobs he has faced since coming to Northwestern twelve years ago. Loss by graduation of four regulars—three forwards and a center—has swept away the entire front line of last year's team which finished third in the Big Ten race.

Lose Four Stars.

Last year's stars who are gone are Fred Trenkle, Jean Smith, and Mike McMichael, forwards, and Jake Nogode, center. This quartet comprised the scoring punch of the 1937 team and the biggest job at the moment is developing players to step into the vacated positions.

Thirty candidates, the largest squad ever to report for basketball at Northwestern are seeking positions on this year's team. Six of the candidates are lettermen, nine are squadmen from last year, and the remainder are sophomores.

First step in rebuilding the team has been to shift Jim Currie, senior guard, to a forward position where his speed and ball handling will help fortify the front line. Other leading forward candidates are Les Harman and Charles Melchoir, juniors, who saw some action last season, and Dick Peil, 6 foot sophomore from South Bend, and Leigh Gassler, 6 foot 3 inch sophomore who prepped at Morgan Park Military academy.

Lack Experience at Center.

No experienced player is available at center. Leading aspirants include Bob Koble, Jim Bitting, and Lynn Wimmer, squadmen from last year, and Don McCarnes of Logansport, Ind., a brother of Bob McCarnes, captain of the 1932 team.

The guard positions are well fortified with three lettermen, Ad Vance and Bernie Davis, returning. This trio together with Parry Feaman, a junior, and two sophomores, Al Butherus and Bob Shepard of Oak Park, will provide strength at the back court positions.

N. Y. COMMISSION GIVES APOSTOLI 160 LB. TITLE

New York, Nov. 22.—[Special.]—The New York State Athletic commission now has its own "world's" middleweight boxing championship. It awarded the title to Fred Apostoli of San Francisco today following his knockout over Young Corbett III. last Friday night in Madison Square Garden.

Neither Solly Krieger, who is recognized as champion by the National Boxing association, nor his manager, Hymie Caplan, appeared at the commission meeting. They were expected at the meeting to arrange for a match with Apostoli on or before Jan. 30, but remained in Pittsburgh, where Kreiger meets Billy Conn on Friday night.

END FIRST ROUND.

The No. 1 team of the American College of Physical Education will play the Madison Athletic club in a concluding first round match in the Skyline-Madison Women's Volley Ball league tonight in the Skyline Athletic club.

Wilson Junior Defeats Chiropodists' Five, 71-51

Wilson Junior college defeated the Illinois College of Chiropodists, 71 to 51, in a basketball game at Wilson yesterday. The victors led, 23 to 17, at half time. Jordan, center, and Brandelle, forward, scored 18 and 17 points, respectively. The losers' leading point scorer was Stevenson, forward, with nine baskets and two free throws.

Princeton Lettermen Name Tackle Tierney '39 Captain

FLORALS, CYNCOS WIN.

The Duffy Florals defeated the Golden Clothes, 31 to 27, and the Cyncos beat the Bill Rand quintet, 33 to 31, last night in the opening games of the Mid-City Basketball league in the Midway auditorium.

70,000 TO SEE PENNSYLVANIA BATTLE CORNELL

Rivals Clash Tomorrow in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Pennsylvania, in its last home practice, today went through the entire repertoire of plays to be used against Cornell here Thursday and then left for Seaview Country club to remain until the morning of the game.

Coach Munger used a first string back field consisting of Frank Reagan, quarter back; Jim Coulter, left half back; Bill Miller, right half back, and Herb Rainwater, full back. Reagan may be relieved of the responsibility of calling the signals, either by Miller or Coulter.

Johnny Dutcher, who started the Penn State game and the veteran Bill Koepsell, held back by injuries most of the season, are also available for quarter back duties.

Gustafson's Nose Heals.

Harlan Gustafson's broken nose has healed sufficiently for the big fellow to take his place at left end, but Ned Fielden has played so well lately he probably will start. Either Len Warner or Fred Straub will be on the right wing.

The stadium will virtually be a sellout, Pennsylvania athletic authorities predicting the crowd will pass 70,000. Only 5,000 tickets remain unsold.

CORNELL USES VETERANS.

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—The eleven men who have started in the last two Cornell games will start at Franklin field Thursday against Penn. Seven of them will be in their last intercollegiate game.

DUKE STUDIES PLAYS.

Durham, N. C., Nov. 22.—(AP)—A freshman club slammed Pittsburgh plays against the Duke varsity today as the Blue Devils centered on defensive play for the Panther game here Saturday. Late in the session the unscored-on Dukes took the offensive against the first year men.

Jap Davis, reserve blocking back injured last week, was unable to participate because of an injured shoulder.

PITT POINTS FOR DUKE.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 22.—(AP)—With only one injured regular, Al Lezouski, Pitt's Panthers skipped snappily through practice today for their clash Saturday with the undefeated Dukes of Durham, N. C.

Coach Jock Sutherland named thirty-four athletes who will leave at 1:30 p. m., Thanksgiving day for Chapel Hill, N. C., where they will drill on Friday.

BROWN TRIES PASSES.

Providence, R. I., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Brown completed its preparations for the Columbia game here Thursday with a long session, featured by aerial offense and defense today. The varsity made the best defensive stand of the last ten days and showed to perfection in halting passes.

With Atwell, Hall, McLaughry, Stepczyk, Detwiler, and Kapstein handling the passing the varsity then turned to a tuneup of its own offense and completed many tosses against the reserves. Blocking and tackling closed the drill.

PITT PRESIDENT ASSAILS FOES OF ATHLETIC CODE

Refuses to Investigate Football Setup.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 22.—(AP)—A long smouldering controversy over football at Pitt broke wide open today, with Chancellor John G. Bowman assailing interference "from unofficial managers who want to sit in the press box."

Bowman's outburst preceded by an hour a charge by Pitt's varsity letter club, comprising 900 former athletes, that he had rejected a proposal for an "impartial" investigation of athletic affairs.

The chancellor, in one of his infrequent addresses to a student assembly, turned suddenly from generalities to a hot blast at critics of the Bowman code which put Pitt athletics on a "strictly amateur basis" a year ago.

Code to Be Continued.

His speech apparently was provoked by the student newspaper's demand for an explanation of the athletic situation and reports of a threatened strike of freshman football players. The freshmen complained they were being "dunned" for payment of tuition notes, which they claimed they signed as a formality.

Angrily, Bowman denied he was unsympathetic to football or unfriendly to Coach Jock Sutherland, pledged continuance of the code, and blamed athletic troubles on unofficial managers inside and outside the university. He added:

"Only half an hour ago I received a threat, and I have received numerous others, telling me that I must back down in my stand on Pitt's athletic policy or take the consequences."

Turns Down Suggestion.

Dr. Norman C. Ochsenhirt, head of the letter club, disclosed that he called Bowman shortly before the speech. Ochsenhirt declared Bowman refused the suggestion for an investigation and declined action upon a memorandum handed him by club representatives on Nov. 17.

The memorandum charged Pitt's athletic affairs were in "a terrible muddle," laid the blame on inefficient management, and appealed to Bowman "for God's sake take hold of this mess and clean it up. Set our athletic house in order."

The memorandum said there was evidence the university had broken faith with the freshmen, and offered to "furnish capable advice for the freshmen in order that they may be fairly represented."

Pitt ends the regular season against Duke on Saturday. Sutherland, who frequently denied reports that he was resigning, did not comment on Bowman's speech.

Mount Carmel and Fenger Renew Drill for Title Game

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

Their rest periods over, Mount Carmel and Fenger, Catholic and public high school football champions, yesterday took their first workouts in preparation for Mayor Kelly's all-city title game in Soldiers' field Saturday afternoon. Coaches Wally Fromhart of Mount Carmel and Chuck Palmer of Fenger said there would be no letup until Friday.

Immediately confronting Coach Palmer is a game with Pullman Tech, annually played on Pullman Tech field Thanksgiving morning. Palmer felt he would not discontinue the series and announced only members of the second and third teams will see action against Pullman Tech. The contest is a feature of the prep football schedule on the far south side and each year attracts one of the largest crowds on the Thanksgiving day program in the Chicago district.

Blair Is Out.

One member of Mount Carmel's regular eleven was missing when the squad reported for its opening drill following its hard battle with Fenwick for the Catholic league title last Sunday. Edward Blair, center, who is 6 feet 1 inch tall and weighs 172 pounds, suffered a bruised rib in the Fenwick contest and spent last Monday in St. Bernard's hospital. He was released yesterday and sent to his home, but Coach Fromhart said he may not be available for duty against Fenger.

Fromhart, quarter back on the Notre Dame eleven in 1933, 1934, and 1935 and a member of THE TRIBUNE'S All-Star team against the Detroit Lions in 1936, said John Duggan, who is 17 years old and weighs 185 pounds, or Clyde Brzezinski, 172 pound sophomore, probably will start at center in the big charity game.

Creevy's Hand Cut.

Tom Creevy, quarter back, showed up in the Mount Carmel camp with a bandaged hand. A cut incurred during the Fenwick contest required two stitches. However, he participated in the drill. His brother Dick, captain and full back who was injured two weeks ago, remained on the sidelines.

First steps on stopping Fenger's Don Griffin, the 16 year old quarter back who scored four touchdowns last Saturday against Harrison Tech, were taken by Mount Carmel. Coach Fromhart has watched Griffin and his teammates twice during the season, scouting last Saturday's game and one of Fenger's south section contests early in the season.

A few miles away from Mount Carmel's practice field, Coach Palmer, star half back on Northwestern university's team in 1920, 1921, and 1922, sent the City leaguers through a two hour workout. Palmer said several players suffered bruises in the Harrison Tech contest, but will be ready Saturday. The only Fenger regular who will be unavailable is Arthur Yampolsky, 178 pound tackle.

Yampolsky in Hospital.

Yampolsky was still in Roseland Community hospital yesterday. Yampolsky, who suffered a severe concussion on the opening play of the second half, has improved considerably, physicians said. Yampolsky was carried off the field Saturday by teammates and he did not regain consciousness until Sunday morning.

While the two elevens engaged in their first workout, officials of Chicago's Own Christmas Benefit fund, sponsor of the game, said they enjoyed one of the biggest days since the ticket sale opened. Barnet Hodes, corporation counsel and secretary of the benefit fund, after a look into the till, revealed that $83,000 already has been received.

Fourteen thousand tickets have been sold to residents of the community of Roseland who will gather in the stands of the lake front arena to cheer Griffin on his touchdown runs. Hodes also said tickets for the game still are available in all Catholic and public schools and in the offices of the benefit fund, 33 North La Salle street.

Fromhart and Palmer have selected the officials for the game. W. F. McHugh, De Paul, will be referee; P. J. Pierce, De Paul, umpire; George Boyle, De Paul, head linesman, and Roy Quant, George Williams college, field judge.

COGHILL NAMED PRESIDENT OF DAILY FEE GROUP

Bert Coghill of Cog-Hill was elected president of the Chicago Daily Fee Golf association for the 1939 season at a meeting held Monday night in the Chicago Athletic association. Other officers include Ralph Wymer of Gleneagles, vice president; Manne Strand of Big Run, treasurer, and Dr. A. O. Young of Bunker Hill, secretary. The directors are Jack Daray of Cherry Hill; Bill Langford of Mid-City, and Tom Walsh of Westgate Valley. James H. Rook was named golf promotion director for the association, which embraces twenty-two clubs.

South Bend Washington to Play at White Plains

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—A squad of twenty-six South Bend Washington High school football players left today for White Plains, N. Y., where Washington will meet White Plains High school Thanksgiving morning. The contest will be the second between the schools. Washington won at White Plains last year.

DARTMOUTH HAS LONG DRILL FOR STANFORD GAME

Palo Alto, Cal., Nov. 22.—(AP)—The Dartmouth football squad, here to meet Stanford in an intersectional game Saturday, ran through a light workout today.

Warm, sunny weather greeted the visiting players as they went through a two hour practice on the Stanford field. Coach Earl H. Blaik said he expected his players to become acclimated by Friday. He explained their last workout at home had been in snow with the players wearing mittens.

A scrimmage was scheduled for tomorrow with morning and afternoon drills through Friday.

TENNESSEE HAS REASON TO FEAR KENTUCKY GAME

Knoxville, Tenn., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Double trouble from the Kentucky bluegrass today threatened Tennessee's unchecked drive toward its first undisputed Southeastern conference championship.

Kentucky's Wildcats, slapped around all season, come to town Thanksgiving with their famed jinx—a combination that has proved disastrous in the past to unbeaten, untied Tennessee teams—to try to stop George Cafego, triple threat back, and his mates.

Maj. Bob Neyland, a gloomy sort of fellow, is taking no chances. "We're looking for a hard game," he said. "Kentucky always is tough for us and we can't let down."

Kentucky beat Tennessee, 27 to 0, in 1935, but Neyland was in Panama that year doing a job of engineering for the United States army.

The manner in which Joseph Bergman, 6525 South Western avenue, placed his bets at the Washington Park race track on Aug. 31 will be presented in a complete bill of particulars to be filed later this week with the clerk of the Municipal court. Bergman has a suit pending against the Washington Park Jocky club for the $1,000 prize for picking winners awarded on that day. He thought he had won, but the prize was awarded to Hayes McKinney, former president of the Chicago Bar association.

NEW DOG CLUB PLANS TO HOLD SHOW IN SPRING

Another Major Event for Chicagoland.

BY BOB BECKER.

Chicagoland dog owners will have two dog shows each spring if present plans of the newly formed Skokie Valley Kennel club materialize. The big International Kennel club show is held in Chicago each March or early April, and the Skokie Valley club now plans to hold a show in the Chicago area in April or May.

The new club recently elected a slate of officers composed of Mrs. Edith Newhouse, Chicago, president; J. P. Sweeney, Chicago, vice president; R. J. Bosiacq, Glenview, treasurer, and Miss Alma E. Dawell, 800 Greenleaf street, Evanston, recording secretary.

Four Major Shows.

With a new all-breed show added to the schedule of dog events, Chicagoland breeders have four major shows within a fifty mile radius of the loop, including the International Kennel club show each spring in the International amphitheater, the Western Specialty club's association show each November in the Chicago Coliseum, the Northbrook Kennel club show each fall, and the Skokie Valley Kennel club show. The new club has a franchise assigned to Evanston and it is probable that its shows will be held in or near that city.

If the new Skokie Valley club wants to make a lot of friends among dog owners and at the same time make a valuable contribution to the whole field of dog breeding and ownership, its members can supplement their show work with a drive against dog thefts in Chicagoland and the disposition of these stolen animals through outlets in and around Chicago.

Letters Tell of Thefts.

Judging from the letters which keep coming to our desk there are far too many good dogs being stolen in Chicago and nearby suburban towns. One of the most recent letters to reach us comes from Eugene F. Engelhard of Chicago. He writes:

"A few days ago my English setter dog was stolen from my home on Wilmot road in Deerfield. The matter was reported to the police, but so far they have been unable to locate her. I did not give much thought to this matter until recently when, after talking with a number of my friends, I found that they or their friends have had similar trouble. It is my belief that there must be a ring of dog thieves working in north Cook county and Lake county."

Action Is Needed.

The time is ripe for some aggressive dog organization or for all Chicago dog groups to have a thorough check made on this problem of dog thefts. As one dog owner remarked to us a few days ago: "It's a fine thing to have many dog clubs to improve breeds and hold shows and field trials, but how about their rendering a public service by doing something about dog thefts and other problems affecting every dog owner?"

was this sextet plus a burly line which made the Bears the favorites in pre-season predictions. And on the basis of their last two starts, it was only the Bears' tardiness in reaching their peak which kept them from making the western division race a runaway.

Second Back Field Has Speed.

After Famiglietti, Manders, Nolting, and Buivid have taken their turns smashing the Lions' line, Bernie Masterson, Bob Swisher, Francis, and Maniaci will come on. This unit also possesses considerable power. But its chief asset is speed. Between these two units the Bears hope to roll up 283 yards to dethrone the Packers as league ground gaining champions. Green Bay, which completed its schedule last week, gained 3,037 yards in eleven games.

The Bears, however, will settle for considerably less yardage tomorrow if only they can gain revenge for the humiliating defeat the Lions administered to them in Wrigley field on Oct. 30. The score was only 13 to 7, but the manner in which it was achieved was brutal. The Lions, led by Bill Shepherd, simply overpowered the Bears and bolted over them.

Preparations for tomorrow's game have included some stress on Coach Dutch Clark's favorite plays. The Bears expect that Clark will play an important rôle in the Lions' plans tomorrow, since there appears to be little hope of Shepherd being in shape to resume his left half back duties. Shepherd was injured in the Green Bay game and spent last week in a hospital.

An X-ray examination of Del Bjork's wrist yesterday revealed only a sprain and physicians said the big tackle probably would be able to take his place in the lineup. Bjork cracked up making a tackle against Brooklyn and it was feared he might have sustained a fracture. He will accompany the squad when it entrains for Detroit at noon today after a morning workout in Wrigley field.

Coach Milan Creighton resumed preparations for the Cleveland game yesterday, sending the Cardinals through a long drill in the afternoon. Considerable stress will be placed on defense this week in an attempt to stop the Rams' passes. Cleveland has been quite successful in recent games with its aerial attack built around the receiving of Jim Benton and Ray Hamilton, who did the catching for Dwight Sloan and Jack Robbins when the quartet formed Arkansas' famed passing circus last fall.

Chicago Dog Wins Eastern Spaniel Trial

Fort Washington, Pa., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—An invader from the middle west who had competed only once before in the east today captured the open all-age stake for English springer spaniels as the Valley Forge Field trial association meeting closed.

The winner was Dalshangan Pomme de Terre, owned by the Davellis kennels of David Siberman of Chicago, who also gained the third award with his Altskeith Grant. The two were divided by the field trial champion, Fleet of Falcon Hill, owned by H. L. Ferguson.

Pomme de Terre did not make a mistake through two series. He not only did his work cleverly and with the least amount of handling by Francis Hogan, but he was fast and flashy and an industrious hunter.

Fifth All-Age Victory.

It was the fifth open all-age victory for Pomme de Terre. He won four in the west. He did well at Vandenburg, N. J., last week when he was fourth.

Pomme de Terre, in his first effort, withstood the temptation to go after a bird on the other course, then retrieved the bird after the other dog had failed. He also made two other quick retrieves. In the second series he made a long retrieve on a bird that he had marked perfectly.

Eleven Dogs Called Back.

Fleet made one of the finest retrievers on a runner and was steady under shot. He received the E. D. Knight trophy for the best looking and best working dog in the field.

Eleven dogs were called back for the second series and Altskeith Grant was held in reserve and later called back. He again worked nicely and evenly, and was steady under shot when returning with his bird.

Nash Brings in Three Winners at Bowie Track

Bowie, Md., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Ronnie Nash, apprentice jocky, who had been starring on New England tracks, showed Maryland fans how he does it when he made his first appearance at Bowie today.

Nash not only won the featured Nanticoke handicap for class "C" 3 year olds with Israel Silberman's Deep End, but he rounded out a riding triple and just missed making it four winners when his sixth race mount, Pretty Pet, was beaten out by Endymion in a photo finish. His other winners were Tiberius in the third race and Glisten in the seventh.

The Nanticoke provided the most exciting four horse finish of the meeting when Deep End, the Medway stable's Ghost Queen, J. W. Y. Martin's Slow Motion and Mrs. E. Trueman's Toddle On finished only heads apart. The camera finally placed them in that order.

The winner, paying a $9.90 mutuel, raced the six furlongs in 1:13 4-5.

PLEASANT LOSES AMATEUR BOUT IN I. A. C. RING

Johnny Pleasant, 1938 Illinois Athletic club lightweight champion, was defeated by Homer Williams last night during the monthly amateur boxing show in the I. A. C. gymnasium. The decision was not unanimous, Judges Johnny Behr and Ed Hintz voting for

ESTATE OF ONLY 26 MILLION LEFT BY ROCKEFELLER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 22.—[Special.]—John D. Rockefeller Sr., once called the world's richest man, left an estate of only $26,905,182 when he died at the age of 97 in his Florida home on May 23, 1937.

The remainder of the fortune, built on oil and reputed to have amounted at one time to a billion dollars, had been given away. This was shown in explanatory papers filed today with the tax appraisal of the estate.

The office of John D. Rockefeller Jr. later made public a list of gifts to institutions, trusts, and foundations between 1895 and 1934. The list detailed gifts of $100,000 or more—aggregating the breath taking total of $524,890,792. Smaller gifts amounted to another $5,962,839.93. No clew was given as to the peak amount of the Rockefeller fortune.

Taxes to Take 16 Million.

Throughout the last half of his life most of the senior Rockefeller's activities were devoted to giving away his millions, both in philanthropic enterprises and in trust funds for his heirs. He thus was able to keep his estate fairly intact and to avoid the necessity of liquidating most of it to pay inheritance taxes.

As it is, the beneficiaries of his will are to receive only about $10,000,000.

First charges against the estate are attorneys' and appraisers' fees, reducing it to a net value of $26,273,845. The New York state inheritance tax will take $4,385,000 and the federal inheritance tax will be $12,245,000.

The schedules show that the bulk of the estate is in securities, $26,273,345 worth, including more than $17,000,000 in United States treasury notes.

Only One Standard Oil Share.

Oddly enough, there was only one share of Standard Oil stock, this unique item being a share of Standard of California common, appraised at $43.94, with a 45 cent dividend accrued.

Another interesting item was 27,733 shares of Mount Powell Mines company common, which the appraisers found to have no value.

The assets also included notes and cash totaling $451,364 and miscellaneous property appraised at $179,971, the largest item in this category being a stock exchange seat valued at $93,000. This valuation, and all others, as the law requires, were as of the date of death.

The administration expenses included an estimated fee of $200,000 for the attorneys and fees of $25,000 for each of the three executors. The debts ranged from 58 cents for cloth purchased prior to Rockefeller's death to $42,813 due as a federal gift tax for 1937.

Trust for Granddaughter.

The residuary estate is left in trust for Mrs. Margaret Strong de Cuevas of Lakewood, N. J., a granddaughter, and her children, of whom there are now two, Elizabeth and John, and the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research.

The trustees have complete discretion as to how much of the income shall be paid to each beneficiary. The will explains that when Rockefeller was giving gifts and setting up trusts for his other children, the mother of Mrs. De Cuevas had died and that this is why she is the beneficiary.

John D. Rockefeller Jr. and the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial were residuary legatees in the original will, made on June 2, 1925. In 1929 a codicil substituted the Rockefeller Foundation for the memorial, the two having been merged, and another codicil substituted the institute for the foundation.

Son Gets Personal Effects.

On Oct. 3, 1934, the testator signed a third codicil at Lakewood, naming Mrs. De Cuevas and her children. John D. Rockefeller Jr. receives personal and household effects, appraised at $33,678.

Among the Rockefeller heirs are the three children of the late Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick. They are Fowler McCormick of Barrington, Ill., Muriel McCormick Hubbard of Middletown, Conn., and Mathilde McCormick Oser of St. Prex, Switzerland. Another grandson is John R. Prentice of Chicago.

STUDY PROPOSAL TO RESTORE TAX BUYERS' MARKET

Legislators to Change Foreclosure Law.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Proposals to put teeth in the tax foreclosure laws were heard today by the legislative council. The bipartisan group appointed from both houses recessed until Monday in its pioneering attempt to prepare subjects for the general assembly which will convene Jan. 3.

The tax collection reforms described to the council were submitted by the citizens committee on tax collection in Chicago. The plans were presented by Edward J. McCabe, chief deputy assessor of Cook county, a member of the council.

"There are no purchasers at Cook county tax sales now," McCabe said. "All a purchaser can buy is a cloud on a realty title."

Hope to Revive Market.

A bill designed to bring the tax buyer back into the market was sent by the citizen's committee. Before the council passes this on to the legislature a subcommittee will meet with county officials in Chicago Saturday.

"This proposal seeks to revive tax buying by substituting for the clouded title the buyer now receives a prospective right to possession and a good title after the period of equity redemption has expired," McCabe said.

Another proposal was introduced to help lift the burden of 382 million dollars in unpaid taxes from the property owners of Cook county who do pay their taxes.

Such measures would void the Skarda law providing for receiverships of properties which are far behind in taxes, McCabe said.

No Hope to Collect.

Of the 382 millions unpaid for the tax years 1928 to 1937, 230 millions represents personal property taxes. McCabe said he favored legislative action to erase 200 millions of this from the books because there is no hope to collect it.

Bills will be drawn by the council to encourage consolidation of downstate schools where small attendance imposes needless expense upon taxpayers. There are 504 school districts in Illinois having five or less pupils each.

The final meeting of the council Monday will take up the school bills and further changes in judicial districts than were approved yesterday.

BOSTON CENSOR DELETES WORDS IN RICE'S DRAMA

Boston, Mass., Nov. 22.—(AP)—City Censor John J. Spencer today ordered deletion of five expressions he ruled as profane in Elmer Rice's new play, "American Landscape."

"I am getting tired of issuing such orders," he said. "I am informed that the orders against profanity are being disregarded in other plays now being performed in Boston. If there is any more disregard I will summon all theater operators in this city and rigorous action will be taken."

Policeman Kills Himself with Bullet in His Home

Gerald Fitzgerald, 30 years old, a policeman attached to the West North avenue station, shot himself to death early today in the living room of his home at 4815 Diversey avenue. His wife, Margaret, found his body, clad in full uniform. A bullet from his service revolver had entered his right temple. Fitzgerald had been on the force for six years. His father, Edward, is a police operator at the Shakespeare avenue station. Mrs. Fitzgerald said her husband had been moody and morose for the last week, but had refused to say what was preying on his mind. They have no children.

$2,514,841 for Community Fund Pledged; Need More

Contributions to the Community fund have reached $2,514,841. This was announced yesterday by John Holmes, industrial chairman, at a meeting of campaign leaders in the Palmer house. More than a million dollars more is required to reach the goal of $3,550,000.

HUNT CHICAGO COUPLE MISSING ON FISHING TRIP

Authorities of Walworth county, Wis., sought without success last night and early today for a Chicago couple who went fishing on Lake Como, near Lake Geneva, last Saturday and have not been seen since.

They are Frederick Hirschmann, 55 years old, an engraver, and his wife, Theresa, 50, of 2930 Eastwood avenue. Their automobile, with a half eaten lunch in a box on the front seat, was found abandoned near the lake shore yesterday by a highway patrolman.

There was no sign of the rowboat, equipped with an outboard motor, in which passersby saw them Saturday noon. Their black terrier, a strong swimmer, was gone. A son, George, left last night to aid in the search. W. B. Hirschmann, another son, is a graduate student at the University of Chicago. Both live with their parents.

[ADVERTISMENT]

CONSTIPATED?

Don't Let Gas, Nerve Pressure Keep You Miserable

When you are constipated two things happen. FIRST: Accumulated wastes swell up the bowels and press on nerves in the digestive tract. This nerve pressure causes headaches, a dull, lazy feeling, bilious spells, loss of appetite, and dizziness. SECOND: Partly digested food starts to decay forming GAS, bringing on sour stomach, acid indigestion, and heartburn, bloating you up until you sometimes gasp for breath. Then you can't eat. You can't sleep. Your stomach is sour. You feel tired out, grouchy, and miserable. Adlerika gives you the DOUBLE ACTION you need. This efficient carminative cathartic relieves that awful GAS almost at once. It thoroughly clears the bowels in less than two hours. No waiting for overnight relief.

More than 98% of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

STEPS OFF SAFETY ISLAND; WOMAN'S AUTO KILLS HIM

Charles Wood, 60 years old, a WPA worker, was killed yesterday when he was struck at Western avenue and Palmer street by an automobile driven by Mrs. Louise Crotan of 6151 North Rockwell street. She said Wood stepped off a safety island into the path of her car.

Evanston police yesterday were seeking a hit and run driver whose car struck and injured Lamber Hildebrand, 18, at Green Bay road and Noyes street in the suburb Monday night. Hildebrand lived at 1423 Oakton street, Evanston.

John Durso, 46 years old, 7114 North Wolcott avenue, was seriously injured last night when he was struck by an automobile driven by Emmett Concannon, 41 years old, 6546 Jeffery avenue, at Chicago avenue and La Salle street. Witnesses told police Durso was crossing La Salle street against the traffic lights. Concannon was not held. Durso is co-publisher of a neighborhood newspaper with offices at 810 North Clark street.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 767 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 593 were killed in Chicago, where 18,208 were injured during the same period.

ENGLISH FUNERAL TODAY FOR QUEEN MAUD OF NORWAY

LONDON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The body of Queen Maud of Norway was taken tonight to her girlhood home, Marlborough house, for funeral services tomorrow morning before the body is carried to Norway on the British battleship Royal Oak.

King Haakon VII. and Crown Prince Olaf accompanied the herse from the hospital, where the queen, who was 68 years old, died Sunday. Marlborough house is the residence of Queen Mother Mary. Soldiers of the Grenadier guards regiment kept guard at the bier.

Tomorrow morning three kings, George VI. of England, Queen Maud's nephew; George of Greece and Haakon, with Regent Paul of Jugo-Slavia and virtually the entire British royal family will attend the brief private funeral service. Afterward the coffin will be put on a gun carriage and taken to a train for Portsmouth.

FIREMEN FIND 2 BURNED TO DEATH IN JUNK SHOP FIRE

Two men were killed early yesterday by a fire in the American junk shop, 2135 Lake street. The men, employés of the concern, had been sleeping on piles of rags on the second floor. The bodies were found by firemen after the flames were under control. The two were identified tentatively as Ed Baer, 70 years old, and a man known only as "Dad," 75. Damage to the building was estimated at $2,000. Spontaneous combustion was blamed.

$1,400,000 ESTATE IS TURNED OVER TO MISS BARKER

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Miss Jessie Barker, 22 years old, of Louisville, Ky., today signed legal papers giving her possession of a $1,400,000 estate which trustees have been holding for her for twenty-one years. The money was left by her father, Jesse Barker, who committed suicide here in 1917.

The girl said she couldn't work up much excitement over coming into the money because she always has known she would receive it at this time. Furthermore, she has received from $500 to $1,500 a month from the estate all her life, so she has had virtually everything money could buy.

In three years Miss Barker will inherit another fortune. It will comprise the accumulated income from the $1,850,000 estate left in trust by her grandmother, Mrs. Walter Barker. The girl's father was the adopted son of Walter Barker, millionaire financier, bank president, distiller, and president of the Peoria Railway company.

GEO. McKINLOCK ESTATE TO PAY TAXES OF $7,870

A state inheritance tax of $7,870 against the estate of George Alexander McKinlock, philanthropist and manufacturer, was approved yesterday by County Judge Perry L. Persons of Lake county. Mr. McKinlock, who lived in Lake Bluff, died Dec. 16, 1936.

Mr. McKinlock left an estate of $1,577,500, according to the inventory. The major portion, consisting of real estate, however, was heavily incumbered. After all deductions, including a federal estate tax of $9,265, a net of $209,968 remains.

Mr. McKinlock left his estate to his widow, the former Marion Wallace Rappelye, of Palm Beach, Fla. Attorney Denis E. Sullivan Jr., representing the widow, said that creditors' claims may wipe out this equity, leaving her only a widow's award of $25,000.

BURGLARS HOLD THEIR LOOT FOR $10,000 RANSOM

Fremont, Mich., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Burglars are holding $30,000 worth of jewelry and home furnishings, stolen from a summer home here, for ransom. They will surrender the loot for $10,000, and the owner, Jack Northcott of Holland, Mich., an oil promoter, has told the sheriff's office here that he is ready to pay it. He is said to be a former Chicagoan.

Northcott and his wife discovered the burglary Sunday when they came to Fremont to celebrate their twentieth wedding aniversary. They reported it to authorities and Monday Northcott received a phone call demanding the ransom. He announced his agreement in an advertisment in a Holland newspaper.

VOTE TO INDICT RUBIN JERSKY IN PARKING SLAYING

A true bill charging murder was reported voted yesterday by the Cook county grand jury against Rubin Jersky, 25 years old, who had been sought two weeks in connection with the slaying of Donald Warden, in front of Warden's home at 1143 South Central Park avenue. The shooting followed a quarrel between the victim and the occupants of a car that had been parked partly on Warden's lawn.

Jersky, who has a police record, surrendered Monday to Capt. Louis Klatzco at the Fillmore street police station. Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley yesterday dismissed a writ of habeas corpus brought in the Criminal court in Jersky's behalf when he was informed that the case had gone to the grand jury.

David Stern.

David Stern, who was in the woolen business in Chicago for 26 years, died yesterday in New York, where he had lived since 1936. He was 82 years old. Mr. Stern was born in Richmond, Va., and lived in Quincy, Ill. for 39 years before coming to Chicago. His last Chicago address was 5555 Everett avenue, where he and Mrs. Stern celebrated their golden wedding in 1935. His widow, Miriam, a son, Lester A. Stern, and a daughter, Mrs. Edgar Phillips of New York, survive. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. today in the Rosehill cemetery chapel.

Capt. W. H. Schoemaker.

Funeral services for Capt. William H. Schoemaker, veteran Chicago policeman, will be held today from the chapel at 6754 Northwest highway to St. Thecla church at 10:30 a. m. Burial will be in All Saints' cemetery. Capt. Schoemaker, who was 70 years old, died of a heart attack Monday at his home, 6237 North Oak Park avenue. He was an investigator for the state supervisor of paroles, having left the police department under the age retirement law.

Charles Lewis Billings.

Interment services for Charles Lewis Billings, attorney and former legislator, will be held at 2:30 p. m. today at the Billings-Nichols lot opposite the chapel in Graceland cemetery. Mr. Billings, a brother of the late Dr. Frank Billings, died last Thursday at St. Luke's hospital.

Justice L. B. Day.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 22.—(AP)—L. B. Day, associate justice of the Nebraska Supreme court and chairman of the American Bar association's resolutions committee, died today of complications arising from pneumonia. He was 49 years old.

John J. Doyle.

John J. Doyle, retired Chicago policeman, died yesterday at St. Anthony's hospital. He was 77 years old. Mr. Doyle, who lived at 20 South Austin boulevard, Oak Park, was a patrolman for 25 years. He was retired 22 years ago. His widow, Ann, a sister, Mrs. Anna Dillon, and a brother, Michael F. Doyle, survive. Funeral services will be held at 8:30 a. m., Friday from a chapel at 2346 Madison street to St. Catherine of Siena church.

Mrs. Anna Mayworm.

Mrs. Anna Mayworm, 86 years old, died yesterday at the Oak Park hospital of injuries incurred on Nov. 15 when she fell in her home at 1514 North Parkside avenue. She was the widow of Policeman William Mayworm, who was on duty at the Haymarket riots. She is survived by three daughters, including Mrs. Joseph Wagner, with whom she lived. Services will be held at 9 a. m. Friday from the residence, 2824 North Newcastle avenue, to St. William's church.

Mrs. Celia A. O'Shaughnessy.

Mrs. Celia A. O'Shaughnessey died at her home, 628 Addison street, yesterday from a cerebral hemorrhage. She was 74 years old. She was born in LaPorte, Ind., and after coming to Chicago attended the old Ogden elementary school on the near north side. She is survived by two daughters Mrs. Frank Henry Remien and Mrs. Walter Stuhl. Services will be held at 9:30 a. m. Friday from the home to Our Lady of Mount Carmel church.

Ruby Helder.

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Ruby Helder, 48 years old, noted female tenor, star of British Broadcasting company concerts and wife of Chesley Bonestell, died last night at her home here.

JULIUS WITT, 82, AUTHORITY ON SANSKRIT, DIES

Julius Witt, 82 years old, died yesterday in his room at 826 East 47th place. To children of the Kenwood Interdenominational Sunday school, where he was doorman, Mr. Witt was plain "Dad." Members of the Kenwood church regarded him as an authority on Sanskrit literature.

Formerly a cobbler, Mr. Witt retired from active work fifteen years ago, according to the Rev. Alfred L. Wilson, pastor of the church. More than a decade ago, the Rev. Wilson said, he took up the study of Sanskrit, primarily to refute statements of a professor who quoted from the Koran to prove his point in an argument.

Pauline Palmer Memorial Service to Be Held Today

YOUNG DODGE'S WIDOW GRANTED $5,000 A MONTH

Pontiac, Mich., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Mrs. Annie McDonald Dodge, a former $18 a week telephone operator and daughter of a tugboat captain, will receive a widow's allowance of $5,000 a month during litigation over the estate of her late husband, Daniel G. Dodge, heir to an automobile fortune.

An agreement to this effect was disclosed today between attorneys for the young widow and Mrs. Matilda R. Wilson, Dodge's mother. The agreement was filed with Probate Judge James H. Lynch.

The $5,000 allowance is predicated on the theory that Dodge's estate consists of $1,400,000, built up largely from his income from a life interest in a share of the estate of his father, John F. Dodge, one of the founders of the Dodge Brothers Automobile campany. Attorneys for Mrs. Dodge, however, contend that her husband's estate actually amounts to $9,500,000

MOVES TO BEGIN DISPOSITION OF COUGHLIN ESTATE

First steps toward disposition of the estate of Ald. John J. [Bathhouse John] Coughlin were taken yesterday. His cousin and attorney, W. F. Lawley, obtained letters of administration to collect for Marion Christiansen, bookkeeper in the late alderman's insurance office at 100 North La Salle street.

Lawley told Judge John F. O'Connell of the Probate court the action was taken to make it possible to carry on business.

Filing of Ald. Coughlin's will will be delayed thirty days, the attorney said, until the alderman's brother, George, arrives from California. The will is sealed and will be opened and read in the brother's presence.

EDISON TO SELL 25 MILLIONS OF NEW DEBENTURES

Offering to Stockholders Is Underwritten.

Arrangements for the sale of $25,000,000 of debentures of the Commonwealth Edison company were announced last night. The offering is being underwritten by a group of 117 investment houses headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co. Stockholders of the company have prior rights to subscribe to the issue.

The offering is part of a $59,000,000 refunding operation announced by the company on Nov. 4. Arrangements had already been for the sale of $34,000,000 of first mortgage bonds to insurance companies, in which no public offering was involved.

Stockholders May Subscribe.

Stockholders of record Dec. 2 will be entitled to subscribe for the new debentures at the rate of $3.12½ principal amount for each share of stock owned. The issue is offered at par. Debentures of the company issued earlier this year are now quoted in the open market at a premium of more than $7 per $100 face value. The subscriptions rights to be given to stockholders will expire Dec. 21.

The new debentures carry a 3½ per cent interest coupon and mature in 1958, the same terms applying to the earlier issues.

Bonds to Be Redeemed.

Proceeds of the debenture issue will be used chiefly to redeem all the outstanding bonds of the Illinois Northern Utilities company and the Chicago District Generating company, Edison controled properties.

The amount of debentures underwritten by the banking syndicate is $24,500,000 and the minimum to be offered to stockholders $25,234,800.

LEADERS DIFFER ON TAX TO SPUR PROFIT SHARING

Steel Head Prefers Wage Incentive.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Divided opinion was expressed today before a senate committee on the feasibility of incentive taxation to encourage profit sharing. The committee is studying various proposals aimed at persuading corporations to share profits with workers.

George M. Verity.

George M. Verity of Middletown, O., chairman of the board of American Rolling Mills company, said he preferred wage incentive plans and that there are other ways for the government to help rather than by incentive taxation.

A champion for the incentive tax, however, was found in Walter D. Fuller, president of the Curtis Publishing company, Philadelphia. Fuller declared that incentive taxation on American industry would facilitate absorption of the bulk of 11,000,000 unemployed.

Senator Clyde Herring [D., Ia.], chairman of the senate finance subcommittee, and Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.], another member of the committee and sponsor of the investigation, listened attentively to various proposals.

Tells "Multiple Management."

The boldest suggestion came from a young industrialist, Charles P. McCormick, president of McCormick & Co., Baltimore, Md., makers of extracts and spices. He described his plan for "multiple management," or participation of employés in directing the business, besides sharing in the profits. It has worked successfully in his company for six years, he said.

Verity described with great feeling the growth of his company during thirty-eight years from 350 employés to 15,000 at present. Coöperation between management and employés has built the business, he said. The company has had no strikes and no labor difficulties.

It was recalled by those attending the hearing that American Rolling Mills company was the only steel plant in which the Committee for Industrial Organization was defeated in an election to determine bargaining representatives. This occurred at the Butler, Pa., plant in the spring of this year when the C. I. O. was defeated 1,200 to 400.

Rewarded for Extra Work.

Verity said the company's successful relations with employés were due to providing them rewards for work done beyond the normal requirements and by allowing them to express their views on increasing efficiency of the plant's operations.

He said the men themselves favor getting additional compensation for their work as they go along, rather than wait until profits are determined. There are different incentive wage plans for various groups of workers, but Verity said he favored them all profit sharing plans. Many managerial employés are given bonuses depending on profits after wages and dividends to stockholders, he said.

He cited figures to show that the company's average wages were higher than those for the steel industry or for all industry. In 1937 the average income was $1,774 for his company's employés, while the corresponding figure for the industry was $1,581 and for all industry $1,415.

Opposes Tax Penalties.

Senator Vandenberg asked Verity for his opinions on incentive taxation.

"I feel that legislation that would reward these things, or penalize not doing them, would be equally harmful," the industrialist replied.

"If we had to do these things by compulsion, we would not get the benefit from them. They must be voluntary and worked out by ourselves."

Senator Herring asked whether an incentive tax would not help industry by increasing profits through greater efficiency, saying Verity had proved that the wage incentive system had produced efficiency.

"From my limited knowledge of law and taxation," replied Verity quickly, "my feeling is that you can help us out in a lot of other ways than by taxation."

"I think we hadn't better go into that," said Vandenberg.

Vandenberg Draws Chuckles.

The Michigan senator brought generous chuckles from the audience at another point in the hearing when he said the committee was not contemplating any definite profit sharing formula for dictation to industry.

"This country is too big and complex to be run from Washington," he said.

Then, on second thought, he added: "Maybe I'd better say that for my-

Banks, Markets Will Close Tomorrow

Banks and principal commodity and security exchanges in the United States will be closed tomorrow in observance of Thanksgiving day. English, Canadian, and other foreign markets will remain open. American exchanges will resume trading Friday morning.

N. Y. Exchange to Ease Listing Rules, Cut Fee

New York, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Plans for a radical modification of listing requirements to encourage more industrial companies to seek listing privileges were announced by the New York Stock exchange today.

The exchange board of governors adopted recommendations of a special committee calling for a cut in listing fees and a more flexible method of appraisal of applicants seeking to list securities.

"Under the new listing policies," said the exchange's announcement, "the controling test of acceptability will be quality, but the requirements will be made more flexible. The emphasis will be upon the standing of a company in its particular field, the character of the market for its products, its relative stability and position in its industry, and whether or not it is engaged in an expanding industry with prospects of maintaining its position.

Less Stress Put on Size.

"Size will not be used as a yardstick to the same extent as in the past in determining the suitability of a company for listing, but adequate distribution will remain a prerequisite to listing."

The exchange made it clear it had no intention of lowering its standards so that loopholes would be created for unsound securities. It was stressed that the aim was to remove "deterrents," or technical considerations, which in the past had operated to disbar many worthy companies from listing privileges.

Present listing fees are $120 per 10,000 shares. The same fee is charged for a $1,000,000 bond issue. The new fees have not yet been fixed.

Part of Reform Program.

The plan is a part of the reorganization and housecleaning which the stock exchange undertook early this year. Easing of the listing policies will be complemented, it was said, in exchange circles, by continued effort to reduce the amount of "deadwood" carried on the list.

This refers to companies that are involved in seemingly hopeless financial difficulties, those having exceptionally small amounts of outstanding securities, and others which have fallen deeply behind in the competitive contest in their particular industries.

WAGNER ACT HIT BY MISSISSIPPI VALLEY LEADERS

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Delegates to the Mississippi Valley association today denounced the Wagner labor relations act as injurious to industry, commerce, and agriculture, and demanded its revision to equalize justice among all groups involved.

The resolution aimed at the Wagner act said the law is "creating unnecessary strife and discord between the workers and their employers, and among the workers themselves, and that it is seriously retarding recovery. We deplore any administrative proceedure which gives any agency of the government the power at one and the same time to act as investigator, prosecutor, and judge in the matters involving the relation of employés and employers."

The group also went on record as opposed to any reorganization of the federal government which would place under partisan control the interstate commerce commission, the federal trade commission, and other independent agencies. The delegates adopted a set of resolutions of wide scope dealing with government policies as well as transportation and water problems.

USED AUTO PRICE LAW RULED VOID IN PENNSYLVANIA

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Pennsylvania's "little NRA" law, regulating the sale of second hand automobiles, was declared unconstitutional today by the Dauphin County court.

The decision was handed down in the suit of a group of Philadelphia automobile dealers, who challenged the validity of the act of the 1937 legislature.

The act creating a commission with authority to fix the trade-in value of used cars was termed "crack pot legislation" by former Attorney General William A. Schnader, in arguing the case for the dealers. He said the act was "a price fixing regulation to gouge the public."

Remington Rand Restores Salaried Workers' Pay Cut

New York, Nov. 22.—(AP)—J. H. Rand Jr., chairman of Remington-Rand, Inc., manufacturers of office equipment, announced today the restoration in full of salaried employés' pay cuts put into effect last summer. The restoration will become effective Jan. 1. It will affect between 4,000 and 5,000 employés who received cuts of from 2½ to 25 per cent.

PWA Aids City in Competing with Utility

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—(AP)—The Public Works administration began its new public power program today by making a $126,000 grant to Columbus, Miss. That city will construct a municipal electric distribution system paralleling the private facilities of the Mississippi Power company.

This was the first grant of this type since the PWA announced it would require municipalities to make a "fair and reasonable offer" to purchase existing private properties before advancing them funds for competing public projects.

Grant May Set Precedent.

Officials said it may set a precedent for fifty other proposed public power developments for which PWA allotments have been tentatively authorized, pending the outcome of current negotiations to buy private properties.

Secretary Ickes, the PWA administrator, ordered the grant when the Mississippi Power company, which asked $536,366 for its properties, first rejected the city's offer of $232,000 and then turned down a compromise offer of $269,000. Ickes, acting as referee, had ruled the latter offer was "fair and reasonable" on the basis of data provided by the city and the power company.

Policy Follows Senate Battle.

The present policy with respect to PWA power projects developed from the battle in the last congress over the relief-PWA bill. Some senators proposed that a guarantee of this policy be written into the act, but withdrew their amendment when Majority Leader Barkley of Kentucky promised that the administration would observe it in carrying out the act.

Barkley said that if the restriction were written into the law, utility companies might tie the PWA program up in litigation indefinitly.

Chicago Company to Build $1,037,400 Kentucky Jail

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—(AP)—The treasury today awarded a contract to the Great Lakes Construction company of Chicago to build a new federal jail at Ashland, Ky., for $1,037,400.

CHEWING GUM TVA YARDSTICK SUGGESTED BY UTILITY LEADER

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—(AP)—A utility leader said today that the government could save the public more money by a program to reduce the cost of chewing gum and cosmetics than is saved through its "power yardstick" in TVA.

C. W. Kellogg, president of the Edison Electric institute, made this argument when members of the TVA investigating committee sought his estimate of savings resulting from reduced utility rates because of TVA.

Kellogg said chewing gum and cosmetics used in the nation took some $2,500,000,000 annually, whereas the electric power bill was around $700,000,000 a year.

He contended TVA rates were not a fair or factual "power yardstick" for private industry, and that they would fall far short of meeting costs.

He criticized the flood control features of the TVA program, saying TVA dams had flooded more "good rich bottom lands" than would be damaged by occasional floods without them.

NOMINATE BARD TO HEAD STOCK BROKERS' GROUP

Roy E. Bard, partner of Dutra Brothers & Co., has been nominated for chairman of the Chicago Association of Stock Exchange Firms, the nominating committee announced yesterday. The election will take place at the association's annual meeting on Dec. 2.

Thomas E. Murchison of Paul H. Davis & Co. was nominated for vice chairman. Nominees for the board of governors were James A. Cathcart of Harris Upham & Co., William McKenna of James H. Oliphant & Co., Samuel J. Smith of Hulbard, Warren & Chandler, and Leonard M. Spitzglass.

Chicago Pit to Take Vote on Cottonseed Oil Trading

Directors of the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday ordered a vote on proposed rule changes which would permit the inauguration of a cash and futures market for cottonseed oil. The unit of trade would be in contracts calling for delivery of 60,000 pounds.

Santa to Cram 1.2 Billions in Our Stockings

Santa Claus is expected to distribute more than $1,200,000,000 worth of gifts this Christmas. This peek into the gift bag was furnished yesterday in New York by the National Retail Dry Goods association after a business survey.

The dollar volume of Christmas shopping in the four weeks before the holiday was expected to equal that of last year, which was one of the largest since 1929.

"One of Best in Decade."

"Both business and the public may reasonably look forward to one of the best, if not the best, gift giving seasons in almost a decade," said Lew Hahn, general manager of the association. The group represents department stores and apparel specialty shops.

If there are no adverse influences from weather and political disturbances here or abroad, the estimate of $1,200,000,000 may be 40 million dollars too low, the report of the association's accountants said.

Prices Below a Year Ago.

The number of gifts probably will exceed the total for 1937, the association stated, because current prices in department stores are about 7 per cent below a year ago.

"A good Christmas season from the standpoint of buying naturally will stimulate the hopes for increased recovery in 1939," Hahn said.

Net income of the Commonwealth and Southern corporation, large utility holding company, declined to $9,351,596, or 6 cents a common share, in the first ten months of this year, an interim statement showed yesterday. This compared with $12,479,017, or 15 cents a share, in the first ten months of 1937.

Indicated net income in October was $1,058,960, against $1,303,766 in the same 1937 month. The company owns a number of properties in the Tennessee valley, where the Tennessee Valley authority is competing with it. Negotiations are being carried on for sale of plants to the TVA. Agreement on a fair price has not yet been reached.

Others Show Lower Earnings.

Most industrial companies reporting for various periods yesterday had lower earnings than for corresponding periods last year.

Among the railroads, however, Norfolk and Western's net income for October increased to $3,222,209, compared with $2,988,398 in October of last year. Net operating income of the Reading company before payment of interest charges amounted to $1,557,854 in October, against $1,275,706 in the same 1937 month.

Plymouth Oil company reported for October net profit of $195,136, against $257,965 in October, 1937. This brought net profit for the first ten months to $2,189,143, or $2.17 a common share, compared with $2,371,936, or $2,26 a share, in the first ten months of last year. The company's properties are in Texas, Kentucky, Illinois, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Arkansas.

Indiana Firm's Profit Up.

Public Service Company of Indiana's net income in the first ten months increased to $734,522 from $606,525 in the same 1937 period. Total operating revenues declined $126,023 to $11,857,323 for the first ten months of this year. The company is a subsidiary of the Midland United company.

Allied Stores corporation reported for the three months ended Oct. 31 net income of $992,551, compared with $1,166,059 in the quarter ended Oct. 31, 1937.

Net profit of First National Stores, Inc., amounted to $697,402 in the quarter ended Oct. 1. This compared with $708,070 in the corresponding 1937 quarter and with $647,977 in the preceding three months of this year.

Manufacturers' Nominee

W. HOMER HARTZ.

MANUFACTURERS NOMINATE HARTZ FOR 1939 CHIEF

W. Homer Hartz has been nominated as 1939 president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, it was announced yesterday. Hartz, who is president of the Morden Frog and Crossing works of Chicago Heights, has been a director of the association for several years. He is a past president of the National Railway Appliance association.

Other nominees were: first vice president, J. E. Otis Jr., Stewart-Warner corporation; second vice president, Robert M. Gaylord, Ingersoll Milling Machine company, Rockford, and treasurer, Sterling Morton, Morton Salt company. Sixteen directors also were nominated.

The election of officers and directors will be held at the annual meeting on Dec. 13 in the Stevens hotel. William Averell Harriman, New York banker and railroad executive, and Frank J. Hogan, president of the American Bar association, will speak at the dinner.

United Air Lines to Lend Equipment to Eastern Line

United Air Lines will lend some of its equipment and personnel to Eastern Air Lines for its peak travel season, according to an agreement made by the two companies yesterday. United is releasing four 21 passenger mainliners and a number of copilots and mechanics to Eastern for use on its New York-Miami route for four months beginning Dec. 1. The planes and personnel will be returned on April 1 to United. The rental cost on the borrowed equipment was not announced.

BRITISH POUND FALLS AS GOLD FLOWS TO U. S.

Loses 2¾ Cents in New Downturn.

The value of British currency slumped sharply yesterday in relation to the American dollar and gold. Indirectly, the fall in the value of the pound sterling was linked with the anti-Jewish developments in central Europe. Exchange dealers said Jews are sending capital to the United States as a result of the latest developments in Germany and indications of the spread of anti-Jewish feeling in other countries.

The pound fell 2¾ cents in terms of American currency, closing at $4.66⅝. At the same time the price of gold in London advanced to 148 shillings 9 pence an ounce, a gain of 9½ pence [about 19 cents] over the preceding day. The London gold price was equivalent to $34.78.

French Franc Also Weak.

Other European currencies showed an irregular trend. French francs were off 0.015 cent to 2.61125 cents. Netherlands and Swiss currencies closed higher in relation to the dollar and Belgian currency was unchanged.

The flight of Jewish capital to the United States, exchange dealers said, is aggravating the unbalance in international accounts. European countries, particularly Great Britain, have been put under a severe strain in meeting international payments to this country, made necessary by their purchases of American goods.

America has been shipping more goods abroad than it has been importing, causing heavy transfers of gold to settle accounts.

Transfers Sharply Limited.

Jews are no longer able to transfer capital out of Germany in appreciable amounts. Many of them, however, had previously shipped capital to England and other countries. They are now said to be shipping money from England to the United States. There is said to be some loss of confidence in Prime Minister Chamberlain's European appeasement program.

The pound is now selling only 6 cents above the low of $4.60 which it reached Sept. 28, the day of the Munich conference. Earlier this year it sold above $5. In the initial recovery experienced by the pound after the Munich accord on the Sudeten question the pound rallied to nearly $4.80.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York reported that $2,590,000 of gold was engaged in England for shipment to this country. Engagements on the preceding day totaled $7,000,000.

Solely on the borrower's signature

A limited type of loan—$300 to $1,000—solely on the borrower's signature. It is of practical convenience for executives (senior or junior), professional men, and others who are in qualified borrowing circumstances.

We call this loan Self-Secured rather than "unsecured," "single name," "without collateral." For the borrower does give security when he gives his promise to pay—his word is his bond.

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 22.—Stocks lost fractions to around one point today in spiritless trading. Volume was 880,030 shares. The break in the British pound sterling and rumors that Germany would recall her ambassador to London were held to be chiefly responsible for the continued lethargy in the financial district.

Prices in virtually all sections started lower as the rally that got under way in the last hour Monday failed to carry through. After the initial declines the list settled into a narrow range.

Statistics at the close showed that of 768 issues traded, 399 declined, 186 advanced and 183 were unchanged. The Dow-Jones industrial, rail and utility averages declined 0.70, 0.24 and 0.39 points, respectively.

Issues in the aviation group provided a bright spot. They started higher, backed away, then met good support again near the close. Aviation corporation moved in the best volume of the day and gained ⅝ point. North American, Boeing and Bendix also were active and higher. Curtiss-Wright and Sperry dipped fractions in moderate trading. Douglas lost 1⅛ points.

Key industrials were relatively quiet and lower throughout the session. In the steels United States Steel, Bethlehem and Youngstown incurred declines exceeding 1 point. Chrysler and General Motors slipped fractionally. In the coppers Anaconda slumped 1½ points in active supply, but Kennecott worked higher. American Smelting and International Nickel lost fractions.

Power and light shares moved narrowly lower.

New York Bonds.

New York, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The bond market yielded further ground today in a draggy sesion. Secondary rails and foreign bonds followed the narrowly downward pattern of the preceding day, although there was some stiffening of prices in the final hour.

A few gains of as much as 2-32ds of a point were scattered among losses running to 4-32ds in United States government loans.

Heavy offerings depressed St. Paul 5s of '75 fractionally and Nickel Plate 4¼s were 2 lower.

In the foreign section Ujigawa Electric Power 7s slumped 12 points on a light turnover. German 5½s of '65 and 7s of '49 continued their recent downward slant.

Chicago Stocks.

New highs for the year in a declining maket were made yesterday for the second consecutive day by shares of Aviation corporation and Aviation and Transportation corporation on the Chicago exchange.

Aviation and Transportation, leading the volume with a turnover of 2,250 shares, advanced ⅛ to 3½. Aviation corporation moved up ½ to 6⅞. Bendix Aviation climbed 1⅛ points to 23⅝. Other trading favorites were unchanged or lower. Marshall Field and Chicago corporation eased fractions.

Bank Stocks.

Stock of the Chicago Title and Trust company gained $2 yesterday to close at $150 bid, $153 asked, dealers reported. The movement of other leading shares was generally downward. City National Bank and Trust finished $1 lower at $105 bid, $109 asked. Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust was off $1.50 at $75 bid, $77 asked. First National ended $2 lower at $232 bid, $236 asked. Northern Trust closed $5 lower at $525 bid, $535 asked.

CARRIER-SHIPPER GROUP ASKS U. S. BARGE LINE SALE

Also Proposes Freer Hand for Railroads.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Representatives of railroads, other carriers, and shippers voted today to ask the government to sell its Mississippi river barge lines.

Ending a two day transportation conference sponsored by the United States Chamber of Commerce, the group also asked the federal government to give the railroads a freer hand in solving their problems.

Questions of revising rate making and of federal aid to the roads were postponed to a future meeting.

Favor Voluntary Mergers.

Besides protesting federal competition with the railroads through operation of the Inland Waterways corporation, the conference asked congress to remove restrictions on voluntary consolidations. It also urged repeal of the undistributed profits tax, measures regulating train length and working conditions and special freight rates to the government under the land grant statutes.

J. J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, called the recommendations a help to the railroads.

Pelley told reporters that government operation of the barge lines constituted unfair competition of public money with private capital because of barge line tax exemptions and other privileges.

Cite Heavy Investment.

Besides the millions spent in making the Mississippi and Missouri rivers navigable, members of the conference estimated the federal government had invested about $25,000,000 in its barge lines.

At the morning session the conference rejected all proposals for compulsory consolidation of railroads and also suggestions for a new federal agency to spur mergers.

PUT STREAMLINE B. & O. TRAIN IN SERVICE TODAY

Dedication of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad's new streamlined Capitol Limited will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in the Grand Central station. Mayor Edward J. Kelly, Oscar G. Mayer, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, and others will take part in the ceremonies.

The train, which was placed on public view yesterday, will make its inaugural run between Chicago and Washington, D. C., leaving here shortly after the dedication. The "Tom Thumb," first locomotive built and operated in the United States, and a B. & O. directors' car used in 1829-'30 are also being shown.

Jewel Tea Company Sales Show Gain Over Last Year

Sales of the Jewel Tea company in the four weeks ended Nov. 5 totaled $1,851,750, an increase of 0.1 per cent over sales of $1,849,746 in the comparable 1937 period. In the forty-four weeks ended on the same date the corporation's sales amounted to $19,903,628, against $19,438,161 in the corresponding period of 1937, a gain of 2.4 per cent.

Bridgeport Machine.

Investors' Guide: Kindly send me information concerning the Bridgeport Machine company, stock of which is listed on the New York Curb exchange.—H. P.

Answer: The Bridgeport Machine company, of Wichita, Kas., makes, sells and rents a complete line of oil and gas well drilling equipment. It also buys, reconditions and sells serviceable used equipment of all kinds. Sales offices are operated in the principal buying centers of the various oil fields, and warehouses are located in the active fields of the mid-continent and gulf coast oil producing sections. Part of the company's resources are invested in producing and nonproducing oil and gas leases.

Net income for nine months ended Sept. 30, 1938, was $15,076, equal to a deficit of 8 cents a common share after preferred dividend requirements. Sales totaled $3,406,946. This compared with net income of $586,492, or $2.15 a common share, and sales of $6,056,939 in the first nine months of 1937.

Sales for the year ended Dec. 31, 1937, were $6,716,892 and net income was $529,685, or $1.90 a common share. In the preceding year sales amounted to $4,280,760 and net income was $361,651, or $1.26 a common share. In 1935 net income was $139,871; in 1934, $221,651; in 1933, $50,414; in 1932, $44,755, and in 1931 the company reported a net loss of $193,914.

Current assets on Sept. 30, 1938, amounted to $3,629,663, and current liabilities were $356,428.

Capitalization consists of 7,540 shares of 7 per cent cumulative $100 par preferred and 260,000 shares of no par common stock. Regular dividends are being paid on the preferred. Nothing has been paid so far this year on the common. A total of $1 in cash and an extra of $1 in preferred stock was paid in 1937. In the preceding year $1 was disbursed. From 1931 through 1935 payments were omitted.

Aluminum and Chromium in Steel.

Aluminum is used in small amounts in the manufacture of steel to remove gases and impurities. There is seldom more than a trace of aluminum remaining in finished steel.

In recent years the United States has produced about thirty per cent of the world output of aluminum. The domestic supply is more than sufficient to care for all steel making requirements in the United States. It is one of the metals used by steel makers for which the United States does not have to depend on foreign sources of supply.

Chromium is used in steel for its hardening qualities. When more than 10 per cent chromium is used a rust resistant steel results. Steel with a chromium ingredient is particularly valuable for use in tools, machinery parts, and heat and acid resisting steels. It is used in stainless steels.

The United States produces only a minor part of the total world output of chromium. It uses about 40 per cent of the world production. The principal sources of chromium are Africa, Cuba, Greece, New Caledonia, and Oceania.

YARDS CLEARED OF LIVE STOCK; PRICES ADVANCE

A two day supply of live stock was sold and weighed in almost record time at the Chicago stockyards yesterday without the help of the regular force of live stock handlers, who are on strike. [Details on pag 4.]

Most action in the market centered in cattle and prices ruled strong to 25 cents higher than at the close of last week. Spots showed even more gain on occasional loads of steers. The top of $13.50 for three carloads equaled the highest mark of the year.

Most other classes of cattle were 15 to 25 cents above last week's close. Beef cows and most hefers ruled strong to 35 cents higher for the day. Calves rose fully 25 cents.

Commission men sold 22,000 hogs in two hours and had all weighed by noon. Prices were off mostly 5 to 10 cents with a few sales showing 15 cents loss. Numerous loads reached $7.60, the top price. The average at $7.75 was off only 5 cents.

U. S. RUBBER PAYS FIRST DIVIDEND FOR TEN YEARS

Votes Payment of $4 on Preferred Stock.

Directors of the United States Rubber company yesterday declared a dividend of $4 on the 8 per cent non-cumulative preferred stock. The dividend, which is payable Dec. 23 to stockholders of record Dec. 9, is the first disbursed on the big rubber corporation's senior stock in more than ten years. The last previous payment was $2 a share on Feb. 15, 1928.

Francis B. Davis Jr. tells of rise in tire sales.

Action on the dividend was taken late yesterday after the stock market had closed. Special meetings of the company's finance committee and board of directors were held in the New York general office, after which the dividend payment was announced.

Davis Forecast Dividend.

Early in September Francis B. Davis Jr., president of United States Rubber, predicted that consideration would be given to a preferred stock dividend late this year. Davis said then that the tire replacement business had boomed late in the summer and would likely remain at a high level throughout the remainder of the year.

The last dividend paid on the rubber company's common stock was $2 in April, 1921.

An extra dividend of $3 was declared on the common stock of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company of Canada in addition to the regular quarterly payment of 63 cents. Both will be paid Jan. 3 to stockholders of record Dec. 15. The last previous extra paid by Goodyear of Canada was $2.50 on Jan. 15, 1937.

LEADERS DIFFER ON TAX TO SPUR PROFIT SHARING

Verity, Steel Man, Prefers Wage Incentive.

self." The Democratic half of the committee, Senator Herring, remained sober.

Fuller said it is probable that through incentive taxation industry could put many men back to work in regular channels.

"The most important thing we can do for the workers," he said, "is to get them back to work. Then we should pay them as much as economically practicable. Obviously there are possibilities for the use of tax incentives as direct aids in the relief of unemployment."

Urges More Lenient Tax Rule.

Fuller also said that if companies were allowed to charge off more for depreciation than present tax rules permit industrial plant expansion would follow.

Senator Vandenberg hit government aid as a "sublimated dole" and said he was a "practical business man, not a casual theorist." The Vandenberg plan is for government allowance of tax credits for profit sharing payments and other social management practices of industry.

McCormick, who has written a book on the subject of "Multiple Management," said that most labor troubles can be traced to some mismanagement along the line.

McCormick Proposal Explained.

His idea is to allow young men, who show promise, to participate in the management of the business on a junior board of directors. Open meetings are also held through the plant. When profits are made they are shared. When they are not the employès are still satisfied, he asserted.

He said it is harder to fire a man than to hire him in his company. A board passes upon employment and also upon dismissals.

W. G. Marshall, vice president of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, described his company's profit sharing system. He said it has been found mutually satisfactory and beneficial to management and employès.

GRAINS FIRMER; HEDGING CHIEF TRADE FEATURE

Changing operations between December and May wheat and corn featured trading yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Liquidation by holders of December wheat and corn were absorbed by cash and elevator interests who were transferring hedges into the deferred future. December wheat was bought an the May wheat was sold at 2¾ cents discount for the former. The December-May corn spread was 4⅛ cents, the widest difference since 1933.

Wheat and corn futures held within a range of ¼ to ½ cent. Wheat closed ¼ to 3/8 cent higher. Corn advanced ⅛ to ¼ cent a bushel. Speculative interest in the grain markets yesterday was extremely small.

A membership on the Chicago Board of Trade sold yesterday at $1,800 net to the buyer. This was said to be the lowest price for a seat since 1914. The sale was $100 below the preceding transaction and compares with a 1938 high of $4,100.

Ad Writing Assistance

The Tribune maintains an expert ad writing department to help you word your Want Ad to secure the best results. There is no charge for this service.

24-Hour Service

A Want Ad-Viser is as near to you as your telephone. If you have a telephone, your ad will be charged to you. If not or if you prefer, a Tribune man will call at your home or office.

Convenience

Tribune Want Ad-Visers are on duty 24 hours a day, every day of the year, to receive Want Ads by telephone or at the Want Ad Store, 1 South Dearborn. The Want Ad Store in Tribune Tower is open daily until 10 p. m., Sunday until 5 p. m.

Call Superior 0100—Want Ad-Viser or Want Ad Office

LOST AND FOUND.

TO LOSERS.

If you have found a cat or dog, a pocketbook, jewelry, or fur, and cannot locate the owner through the "Lost and Found" advertisment in The Tribune, call and go through the "Lost and Found" index at the PUBLIC SERVICE OFFICE, 1 S. DEARBORN STREET.

TO FINDERS.

If you are listed in the telephone directory you can charge an advertisment of your lost article by telephoning Miss Miller of the Tribune ad taking department, Superior 0100. Your advertisment receives the benefit of free listing in the Tribune Public Service office mentioned above for a period of two months. This service facilitates the recovery of lost articles advertised.
